State Officials Seek Response From GCC Board

Senator John N. Bambacus and Delegate George Edwards recently received a letter from the Academic Forum from Garrett Community College raising concerns about the present administration and Board of Trustees. Senator Bambacus and Delegate Edwards, in turn, requested, in the form of a letter to the board, that they respond to those charges at their "earliest possible convenience."

The letter from Bambacus and Edwards, dated May 14, stated that since 13 of the 16 voting Forum members present had raised "valid concerns," they wanted "to be sure that this matter is resolved in a manner which reflects favorably on the college, the board, and the community at large."

The request, which was directed to Pat Fischetti, chairman of the board, stated, "We know that you are deeply committed to the role of Garrett Community College as a vital institution in the life of the community. Our primary concern, as representatives of the Maryland citizens who provide over half the financial support for the college, is that public confidence in the institution's ability to carry out its charge be maintained."

The letter continued, "Please look into these issues at your earliest possible convenience and report back to us as soon as possible so that we may put this unfortunate matter behind us and move forward in attending to college business."

Fischetti, when contacted by the press, said he planned to meet with the board and respond to the letter very soon.

Famine Relief Fund Over $1,200 With Major Events Yet To Come

With numerous fund-raising projects yet to take place in support of the local Ethiopian Famine Relief Fund, Gary Thompson, a teacher at Southern Middle School who is the overall coordinator of the effort, stated that the Fund surpassed the $1,200 mark this week. The money is being held in a special account at the First United National Bank & Trust.

Thompson stated that some persons have been somewhat reluctant to donate to the Fund, not because of a lack of caring, but because they fear that the money raised will never actually reach and help the starving people of Africa. Because of this possibility, Thompson stated that all local monies will be donated to the Children for Children organization in New York City which has been highly successful in bypassing red tape and administrative expenses, thereby getting the needed food to the people quickly and efficiently.

The Republican contacted the office of Congressman Gary Ackerman of New York, who spearheaed the project there, to inquire if the Children for Children effort was still meeting with success. Ackerman's aide, Maureen Spies, stated Tuesday that another jet-load of grain left California on Sunday bound directly for the countryside of Ethiopia. The monies which paid for this shipment were raised by a school in California. Congressman Ackerman appeared on ABC's Good Morning America on Monday to speak about this latest successful effort.

Thompson said that several videotaped copies of ABC's 20/20 special "Try to Make a Miracle", which tells of the success of the Children for Children effort, are available for any organization or individual who wishes to view the program. Interested persons may contact Thompson at Southern Middle School.

Among the events yet to be held are an auction at the Broadford Park pavilion on June 1, beginning at 10 a.m.; a 200-mile relay run from Oakland to Washington, D.C., involving ten local runners on June 1-2; a spaghetti dinner at the Oakland fire hall on Friday, May 31, from 5 to 8 p.m.; plus numerous other efforts by local school children and organizations.

Thompson said persons wishing to donate items to be sold at the auction may contact him at 334-8891 (evenings) or Ann Glotfelty at 334-4439. The auction will include food and beverage sales, the sale of arts and crafts, plus a balloon launching.

Persons who wish to make a pledge for the 200-mile relay may contact any of the runners or fill out the pledge form on page 4 of this issue of The Republican and mailing it to The Republican office. WXIE Radio, Oakland, will accept telephone pledges one evening next week, according to Terry

Learey Says Vet Tech Students Will Receive State Examinations

At the regular meeting of the Garrett Community College Board of Trustees Tuesday evening, Dean of Academic Affairs, Fred K. Learey, announced that students who will be completing their second year in the Vet Tech Program next year will be permitted to take their State Board Veterinary Examinations. The college has not yet received word from the AVMA regarding accreditation of the program for the coming year.

Learey told the board all the criteria had been met which was required by the AVMA for GCC to be accredited in the Vet Tech Program next year, but since he hadn't received official word from them he decided to call the State Board of Veterinary Examiners because he "felt it was important to take that extra step" to assure the Vet Tech students that they would be able to complete the program.

The dean also reported the success of Career Day held May 14 at the college which was coordinated by William Ewing, director of admissions at GCC. Learey said approximately 500 students from Maryland, Pennsylvania, Virginia and West Virginia attended the "well-organized" event.

Students who attended Career Day were provided the opportunity to hear representatives from various colleges, universities, technical and vocational schools. Career seminars were also offered for the students.

Dean Learey also announced Tuesday that 86 students made the dean's list this semester.

Graduation

President Randall Harman informed the board that 54 diplomas and five certificates were presented at graduation exercises on Saturday.

He also commended Dr. James Tschechtelin, executive director for the State Board of Community Colleges, "for a fine job" as commencement speaker.

Budget

Dean of Financial Affairs, Leo Martin, said that approximately 87% of the budget had been spent as of April 30, which was in line with the yearly fiscal budget and that he felt there would be no problem staying within the budget until the end of this fiscal year.

Martin, who is leaving the college to assume another position, thanked the board for their past cooperation and introduced the new comptroller for GCC, John Culp. Culp formerly served as director of accounting at the college. Assuming that position will be Pat Welch. Welch, until her new appointment, served as the coordinator of the GED pro-

Hazel Meyers To Be Speaker For Memorial Service

The guest speaker for Oakland's annual Memorial Day observance will be Hazel Meyers, commander of the Mt. Top Unit 29, Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary. The activities are slated for Thursday, May 30, and will include a parade through downtown Oakland, followed by the annual memorial services involving various organizations at the Oakland Cemetery.

Mrs. Meyers, whose husband, Bill, is the commander of Mt. Top Chapter 29, DAV, attended Madison College, Harrisonburg, Va., and American University, Washington, D.C. She is a nurse and a volunteer in the three major nursing homes in Garrett County. She is the mother of two daughters and has two grandchildren. She and her family moved to Friendsville three and one-half years ago after her husband retired from a federal government position.

The annual parade will form in the town parking lot on Liberty Street at 10 a.m. and will begin at approximately 10:20, traveling west on Liberty Street to Wilson Street, north on Wilson to Center, east on Center to Second, south on Second to Alder, east on Alder to Third, south on Third to Oak, and east on Oak to Fifth Street to the Oakland Cemetery. A program will be held in front of the tomb of the unknown soldier. American Legion members are to gather at the Proctor Kildow Post Home on Memorial Drive at 9:30 a.m.

Commissioners Plan To Reduce County Tax Rate

At a press conference Tuesday, the Board of Garrett County Commissioners told reporters they spent most of the day discussing budget matters and announced that the county tax rate "would definitely be lower this year."

Commissioner Ernest Gregg, Jr., stated, "Although the tax rate will be lower, we will continue to provide a level of service that is acceptable to all."

When asked how that could be achieved, Gregg answered, "Through sound fiscal management and an expanding accessible base we can keep the county rate down."

Commissioner Elwood Groves said they have resolved many areas of the budget thus far and their goal is to set the tax rate by June 18.

Landfill Workgroup

The commissioners attended the first meeting of the MACo Landfill Workgroup Monday in Annapolis. The Workgroup was established by MACo to address the problems of landfills for many counties and municipalities in Maryland.

Commissioner Groves said the first meeting was "a beginning and that in the future they hope to focus on the major issues at hand and set forth a list of goals and objectives."

The three major issues are regulations concerning landfills, the timespan in which counties have to meet those regulations, and the prohibitive costs involved in development of landfills.

Commissioner Braskey said, "Hearing other county officials' landfill problems was like hearing ourselves discuss our own landfill problems. It is a frustrating experience and a universal problem."

Board Still Accepting Comments On Draft Lake Area Plan Revisions

Persons wishing to be heard on the issue of revisions to the Plan for the Deep Creek Watershed must now submit their views in writing to the Garrett County Commissioners before May 28, the date set by the commissioners to close the public record.

The commissioners announced their intentions to review all comments on the plan revisions during a public hearing jointly held by them and the Garrett County Planning Commission May 16 at Garrett Community Collge.

The transactions at the public hearing left many of the 45 persons attending feeling the proposed revised plan is being railroaded to passage in the final stages of a two-year process.

The impression of a railroad job hit the group when, after about one and one-half hour's discussion, the Planning Commission approved the plan and formally turned it and the public hearing over to the commissioners who relayed their intentions for the hearing to be the only one they would hold.

Some people were unhappy the public hearing was held on May 16, rather than after Memorial Day when the summer season officially begins and when many summer lake residents are in the county. They hoped a second hearing would be conducted to accommodate those persons.

Several persons attending requested the commissioners hold a second hearing, pointing out that another month before a final decision on the plan would do no harm and holding a second hearing would give the appearance of fairness to second home owners at the lake who would be better able to attend a hearing after Memorial Day and on a Saturday.

"For once, can't you give the summer residents a chance to come in to say their piece, even if your mind is made up ahead of time?" queried Ann Smith, a lake resident. Smith pointed out that lake property owners as a group are one of the biggest taxpayers in the county and should be given sincere consideration.

Commissioner Elwood Groves, chairman of the county board, promised the group the commissioners would consider holding a second public hearing if they felt it was warranted based on written testimony received up until May 28.

At a press conference Tuesday, Commissioner Ernie Gregg argued against assertions they were railroading the revised plan. "We resent the statement being made about our attempting to railroad this thing through. In my opinion, people who make those statements have no other valid comments to make. We will take as much time as necessary to make a decision, but we are not going to delay it either. We have spent two years on it already. So, it must be a slow railroad."

Commission Approves Plan

The Planning Commission unanimously approved the proposed revised plan during the bearing after entertaining a recommendation from Anna McNallie, county planning administrator, to certify it.

She noted that some of the issues raised at the hearing could appropriately be addressed during the commissioners' review of the plan and that the

Pierce Receives Five-Year Jail Term For B&E

A 22-year-old Deer Park man has been sentenced to five years with the Maryland Department of Corrections after being convicted of the November 17, 1984 breaking and entering at Bauer Home Center, Oakland.

Garrett County Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer accepted a guilty plea from Kenneth W. Pierce in court on May 16. Pleas of not guilty to theft and destruction of property were also accepted.

Garrett County Deputy Larry Gnegy filed the charges against Pierce after he arrested Pierce in the establishment shortly after midnight on November 17, 1984.

Representing Pierce was W. Timothy Finan, a Cumberland attorney.

In other court cases heard on May 16, Chief Judge Thayer revoked probation for Kenneth L. Stinson, 26, Mountain Lake Park, after finding him guilty of violating terms of probation.

Stinson in court on August 23, 1984 was sentenced to two years in jail after convictions on charges of driving while under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol, reckless driving, driving while his license was revoked and driving at a speed that was greater than reasonable.

The judge suspended all but 90 days of the jail sentence as well as suspended two $50 fines. However, Stinson was to pay a $500 fine plus court costs.

In court on May 16, the judge re-imposed the jail sentence, to be served in the Garrett County Jail, and gave Stinson 90 days credit for time served.

Stinson's attorney was James Braskey, Grantsville.

551 Animals Are Immunized At Rabies Clinics

Low-cost rabies immunization clinics have been conducted by the Garrett County Health Department in areas throughout the county. A total of 551 animals were immunized, with 63 in McHenry, 44 in Gorman, 112 in Friendsville, 103 in Deer Park, 88 in Grantsville, and 141 in Oakland.

Rodney Glotfelty, of the Health Department, reported that the turn-out was better than last year by about 100 animals, and that they will be planning more clinics for the month of June.

He reported that there have been fewer cases of rabies statewide so far this year than last year, with the total, as of April 30, being 269 cases. The animals reported as having rabies, statewide, are: 1 bat, 1 cow, 6 cats, 4 fox, 1 skunk, 1 squirrel, 1 horse, 1 opossum, and 253 raccoons.

The Maryland legislature has passed a bill that would require all cats to be immunized against rabies. The bill is now on the governor's desk awaiting his signature. If the governor signs this bill into law, the health department may plan a cats only clinic in July, according to Glotfelty.

READY TO RUN are ten local athletes who will complete the 200-Mile Relay for Life the weekend of June 1-2 from downtown Oakland to the Ethiopian Embassy in Washington, D.C. The participants in the Relay are now gathering pledges of so-many cents per mile from local residents and businesses. Persons may make a pledge by contacting one of the runners, filling out and mailing the form on page four of this newspaper, or telephoning a pledge into WXIE Radio one evening next week yet to be announced. In the photo, left to right, are Gene Helbig, Jeff Rice, Steve Hile, Mark Powles, Bill Pope, and Don Sincell. Not present for the photo were Craig Abrahamson, Tom Ruckert, Rick Briggs, and Randy Storey. Abrahamson and Ruckert are pictured elsewhere in today's issue.

Bloodmobile Goal Reached

Lucy Burnett, local co-chairman for the Bloodmobile visit, stated that 214 people reported to the site, but that 14 had to be deferred. Thirteen of those presenting themselves were first time blood donors.

Burnett noted that in the first four hours, response was slow, but a call to a local radio station to remind listeners of the Bloodmobile, helped bring in more blood donors.

Refreshments served to the donors included soda donated by the Coca-Cola Bottling Plant, Oakland.

Lake Plan

public has had ample opportunity to participate in the commission's revision process over the past two years.

The major revisions to the plan, as explained by McNallie at the hearing's outset, included a new land use category called rural residential which would have one major difference from the current lake residential zoning: mobile homes on permanent foundations will become a permitted use in rural residential zoning and remain a special exception use in lake residential zoning.

Five areas were proposed for this zoning, all considered fringe areas of the lake, including: 1) Foster Road, Bray School Road and the part of Oakland-Sang Run Road within the Watershed; 2) Sand Flat Road and Pysell Cross Cut Road to Route 135; 3) All areas within the watershed east of Route 495; 4) The area along North Glade Road between its intersection with Harvey's Peninsula Road and Route 495; and 5) Rock Lodge Road northeast from Deep Creek Lake State Park.

Other changes would include re-zoning five acres at the head of Marsh Hill Road where it intersects with Sang Run Road from town residential to town center. Also proposed was rezoning approximately 18 acres along Marsh Hill Road, adjoining the new town center zone, from lake residential to town residential. This new zoning would not include The WISP Ski Area.

Another major change would be to expand the boundaries of the zoning at Thayerville. Proposed was a northward expansion of the town center zone along Route 219 slightly beyond The Trading Post.

Also proposed was to expand the Thayerville town residential zoning to the southside of the Mayhew Inn Road/Rt. 219 intersection and to change about 45 acres of property near that intersection from town center to town residential. The new designation would allow nine commercial uses as a special exception.

Persons Testify

Among persons who testified at the hearing was Ralph Burnett, an Oakland attorney representing two clients with an interest in the revised plan.

Burnett spoke on behalf of The WISP Ski Area in pointing out his client's belief that the Planning Commission did not adequately consider the effects of the proposed expansion at this establishment and did not analyze the appropriateness of the area's current lake residential zoning.

In light of the development plans, Burnett noted, "It doesn't seem to make sense to continue its current designation." He added that the commission should revise the plan to recognize the developmet.

Burnett then took up the matter of the proposed change of the 45 acres near Mayhew Inn Road from town center to town residential which will affect his client, Bill Roszell, owner of Garrett Automotive.

Burnett pointed out that the proposed change should be abandoned unless it served the general public good. He noted he saw no benefit to the proposed change other than to "tidy up" zoning lines.

"What public good will arise from this change?" Burnett asked the commission, "I can't find any."

Roszell also spoke against the change saying it could hamper his attempts to improve his business, including obtaining a possible auto dealership.

Several people spoke in favor of Roszell's petition characterizing him as a fine county citizen who had his family involved in running an honest business.

Among those supporting Roszell was Ed King, president of the Deep Creek Lake Property Owners Association. King also spoke against the rural residential zone proposal saying it would downgrade the beauty of the lake area.

King further commented that there was ample unzoned land in the county where people could erect mobile homes.

Bruce Sweitzer, a property owner in the area proposed for rural residential zoning, spoke in favor of the new classification arguing that the areas designated for the new zoning would not affect the beauty of the lake area. He stated the new zoning would allow him to "tastefully" develop the land he purchased long before it was zoned.

Marshall Stacy, a county landowner outside of the Deep Creek Watershed, indicated that the new zoning category was unnecessary because some mobile homes are permitted to be installed in the area through special exception permits from the Deep Creek Zoning Appeals Board.

When asked to clarify the basis for the new zoning category, McNallie explained that the fringe areas of the lake have different land use patterns from lake area properties. Among the differences were the fringe areas characteristically were owned by year-round county citizens who used their land primarily for agriculture and were not as affluent as lake area residents, whereas the lake area property was primarily used for second homes and occupied by weekend and summer residents for leisure activities.

Jim Thompson, a lake property owner who drove from his home in Rockville to attend the hearing, expressed his concerns that the commission carefully examine effects of changes in zoning and development at the lake. He cautioned them to be sure what they perceived as economic progress did not ruin the "jewel of the west" by causing over-population of the lake.

Irving Day, a member of the Deep Creek Watershed Zoning Appeals Board, spoke in favor of a change in zoning for the part of The WISP Ski Area that is in the watershed.

He also said he was disappointed that the zoning board was not invited to participate in the revision process.

He further requested that if the rural residential zone were approved, that boundaries of the zone be pushed back from major traffic corridors to the lake. He pointed out that people still have to drive through the rural residential zone before arriving at lakefront property, and indicated he did not want to see the aesthetic quality of the county scenery tarnished with mobile home sites.

This week, in discussing testimony during the public hearing, Anna McNallie noted that the Planning Commission had not overlooked The WISP Ski Area in considering zoning changes, but had decided to leave it and other commercial resort areas in lake residential zones.

Their reasoning was that expansion at such businesses would have a sweeping impact on the lake area's land use, environment and aesthetic quality and that there should be some provisions for review of expansion plans by the planning board and zoning appeals board. Leaving those areas zoned as lake residential would allow such a review.

IN TRAINING for the 200-Mile Relay for Life, to benefit the local Ethiopian Famine Relief Fund, are Craig Abrahamson, left, and Tom Ruckert, two of ten local runners who will complete a run from Oakland to Washington, D.C., the weekend of June 1-2. In just the four weeks preceding the relay, the participants will have collectively run over 2,000 miles in training, but are asking for pledges for just the 200 miles to Washington. The relay is expected to take a maximum of 30 hours to complete and the runners will carry a small bag of grain, symbolic of the delivery of grain to the starving people of Africa. The monies raised will be channeled through Children for Children in New York City, an organization which has had the most success with delivering food and medical supplies to the needy Africans, quickly and efficiently. Persons may make pledges by contacting any one of the runners, filling out the form on page 4 of this newspaper, or telephoning WXIE Radio during a special pledge evening next week (date to be announced over WXIE).

Sharing Our Freedom . . .

As Memorial Day approaches, the thoughts of most Americans turn to freedom. We pause first to contemplate this valuable gift, and then pay tribute to those who have gone before us who, in some way, paved the way of freedom. Many sacrificed their very lives in this effort.

As we think about our freedom, and the memories of those who preserved it, it is also important that we realize once again that many persons in this world are not free. Tyranny and ruthlessness characterize many government leaders of the world, whose primary goal is power and whose primary motivation is greed. Individual freedoms and human rights are non-existent.

Ethiopia is a good example of this. While a three-year drought has been the major cause of the current famine, the government of that nation has done nothing to assist its dying citizens. In fact, it has even hampered efforts of other nations that have tried to intervene with assistance.

The freedom we enjoy should be shared in any way possible with those in the world who do not have it. Part of our appreciation of freedom must involve using it to help those who are in need and who, in a sense, are held captive by their own governments. A major effort is now underway in this county to assist the starving people of Ethiopia and other African nations. It is being spearheaded by persons who are not taking for granted their many blessings afforded them in this great nation of ours. If not as Americans, then certainly as Christians and members of most other religious faiths, we have a responsibility to do whatever we can to help these fellow human beings.

We hope that more and more local people sense this same need and a desire to help by getting involved in the fundraising activities and by donating whatever they can to this effort. There are many local causes, charities, and service organizations that also continue to need financial support. They must not be forgotten. However, nowhere locally are people—men, women, and children—dying BY THE HOUR as they are in Africa. The need is immediate. This is truly a matter of life and death.

Africa: A Sad Continent

by Tony Magliano

Starvation . . . the word almost has no meaning to us. While most of us are well on the way to reaching the "American Dream" of a beautiful house, two cars, certificates of deposit and a supply of food and water which seem unending; it becomes most difficult for us to imagine that 150 million fellow human beings face death through starvation. The horror of one's body literally eating itself away, is not a thought we prefer to contemplate, but it is surely happening at this very moment!

Ethiopia has become the most glaring example of pain and desperation throughout this crisis. To date well over 300,000 children, women and men have perished due to starvation—and hunger related diseases. And according to world relief organizations over one million more may die before this disaster is finished. According to Time Magazine, after ten years of drought and civil war, twelve of the country's 14 provinces have been laid to waste by a famine of biblical proportions. More than 40% of the country's 42 million people are malnourished, and 2.2 million have left their homes to wander in search of food.

Although Ethiopia is by far one of the worst areas suffering, it is definitely not the only one. "What we Know" the acting secretary—general of the Organization of African Unity, Peter Onu said, "is that millions of our people are starving and hundreds of thousands are dying because we are no longer able to provide our own stable food." A brief run down of several of the more than 30 countries affected will help reveal the enormous problems facing Africa currently.

Reports from Newsweek Magazine are shocking. Mali, one million children are suffering from malnutrition, cholera and measles. A total of 2.5 million people are at risk from famine. Mozambique has lost over 200,000 of its citizens from famine already. And four million more are in danger. In Mauritania, rainfall is at its lowest in 70 years. Ninety percent of its livestock has been lost in some districts. And now it is the people who are going hungry. Senegal is no better off. Fifty thousand are dead from famine and 50,000 are at risk. In addition, 150,000 cattle have died in the past two years. The list goes on and on.

Tony Hall, an Ohio congressman, returning from a visit to Ethiopia said, "it is unconscionable that people on the other side of the globe should die of starvation while mountains of food—yes, literally mountains of food—pile up in our silos and warehouses."

So you may say, I gave last month, I've done my duty. Indeed you have, you may have kept a family alive for a month and that is tremendous! But what about that family this month? Think about it . . . please!

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

As senior graduation approaches, we, the fellow teammates of Jenny Hilien, Kelly Bittinger and Jane Bell, (Southern High Girls Basketball Team) become more and more aware of the loss we face. Not only will we be losing three of the best basketball players in Southern girls' basketball history, we will also miss three great friends.

Another special senior leaving us this year is Joy Hamilton. Although she was our teammate for only one year, she was no less a part of our team than anyone else.

Since Jenny and Jane came to play basketball in 1981, and Kelly, in '82, we have broken every girls' basketball record in the book, except the number of losses in one year.

Without these three, our team would never have made it to the state play-offs once, let alone twice. They have provided team leadership, spirit, cofidence, fun, and, most importantly, friendship.

Even through the long practices, endless sprints, injuries, and losses we shouldn't have suffered, they never gave up the hope of a brighter tomorrow. Kelly's smile eased the pain of a tough loss. When Jane came up with a new cheer, we knew things weren't too bad. All Jenny had to do was look you in the eye. If that didn't stir you up, nothing would.

Each of the three contributed something really special to our team in her own way. The thought of their absence next year is scary and sad. We give them up not by choice, but because we know they are ready to move on. I'm sure they know they have our support in whatever path their futures follow.

We will miss you, Jane, Kelly, Joy and Jenny. You are irreplaceable.

All your teammates

To the Editor:

Every day of the year, someone, somewhere pauses to remember his or her life in defense of this nation. Every day someone recalls a special person who donned our nation's uniform and went off to fight America's enemies. And every day, someone visits the grave of a soldier, a sailor, or airman, and wonders about the large price freedom so often costs.

These solitary moments, moments between a veteran's loved ones and his memory, occur countless times and in countless ways. But one day a year, a nation remembers; and on that special day, Memorial Day, America draws strength from that memory. We look to the graves and recall the sacrifices of sons and daughters who fought and died to keep this land free.

And we look to each other and recall how precious that freedom is, and how dearly we must protect it.

This year we gather for Memorial Day at a time when American flags are proudly waving. Across our land, people are standing tall to salute the flag and singing our national anthem with a special love and caring. Some people call it a new wave of patriotism, but we know that our patriotism never died. For to us, it is an abiding love for our country and a faith in the things that made it great.

To all our veterans, those who were able to return to homes and families and take up their everyday lives once more, to those who consider themselves lucky ones, the disabled veterans, and to our fallen comrades who rest beneath white granite markers in cemeteries across our land and overseas, we salute you. It was often the actions of these fallen comrades which enable the disabled veterans to be among the living today.

Democracy is a powerful weapon against injustice and tyranny. It needs constant care by our nation's freedom-loving people. It also requires us to never forget the sacrifices and commitments of those who came before. Let us not forget.

Yours in service,
Bill and Hazel Meyers

To the Editor:

I attended a meeting the other evening. The topic and the participants are irrelevant to the frightening feeling and deep concern the conduct of this forum engendered. Suffice it to say that it was conducted by two major governing and/or regulatory bodies of this county, and the subject matter was of major interest to a reasonably large portion of the taxpayers and certainly of major peripheral concern to the citizenry as a whole.

What bothered me most was the tenure of the meeting. It was sparsely attended, mainly because very little had been done to adequately inform those who would be concerned with the decisions which were to be made then and there at this meeting and it certainly appeared that this was indeed the intent. One individual was there for whom one decision was a matter of survival and this person was completely unaware of this major impact on his life until a month or so ago and then only by sheer chance.

An article in The Republican of May 9, announced the joint meeting, stating that the subject matter was open to "revision if citizens point out areas overlooked" (not "covered," mind you, but "overlooked") and also that this meeting "may not be the only one held." The May 16 issue of The Republican noted this meeting among others. A "Notice" heading the agendum distributed at the meeting clearly stated this meeting was for the purpose of making firm decisions separately, but concurrently, by two separate entities and no plans were made to hold further discussions. Let me emphasize here that ample opportunity was made, and those present were encouraged to speak, but it was also crystal clear that minds were made up and nothing anyone said there was going to change one word or comma.

The meeting was conducted quite properly, but it was very apparent that the parent of the "contents" had devised this document pretty much alone, except with the gratefully acknowledged help of clerical assistance. The personal pronoun 'I' was very much in evidence. It was also evident that affirmation by all other authoritative figures present was not only expected, but one might even say demanded. Fortunately, a few dared to secure a delay in final decision and time for more input, but frankly it still appears to be an exercise in futility. I have, however, taken care of my input in the manner afforded me. This letter, therefore, is deliberately ambiguous in regard to specifics. It is the other aspect that concerns me.

This what scares me. One person can execute a plan, secure support of appointed individuals, obtain rubber-stamp approval from elected officials, and establish regulations that affect a majority of the persons in this county. Doesn't that scare you? Extrapolate that to State and the Nation, and ask yourself—Can it happen here? It can, unless everyone, regardless of ideology, substance, education, or station in life gets involved in issues, whether for yourself or your neighbor. It is the right of every person to be informed and it is the responsibility of elected officials and the media to insure that they are.

This nation was designed to be "of the people, by the people, and for the people" and unless the people take control this nation may very well "perish from the earth."

To the Editor:

As a kindergarten teacher in the Garrett County School system I am dismayed that my students will be charged 85¢ to eat a hot meal next year. It is a ridiculous amount of money to pay for three tater tots, three pineapple chunks and one chicken wing. This is not enough to feed a bird, let alone growing children.

The county policy is to feed the children in accordance to their age and size, not what they pay. Therefore, the fifth graders are being fed three times the amount of food as my five year olds at the same price. I say this is unfair! Let's feed our children satisfying amounts of food no matter what their age.

Parents—get involved! Monitor your school lunches! Raise a stink if you have to!

Children learn a great deal more when their tummies are full!

A concerned teacher

To the Editor:

I attended a meeting at the Garrett County Community College on Thursday, May 16. This was a public meeting to discuss the proposed zoning for several areas of our county. Many people that I have spoken with have felt that this meeting was called at a very inopportune time and that it was not properly advertised.

Aside from my agreement with them on the advertising, I would like to voice an objection to certain proposed changes that were made, namely the rezoning of a portion of Route 219 south of Deep Creek to Rt. 38, Sand Flat Road. I see no reason for this change and know that it would do great harm to certain businesses in that area. I am speaking especially of Garrett Automotive and Mr. Bill Roszell and his family. This is a family oriented business that has been a long time developing into the fine, well established, good reputable business that it has become. To limit his future plans for expansion through this rezoning regulation would do him great harm to say nothing of the bad taste in respect for you commissioners by his many friends and customers. He is one of the very few mechanics in this county that you can call on in an emergency situation that is willing to do everything possible to help any one. This is the type of business we need to promote in this county, not shut down his future plans for expansion.

I know that I am not only speaking for myself and the local people in this area but feel that, given the chance to attend the meeting and speak, that his many friends from the Lake Residential families would also share my opinion.

Sincerely,
Lois Meyers,

Editors Note: The following is a response from Senator John Bambacus concerning the local Ethiopian Famine Relief Fund effort. It was written to Gary Thompson, Southern Middle School teacher who is spearheading the project.

Dear Gary:

It was good seeing you during my visit to Oakland yesterday. I was glad to have the chance to discuss Ethiopian relief efforts currently underway and being planned in Garrett County. It is gratifying to know that so many of our citizens are ready to become involved in this important human crisis.

During our conversation, it became clear to me that several churches, schools, clubs and youth groups have taken an important first step in organizing the various fundraising activities. These efforts in behalf of our starving neighbors across the ocean are vitally needed. I would like to take this opportunity to recognize your humanitarian efforts to stem the terrible tide of starvation in Africa.

I agree with the many who feel that it is a monumental task; however, I know that the people of Maryland will respond to the challenge with enthusiasm and perseverance.

All of us share your deep concerns. This is a humanitarian issue, not one of political ideology. The simple fact is that people are starving. The provision of food and medical supplies transcends political considerations.

Please accept my very best wishes for every success. Stay in touch.

Sincerely,
John N. Bambacus

Who will love the Children
Who will speak for the Children
The ones left all alone?
Who will be the friend for those
Who have no place called home?
Who will dream for the Children?
The ones whose dreams have died?
Who will create a world of hope
From pain and hurt & lies?
Who will cry for the Children
The ones who have no tears?
Who will hold the hand of those
Who hold the hand of fear?
Who will care for the Children
Who have no cares at all?
Who will catch the tiny souls

Your regular homeowner's or renter's insurance policy does include some protection for your jewelry, watches, and other valuables, but if is limited to $500 or $1,000, depending on state.

For more valuable pieces, you'll want a personal articles "floater," a policy that lists each item individually and covers it everywhere.

It's usually necessary to supply an appraisal, one that describes the article and notes its value. Even if the insurer does not require one, you may want an appraisal to determine the current value of something bought long ago or received as a gift or bequest.

How much should you insure an item for? Usually for replacement cost. Don't overinsure, it will cost you extra in premiums for little advantage.

To find a reputable appraiser, ask for recommendations from your insurance agent, banker, or an auction house. The best charge by the hour, NOT a percentage of an item's value.

If you've got valuables to protect, insure them with the experts at

CHECKING OUT MORTGAGE

As a homebuyer today, you have a choice of many different kinds of home mortgages. If one doesn't suit you, there is an excellent chance that another will. When taking out any mortgage, always pay close attention to:

•Actual Monthly Payments: Interest rates and home prices may be higher than they used to be but it is what YOU can afford month-by-month that matters.

•Prepayment Penalties: You may hope to refinance the loan a few years from now. Make certain you can do so without having to pay a hefty penalty. Most Adjustable Rate Mortgages give you this break—but always check into it.

•Interest Flexibility: If you are taking out a mortgage with an interest rate that varies according to market conditions, learn what index each lender uses to adjust the rates. Find out how active each indicator has been over at least two years.

•What's Available: Shop around; it takes time, but it really pays off to learn how down payments and initial interest charges can vary.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices.

Nesselrodt Reflects On First Season As Coach Of 24-18 GCC Lakers

The 1985 Garrett Community College baseball team wrapped up its season recently with a 24-18 record and a trip to the sectionals of the Region XX playoffs.

"I was very pleased with our guys throughout the year," stated Lawrence Nesselrodt, first-year head coach. "We had set a goal to win 25 games and, with any luck in our last ten games, we would have accomplished that. But the ball wouldn't bounce our way."

The Lakers played 20 games in the last 14 days of the season which Nesselrodt said had his team "worn down," but he said the Lakers never gave up in any game.

"We scored seven times in the bottom of the seventh without an out being recorded to gain an 11-10 win over Beaver Community College," he said. "We also had a 13-9 win over Allegany CC (who finished 13th in the nation) after we regained the lead on three different occasions."

After trailing 7-1 in the fourth inning against Allegheny CC of Pittsburgh, the Lakers displayed their explosive offensive power and came back for an 18-8 victory.

"The region was again very balanced," Nesselrodt said, who noted that 16 of the Laker wins came over teams making the Region XX sectional tourney.

The GCC coach stated that pitching is always "the bottom line" in baseball and noted that nine different Laker hurlers earned victories in the first 32 games of the season. However, fatigue and injuries from so many back-to-back games took away the edge. "We weren't as sharp as you have to be to win," he said.

Chris Huyett, freshman, led the way on the mound for the Lakers as he finished with a 5-2 record and a 4.53 ERA. Freshman Bill Liller led the team in strike-outs with 30 and recorded four wins. Sophomore John Lucsko, after recovering from an ankle injury early in the season, came back to register a 3-1 mark with a team low ERA of 3.10, eighth lowest in the Maryland JUCO final rankings. Freshman Vaughn Yenich and Denzil Evans each recorded three wins. Sophomore Ed Frizzell, who was slowed by injury after his first two outings, won twice as did Stacey Viands. Ron Bosley came in from his left field position to earn a mound victory and freshman Brian Jones turned in the most impressive performance in his only win of the year, a no-hitter against Montgomery, Germantown, while striking out ten batters.

Offensively, the Lakers outscored their opponents 312-271 while recording a whopping .340 team batting average.

Leading the way was freshman Benny Shreve, Shinnston, W.Va., who set a school record for most hits in one season (64), most runs scored (53), and the highest batting average in eight years (.441). He also hit safely in 17 straight games, led the team in at-bats (145), triples (four), walks (22), and struck out only nine times for a slugging percentage of .738. He was tied for most games played (42), most home runs (six), and stolen bases (16). He finished second in doubles with 17 and RBIs with 35. He was named runner-up for the MVP award and was notified this week that he was named to the second team All-Region XX as an infielder.

With stats like these, who else could have won the team MVP award? Answer: Ted Sova.

Sova, a sophomore, finished with a .413 batting average and completed his two years at GCC with a total of 93 hits and a .410 average. "Ted is a hitter that thrives in the clutch situation," Nesselrodt said. "I can't believe he wasn't named to the All-Region team."

Sova led the team in doubles with 18 and RBIs with 53, new team record for one season and good for third place in the JUCO rankings. He finished second in at-bats, hits, triples, sacrifices, and struck out only eight times in 42 games. He hit three home runs.

Freshman centerfielder Rick Harasti finished with a .381 average, was second in runs scored with 42, hit three home runs, and stole 14 bases. He was also named to the second team All-Region. Freshman Kent Freeman tied for most home runs (six) and tied for second in RBIs (35). He hit .358 and led in sacrifices with eight. Sophomore third baseman Brian Cueva, before being sidelined with a shoulder injury, hit .353 and tied for most steals, going a perfect 16 for 16. Sophomore catcher Marty Harvey batted .342 and rapped four homers. Freshman Lynn Shook finished at .338 while playing errorless defense in the outfield. Southern High's Ron Bosley finished at .305, providing four home runs in only 59 at-bats after recovering from a leg injury.

Tim Pavlic, Bob Scavina, and Jim Keller were all slowed by injuries. Pavlic, an outstanding right fielder with a strong throwing arm, finished at Garrett with a two-year average of .302. Scavina, last season's defensive player of the year, finished with a .481 on-base percentage, second behind Shreve's .515. Keller, who stole 14 bases in 15 attempts, was called "the best defensive infielder we had" by Coach Nesselrodt, and provided several key hits throughout the season.

Former Northern standout Phil Carr had a solid season at first base and left field, while Southern grad Kevin Winters collected two game-winning RBIs by filling in as designated hitter at first base.

The Lakers recorded 94 stolen bases in 106 attempts for a .887 percentage and hit a single season record of 30 home runs.

"With the addition of a fall schedule this September, we should be playing between 50 and 60 games," Nesselrodt said, looking ahead to next season. "The key of the fall season will be that we will not have to squeeze so many games into the spring, which was part of the reason for our not finishing as strong as we could have. We have a super nucleus back for next year, along with some strong recruits."

Working without an assistant coach, Nesselrodt noted his appreciation for the support and assistance from several of his sophomore players this past season. He also gave a special

Lady Huskies Fall To Smithsburg In District Final; Finish At 16-3

Lady Huskies win first game in District Playoffs. Lose in District Championship.

After defeating the Clear Spring Blazers in the opening round of District One Playoff Competition on Tuesday, the Northern girls softball team was defeated by the Smithsburg Leopards, 10-3, thus ending the Huskies' season with a 16-13 mark.

Earlier the Huskies ended their regular season with a split against Clear Spring. The Huskies won the opening game 7-6 by pushing across the winning run in the top of the seventh inning. Heroes of the game were Julie Robeson, who doubled in the top of the seventh and then was driven home on a single by Lori Sisler. Sisler collected three hits in the contest, while Kim McClintock added a pair of singles. Kim Buckel picked up her 14th victory of the year.

In the second game the Huskies went into the seventh inning ahead 5-2. However Clear Spring scored three times in the bottom of the seventh with two outs to tie the score and push the game into extra innings.

The Huskies couldn't muster any offense in the top of the eighth. Clear Spring's Michele Rowland led off the bottom of the eighth with an apparent triple, however on an appeal play she was called out. Stacy Cline followed with a single, stole second, and was driven in by Debbie Farmer's single for a 6-5 victory.

In the opening round of District playoffs, the Huskies saw themselves get behind 5-0 after the first three innings. In the bottom of the third, the Huskies scored twice on a pair of singles by Julie Robeson and Kim Buckel, and an error by Clear Spring to make it 5-2.

It stayed 5-2 until the bottom of the sixth inning when the Huskies erupted for three runs to tie the score 5-5. Missy Durst led off with a single, went to second on a wild pitch, and scored on an infield out. Liz Sisler walked, Lori Sisler was hit by a pitch and Kim Buckel moved the runners over with an infield ground out. Both Sislers then scored when Clear Spring's first baseman couldn't handle a hard smash by Kim McClintock.

Northern then held Clear Spring scoreless in the top of the seventh. Missy Durst again started things off by walking to open the inning. After she stole second, and with two outs Julie Robeson lifted a ball behind the shortstop that Cline couldn't handle and Durst scored the winning run from second base.

Durst and Lori Sisler both scored a pair of runs for Northern. Kim Buckel picked up her 15th victory.

The win gave the Lady Huskies the right to face top-seeded Smithsburg, who crushed Boonsboro 29-1 in their contest.

Rams Fall To Mt. Savage, 7-3, In Class C District Semi-Final

Post-season play for the Southern High Rams came to a rapid end on Saturday as Mount Savage broke open a close game in the sixth inning and went on to take a 7-3 victory over Coach Jim Bosley's Rams, who finished the season with a 13-5 record.

The Indians then went on to edge Clear Spring, 3-2, in the district championship contest Tuesday afternoon and will now seek the state Class C title.

Mt. Savage got off to a quick start against the Rams as Brian Hoppert and Mike Harden reached base on infield errors. Allen Cook then singled home Hoppert to open the scoring. Harden also scored to give the Indians a 2-0 advantage.

The home team added three more runs in the bottom of the third inning as Harden recorded a single, moved to second on an errant pickoff attempt by Southern pitcher John Nelson, and came home on Jim Cook's single. Don Rose then smacked a two-run homer to give the Indians a 5-0 lead.

The Rams came back in the fourth inning for what would prove to be their only three runs of the game. With one out, Jeff Sweitzer and Danny Holler hit back-to-back singles and, after a wild pitch which advanced the runners, Mike Hill singled home Sweitzer. J.R. Gibson added a single to left which scored Holler, followed by a bases-loaded walk for Scott Stem, which gave the Rams their third run.

Matt Logue then relieved Gary Tipton on the mound and got the Indians out of the inning by forcing Dave McLaughlin into a ground out.

Logue, a senior, did not yield a single hit or walk in the remaining three innings as he struck out four Ram batters.

The Rams did threaten again in the fifth, however, as they placed one man on base on an error and Nelson smacked a long shot to left center which Harden grabbed at the fence to save a possible home run.

The Indians added two insurance runs in the sixth frame as Logue singled and Scott Miller added a two-out double to plate pinch runner, Jim Shaffer. Hoppert then singled to center, scoring Miller for the final run of the game.

It was the first playoff win for Mount Savage since 1979 when the Indians won the Maryland Class C title. It was the first ever playoff victory for first-year coach Joe Carter.

Coach Bosley expressed pride in his team, which lost three one-run games this season, including one to the area's top rated team, Keyser, after the Rams were on top by several runs. Two of Southern's five losses were to Keyser, who finished 25-4.

"The seniors on this team have won 49 games during their four years, and that's a tribute to them," Bosley said. "I think this year's team is better than the 13-5 record might indicate because we lost some close games."

Bosley has guided the Rams to the Region I playoffs for six consecutive years.

After Tuesday's win over Clear Spring, Mt. Savage is 16-2 on the season.

Pleasant View To Show Family Film

"All The King's Horses" will be the family movie shown at the Pleasant View Baptist Church on Saturday, May 25, at 7 p.m. "All The King's Horses" is about one young couple's marriage, and harmony in family relationships versus broken homes and broken hearts.

According to Deborah Pariseau, activities committee chairman, the monthly movies have been a great success. She says the church is very happy to share these family movies with so many members and guests. Approximately 95 people viewed last month's movie, about half of them visitors, said Pariseau.

There will be no admission charge for the movie, however, donations to defray the cost may be deposited in a container. Because of the large attendance the movie will be shown in the main church room instead of the basement. For that reason, the group will not be able to serve refreshments.

The Pleasant View Baptist Church is located on Route 219 just two miles south of Oakland.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ashby

Addie & Stanley, Mother & Dad,
You're no longer with us, it makes our hearts sad.
But yet we're rejoicing, for you are with Him
Who gave His life, to save you from sin.
You taught us to love Him, you taught us to pray.
You took us to church & you showed us the way.
Stanley & Addie, your money you gave,
You were concerned that others be saved.
You carried your cross, you sat in your place,
And there was the love of God on your face.
One day the angels took Addie home,
Stanley was faithful, he sat alone.
Stanley was faithful till God called him away.
Now they're together in heaven to stay.
They set an example, their memory is sweet.
They're sitting, this morning, at Jesus' dear feet.

By their daughter,
Eva Ashby Naill

Garrett, Allegany Bureau Women Have Luncheon

Garrett and Allegany County Farm Bureau Women held a combined luncheon meeting Tuesday, May 14, at Penn Alps near Grantsville. Donna Glotfelty, Garrett County chairman, welcomed the group and Allegany County chairman, Carolyn Ganoe, led in reading the collect.

Program chairman, Karmen Carey arranged the demonstrations on wool spinning by Bernice Bartholomew, pottery making by Lynn Lais, and woodcarving by Dennis Ruane.

Separate county business sessions were conducted during the afternoon. A bi-district meeting was announced for Tuesday, May 21, at the home of Anna Newcomber, Brinklow, Montgomery County, for Districts I and II. This is an annual day of learning and planning when activities such as the State Farm Queen Contest to be held August 25 at Timonium, and the December 8-11 Maryland Farm Bureau Convention in Ocean City will be discussed.

Farm/City Week activities were announced, including a hosted visit by Friendsville Headstart Children of Thomas Brothers Egg Producers near Friendsville; displaying the Women's Committee Scrapbook in the Extension Offices in Oakland and Grantsville, and in the local library. Criss Kepple, 1984 Garrett County Farm Queen, was the featured speaker at the Friendsville Rotary Club meeting Monday evening.

Plans for the local Farm Queen Contest scheduled for August 11 were formulated. Directors were asked to be looking for single Farm Bureau girls who will be at least 16 and not yet 20 by State Contest time. The Maryland Farm Queen will receive a $2,000 scholarship and an all-expense paid trip to the American Farm Bureau Federation's Convention in Atlanta, Ga., in January.

Special guests for the day were Martha Clark, Maryland Farm Bureau Women's Committee chairman, and Wilma Mallow, State Second vice chairman. Mrs. Clark asked the group to urge all county Farm Bureau members to write letters to their legislators urging them to support the Farm Bureau Farm Bill, HR 1965 or S.908, which was recently introduced in the House of Representatives. Major provisions of this bill include:

•Commodity loans for feed grains, wheat, soybeans and rice set at 75 percent of the five-year average market price. High and low years would be excluded, and annual adjustments of no more than 10 percent would be allowed.

•Target prices for 1986 would be frozen at the 1985 levels. Beginning in 1987, target prices would be set at 110 percent of the same average market prices used to determine loan rates. Target prices would not be allowed to be adjusted more than 5 percent a year.

•Milk would be supported at 90 percent of a three-year-average all-milk price, adjusted up or down according to expected levels of Commodity Credit Corporation purchases. Price support adjustments would not exceed three percent in any six-month period. However, the secretary of agriculture would be allowed to make adjustments if CCC purchases are expected to exceed eight billion pounds within any one year.

•Voluntary production adjustment programs would be triggered if ending stocks are projected to exceed a certain level. For wheat and feed grains that level is four percent of world use.

•If land diversion payments are provided for, at least 50 percent of the payment would be made available as soon as possible after a producer signs up for the program.

The farmer-owned reserve would be eliminated and replaced by nine-month loans to wheat and feed grain producers. The loans would be interest free, however if a nine-month extension is granted for the loan, interest will be charged.

•A "Commodity bonus" provision would require that one-third of excess CCC or farmer-owned reserve stocks be used each year as an export incentive to move surplus commodities and retaliate against subsidized exports of other countries.

Releasing Farm Bureau's bill is only the first step however on the long road to a new farm bill that must be completed by the end of this fiscal year when the current bill expires. But while it is the first step, it is a very important one. "The farm bill is our number one priority." "Nothing is more important to agriculture's future right now," said Henry Holloway, Md. FB president.

Attending Tuesday's luncheon meeting from Garrett County were Garna Enlow, Larna Umbel, Rhoda Hummel, Kathleen Fratz, Debbie Stemple, Esther Margroff and guest, and Mrs. Glotfelty.

THE ANNUAL SPRING MEETING OF THE GARRETT AND ALLEGANY COUNTY FARM BUREAU WOMEN was held May 14 during a luncheon at Penn Alps near Grantsville. Several county business sessions were conducted during the afternoon, and demonstrations on wool spinning, pottery making and woodcarving were enjoyed by the delegates from both counties. Plans were made for upcoming state and local events, and the group was urged to write letters to their legislators asking them to suppot the Farm Bureau Farm Bill, which was recently introduced in the House of Representatives. Pictured above, from left to right, are: Donna Glotfelty, Garrett County Women's Committee chairman; Wilma Mallow, Maryland Farm Bureau Women's Committee second vice chairman, Martha Clark, Maryland Farm Bureau Women's Committee chairman, and Carolyn Ganoe, Allegany County Women's Committee chairman.

Deadline For Certification Of Crops Announced

Maryland farmers have until June 1 to report the sizes and intended uses of their wheat, oats, barley, rye and other small grains to the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

Fall-seeded crops that are not certified by the deadline date will be ineligible for program benefits, State ASC Committee chairman, Olin S. Davis, Jr., said.

The sign-up period for the 1985 wheat and feed grain acreage reduction programs closed on April 1. Farmers who enrolled are required to report the actual planted acreages on a field-by-field basis to be eligible for price support loans, deficiency payments and other program benefits.

Davis said acreage reports are necessary to determine program compliance and to document crop acreage bases. To verify that the reports are accurate, he said farms are checked at random, and aerial photographs are provided to farmers for field identification.

Before certifying crops, farmers may request measurement service from ASCS. "We will measure planted crops, acreage conservation reserve land, fields or subdivisions, total cropland and land areas for other purposes." Davis said the measurements are guaranteed for the crop year. Fees vary, depending on the type of service rendered.

Maryland farmers who have not certified their fall-seeded crops are urged to do so by the June 1 deadline.

Farm Bill Is Supported By Mathias, Byron

Senator Charles McC. Mathias, Jr. and Representatives Roy Dyson and Beverly Byron have co-sponsored legislation that the Maryland Farm Bureau claims could put agriculture on a healthy, strong road into the 21st century.

The Farm Bureau farm bill, H.R. 1965 and S. 908, stresses market orientation and gradual change. H.R. 1965 was introduced in the House of Representatives by Rep. William Emerson of Missouri. Senator Mitch McConnell, Kentucky, introduced the identical S. 908 ten days later.

the legislation was developed by a large base of farmers across the country. The bill represents producers in every commodity, geographic region and financial group.

"Farm Bureau should be commended for its efforts in formulating a four-year plan to improve our nation's agricultural markets both here and abroad," Mathias said in a letter to Maryland Farm Bureau President Henry Holloway.

Holloway said he is "extremely pleased" that they are supporting the bills. "Agriculture is Maryland's number one industry and it needs this type of support to thrive," he said.

The bill ties dairy price supports and commodity loans for major export crops to formulas that depend on market prices rather than arbitrary political numbers. This will result in a more market-related course for American agriculture, Holloway says.

To help regain export markets for U.S. farm products, Farm Bureau's farm program proposal offers a "commodity bonus" feature, requiring one-third of excess Commodity Credit Corporation or farmer-owned reserve stocks to be used each year as export incentives.

MFB's 14,500 member-families are committed to passage of H.R. 1965 and S. 908. The board of directors looks for other Maryland Congressmen to co-sponsor the bills shortly.

HELP FOR "LADY LIBERTY" — Students from Southern High School and Southern Middle School recently participated successfully in the Kellogg's Statue of Liberty Campaign. The students coordinated their efforts to obtain at least 500 Kellogg's box tops from their fellow students. The items then were sent to the campaign headquarters and money was then donated from the Kellogg's Company toward the restoration of the Statue of Liberty. Each school was presented with a plaque that congratulated them for their successful effort. Teacher sponsors for the drive were: Dave Bender, Southern High School and Patti McLaughlin, Southern Middle School. Pictured above are the students who conducted the drive in their respective schools. Seated left to right are: Courtney Smith, J. J. Glotfelty, Amy Glotfelty, P. J. Damon, and Randy Lucas. Standing, same order, are: Mr. Bender, Crystal Simmons, Candy Lucas, and Mrs. McLaughlin.

Buckle Up Week Is Proclaimed By Governor Hughes

Maryland Governor Harry Hughes has proclaimed the period of May 23-30, 1985, as Maryland Buckle Up Week.

This proclamation has been timed to coincide with "All American Buckle Up Week," an effort supported by state, federal, and local officials reminding motorists of the importance of using their safety belts and approved child safety seats.

The All American Buckle Up is a major promotional campaign that challenges motorists to lay their excuses aside for one week and give their seatbelts a try. States representing 40 percent of the nation's population are actively participating in this campaign in hope that life-long lifesaving habits will be formed.

State Police in Maryland are strongly urging drivers, as well as passengers traveling on our highways, to use their safety belts for it is the best protection they have against unsafe drivers. Additionally, Marylanders are reminded of a Maryland law requiring that children under the age of 3 be properly restrained in an approved child passenger safety seat; children from the ages 3 to 5 are required to be in a child passenger safety seat or safety belt.

According to Colonel W.T. Travers, Jr., Superintendent of the State Police, "It is my hope that increased awareness of the advantages of utilizing safety restraints will result in a significant reduction of deaths and serious injuries on our highways."

Lisa Fike Named To Who's Who

Lisa Diane Fike, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Fike and student at Potomac State College, has been selected as one of the country's most outstanding campus leaders by the Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges editorial staff.

Her name will be included in the 1985 edition of Who's Who Among Students in American Junior Colleges, an annual directory of outstanding student published in 1966.

A campus nominating committee and editors of the publication have included the name of this student based on her academic achievements, community service, leadership in extra-curricular activities and potential for continued success.

Theft, D.O.P. Investigated By Sheriff's Dept.

Sheriff's deputies are investigating two reported cases of destruction of property and one case of theft this week.

Gary Glotfelty, Oakland, told police Sunday that someone had thrown a beer bottle through the windshield of his automobile on Saturday night causing an estimated $100 worth of damage. The incident occurred on the Fingerboard Road. Deputy David Crossland is investigating.

Richard Ball, Cumberland, reported to the department Saturday that sometime during the past month unknown persons had entered a utility shed at his summer residence on the State Park Road and removed a Lawn Boy lawn mower. A Sears gas grill and a redwood picnic table with two benches were also taken from the porch of his home. Deputy Crossland is continuing his investigation.

Paul M. Bolyard, Pompano Beach, Fla., reported that someone had thrown a large rock through the sliding glass doors at his summer residence on the Steiding Church Road sometime between May 5 and May 11. Damage was set at $125. Assistant Chief Deputy Harland Tichnell is handling the investigation.

The price of liberty

One of the most distinguished statesmen and orators of the Revolutionary War of America was Patrick Henry. It was in 1775 that he said, "Give me liberty or give me death."

Since that time many men and women have given their lives for the cause of freedom.

As Memorial Day comes upon us, let us remember those servicemen and women who made the great sacrifice. Through their bravery, we have been given the right to choose our own faith and destiny.

CHARITY IS FINE—BUT NOT WITH MEDICINES

Is it all right to share your medicine with someone else? Definitely not. As your doctor will tell you, don't ever take medication which has been prescribed for another person. This could lead to many problems and instead of helping, it could be harmful to the person sharing the medication. Your doctor takes into consideration such things as age, weight, sex and physical condition when writing your prescriptions.

Yes, your doctor is the only one who should prescribe a drug for treatment. Friends and neighbors can offer free advice, but your physician is the expert on matters of health. He is the one you should look to for professional help. So please take our "free advice"—never share your medicine with somebody else.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

THE LIMITS OF WISDOM
May 26, 1985

Background Scripture:
Proverbs 1:7, 19; 3:5-8; 14:1-12
Devotional Reading:
Proverbs 6:1-15

One of the achievements of understanding is the ability to differentiate between intelligence, education, and wisdom. Lots of people fail to distinguish the important differences between them.

Some of the most intelligent people I've known have not had much of a formal education (although an education could have enhanced their superior intelligence). I've also known some people who were well educated and obviously quite intelligent, but that did not necessarily say that they were also wise. In fact, some of the most foolish people I've known (and this can include myself) have been both well educated and quite intelligent.

LEARNED FOOLS

I have frequently noted that some people seem to reach a point in life where, surrounded upon success after success, they have come to believe that all their judgements and decisions are guaranteed to be right. Hitler, for example, began the Second World War with a string of brilliant victories. As time went by, however, he was so intoxicated by his success, that he refused to follow the wise advice of those around him. The result was crushing defeat. I have also known businessmen with brilliant track records for success after success who, eventually, have come to bitter and humiliating ends. The reason: they forgot or perhaps never knew that there are always limits to human wisdom.

The problem is that our cleverness often leads us in the direction of pride and self-satisfaction, which is the opposite direction from wisdom. If we are really learned or smart or both, we will realize the limitations of these faculties. The result will be humility, not pride. The more we know, the more we will realize how much we don't know. The more we understand, the more we will acknowledge the enormity of what we do not understand.

WISE IN WHOSE EYES?

But there's more to it than learning our own limitations. The writer of Proverbs counsels us: "Trust in the Lord with all your heart, and do not rely on your own insight" (3:5). The more we learn about life, the more we will realize that none of us, by ourselves, is sufficient. There are times when we have thought as clearly as we can think, when we have persevered as long as we could, and worked as hard as we have strength, and it still was not enough. Real learning, intelligence and wisdom mean that we find there is something beyond ourselves on which we must ultimately rely and someone to whom we must eventually turn. "Trust in the Lord..." is the sage's counsel, but it takes a truly smart person to do it. Only the smart person realizes that smartness is never enough -- no matter how brilliant it may seem to ourselves, no matter how much it may dazzle others.

When we have reached the extremities of our own wisdom, it is then that we enter to the precincts of the wisdom of God.

Bruce Willis won't have to moonlight anymore

By Gregory Garver

HOLLYWOOD — When it first hit airwaves earlier this year, the Cybill Shepherd-Bruce Willis series "Moonlighting" didn't exactly race to the No. 1 spot. And though the show may not be a smash when it returns to ABC this fall, one thing is certain. Hollywood — and viewers — will be aware of Bruce Willis.

Except for appearances on a few New York based soaps and a guest shot as a villain on an episode of "Miami Vice," the 29-year-old actor is a rookie when it comes to TV.

Willis had been starring on Broadway, and when the show ended, he flew West for — as he had done frequently in the past — a brief vacation.

"My New York agent has a California office, and he asked me to check in with the people in his office out there," the actor recalls. "They told me that there were auditions for a show called 'Moonlighting.' I went over, read for the show and got the part."

It was a lucky bit of timing. The show's casting crew had seen, they told Willis, more than 3,000 actors. They were tired, and had to hire someone on the spot. Willis physically fitting the character and having a prestigious Broadway show to his credit, was the perfect choice. He was signed.

Bruce Willis

Willis, who was raised in Penns Grove, N.J., remembers spending his youth as the class clown. He says he didn't perform in school plays for one reason: His schools never staged any. Eventually, Willis attended New Jersey's Montclair State College.

By his sophomore year, Willis was traveling, almost daily, to Manhattan to study acting. On the day he won his first audition, he quit school, supporting himself as a bartender between jobs.

Now, it seems, Willis won't have to mix any more martinis. "It's not that important for 'Moonlighting' to be a hit," he says. "What's more important is that Hollywood finally knows who I am."

Bernadette Peters joins Bob Hope for "Bob Hope's Happy Birthday Homecoming — The Royal London Gala," airing Tuesday, May 28 on NBC.

SOAP OPERA WEEK

Former soap star now croonin' country tunes

By Kimberly Redmond

Can you tell me if Andrea Evans, the actress who plays Tina Clayton on "One Life to Live," ever married her former co-star Wayne Massey? — T.P., Kinston, N.C.

Wayne Massey

Miss Evans and Massey were married after they met on the set of the ABC soap. The couple was divorced during Miss Evans' stint as Patty Abbott on "The Young and the Restless." Miss Evans has remained single, while Massey wed country singer, Charley McClain, last July. Massey sings three duets with his wife on her new album, "Radio Heart."

I heard that every year, fans of "Days of Our Lives" have a chance to meet the cast of the soap. How I can participate in the gathering this year? — L.L., Glendale, Calif.

Deidre Hall, the actress who plays Marlena Evans Brady on the NBC soap, and her fan club president organize the gathering every year. If you write to the actress, she'll supply you with more details. Address your letters to Miss Hall c/o "Days of Our Lives," NBC, 3000 W. Alameda Ave., Burbank, CA. 91505.

I have a bet with my friend that Julianna McCarthy and Brenda Dickson, who play mother and daughter on "The Young and the Restless," are mother and daughter in real life. Am I correct? — E.C., Colorado Springs, Colo.

Hope you didn't bet a bundle. The actresses are not related.

There's something fishy about Barbra's wardrobe

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — London artist Simon Costin creates jewelry from fish bones, bird wings, rabbit ears, snakeskins and other equally appealing items. When he was asked to design something different for Barbra Streisand to wear as a headpiece for her video "Emotion," Simon dredged up a tiara made of — gulp! — piranha heads. Babs took a look and said no. Politely.

Barbra Streisand

The location? Manhattan's West 72 Street. The time? 10:35 p.m. The scene? A fellow with a bushy beard and a cute lady in sweatpants and without makeup, who was hanging onto her chum like she was his jacket. The event? Extracting some bucks from an all-night Citibank cash machine. The people? Kevin Kline and Phoebe Cates.

Andrew Sinclair, who directed Richard Burton and Elizabeth Taylor in the 1971 Dylan Thomas movie "Under Milk Wood," will write Burton's bio for Morrow. ... The actor decided to park his lollies for good.

Michael Caine paid $500,000 for a 15th-century rectory in the wee village of Northstoke, England (population 150) and he has a construction crew converting the place into a more suitable living space. COMING ATTRACTIONS

Crenna makes a career breakthrough in 'Rape'

By Marc Minnelli

"Viewers shouldn't tune in expecting to be titillated," says Richard Crenna, discussing the upcoming ABC-TV movie "The Rape of Richard Beck." In the film, airing Monday, May 27, Crenna plays a macho police officer who is raped by two male bikers. The film is, the actor says, the first time television has dealt with the controversial topic of male rape.

"Viewers will be shocked and embarrassed by what they see," Crenna says, "because the rape scene is meant to be a vicious and denigrating act of violence. But the film has a purpose. It offers men the tremendous opportunity to examine what a woman goes through when she's been raped."

To prepare for the film, the 58-year-old actor drew upon the experiences of his 31-year-old daughter Seana, who fought off an attempted rape nearly three years ago.

"We talked about what had happened to her," Crenna explains, "how painful and humiliating the experience was. After the near-attack, Seana had trouble coping with life — she even moved back home — so I know firsthand what a rape victim goes through." The actor and his wife also did volunteer work with the Santa Monica Rape Center, "where I learned that rape is not a sexual act, but an act of violence and aggression."

Did Crenna have any problems portraying the victim of male rape? "I was not the first person asked to do this film," he admits, "and I only got it because other actors were afraid to expose their feelings; perhaps the film was a threat to their masculinity. As for the morality — or immorality — of the film, I never gave it a moment's thought."

Richard Crenna

Crenna, who will also be seen in the new John Candy comedy "Summer Rental," believes "The Rape of Richard Beck" marks a career breakthrough.

"For so many years, from 'Our Miss Brooks' to 'The Real McCoys,' I was playing a teenager and a country bumpkin," he says. "This is the first film that exposes Richard Crenna as an actor. People shouldn't tune in thinking they're going to see Luke McCoy."

WEDNESDAY

Lesley-Anne Down and Anthony Hopkins play lovers who meet in Paris in "Arch of Triumph," airing Wednesday, May 29 on CBS.

BEHIND THE SCENES

Film reunites Iwo Jima survivors for special

By Marta Tarbell

Arnold Shapiro was only four years old on February 19, 1945, the day 75,000 United States Marines stormed the Japanese island of Iwo Jima. The brutal, decisive battle raged for more than a month. When it was over, 7,000 Americans were dead and 20,000 were badly wounded. And all but 1,000 of the 21,000 Japanese defenders were dead.

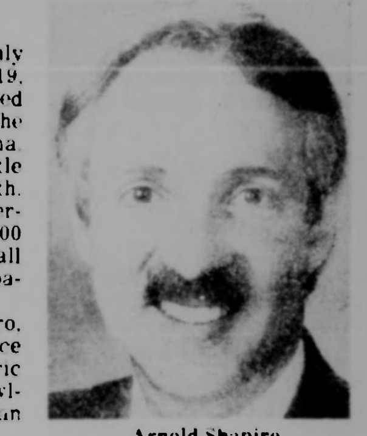
It always bothered Shapiro, a World War II buff since childhood, that the historic event was rarely acknowledged by anyone other than the battle's survivors.

So the 44-year-old Emmy and Oscar-winning producer, best known for the 1980 prison documentary "Scared Straight," organized a 40th anniversary reunion of Iwo Jima survivors. Of the 260 veterans who attended the fete, Shapiro chose five American and three Japanese survivors as the main subjects of his hour-long documentary film, "Return to Iwo Jima," airing Wednesday, May 29 on PBS. (Check local listings).

"These men represent a good cross-section of the experience," says Shapiro. "One man's face was badly disfigured in the battle. Another went back to school to become a minister because that was the only way he knew to make sense of what he had seen. And still another has suffered from severe nightmares over the years."

What made this particular battle so hellish?

"At the time, reporters described the Battle of Iwo Jima as the worst battle since Gettysburg," explains Shapiro. "All of the 'intelligent' predictions had been wrong. It was said that 13,000 Japanese held the island, when actually there were 21,000 Japanese. Experts expected the battle to last for three to five days; it lasted 36 days."



Arnold Shapiro

What firmly lodged the memory of Iwo Jima in the world's consciousness was the Pulitzer-Prize winning photograph of six victorious Marines straining to raise the American flag on the island. Three of those men died in battle.

Shapiro says that the filmed reunion was as emotional as the battle itself. "During the ceremony, the Japanese played their hymn," he says. "And the Americans played 'From the Halls of Montezuma.' They played it slow, like a death march. It was as opposite of its usual spirit as you can get. A few men started crying," Shapiro adds, "and a few men started singing. Then everybody started singing. It was a universal moment."

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

Is "Falcon Crest" star Jane Wyman the same actress who starred on "Father Knows Best"? My best friend insists she is, but I have a feeling he's wrong. — M.S., Melfort, Saskatchewan, Canada

Jane Wyman

You're correct. The actress who starred on "Father Knows Best," which ran from 1954-1963, was Jane Wyatt. Miss Wyatt was born in Campgaw, N.J. on Aug. 10, 1911. She made her film debut in "One More River" (1934).

Jane Wyman (real name: Sarah Jane Fulks) was born in St. Joseph, Mo. on Jan. 4, 1914. Miss Wyman, who was once married to President Reagan, made her film debut in "Gold Diggers of 1937" (1936).

I know Barbara Bel Geddes is returning to "Dallas" next season, but why did she leave the show? — J.D., Falconer, N.Y.

The 62-year-old actress had open-heart surgery nearly two years ago. Before the operation, Miss Bel Geddes suffered a heart attack. During her recovery, the actress decided to leave Hollywood and return to her home in upstate New York. "Dallas" producers decided to hire Donna Reed as the "new" Miss Ellie Ewing but the switch was never fully accepted by viewers. Miss Bel Geddes, who received a clean bill of health from her doctors, finally decided to return to the show.

I just caught a rerun of an old TV show that featured Connie Francis as a guest. How old is the singer? Where does she live? — L.B., Fall River, Mass.

Miss Francis was born on Dec. 12, 1938 in Newark, N.J. She lives with her adopted son, Joey, in Essex Fells, N.J. In August, the singer is moving to Los Angeles, where plans are under way to film her life story.

Barry doesn't deceive himself about fitness

By Renee Ross

Barry Bostwick

An arduous role can be as demanding on an actor as a grueling sporting event is for an athlete, claims Barry Bostwick, starring in the four-hour film "Deceptions," airing May 26 and 27 on NBC.

"Filming 'Deceptions' was a lot like running a marathon," explains Bostwick, 39, who plays the husband of Stefanie Powers, who portrays a twin who trades identities with her sister. "I was moving ahead despite fatigue and bad weather. We shot the film for three months in the dead of winter in England and I'm still trying to shake the cold I caught over there!"

During a career that has spanned more than two decades, Bostwick says stamina and self-control are the chief lessons he has learned. "Self-discipline can be the hardest thing to confront when you achieve a measure of success," the actor explains. "If it happens when you're very young, you can be overwhelmed with temptations — drugs, food, alcohol, women, real estate. There are simply too many chances.

"But I believe you can make anything in your life work out well," Bostwick adds. "For instance, if you're an actor who doesn't get the role you want, there's probably a reason. Maybe a more suitable one will come along. Don't just sit back full of ennui and wait for the perfect situation. This applies to everyone, not just actors."

Bostwick maintains his upbeat attitude with twice-daily meditation sessions. "I've been doing it for seven years," he says. "Meditation is the core of my being. It brings me home to my center. I don't see how anyone can exist in show biz without some method of personal centering.

"I try to eat sensibly and exercise five days a week at Jane Fonda's Workout Center," Bostwick adds. "Her program is perfect for me because it's graded to my fitness level. If I go away to make a film, I can return and pick up my workout without injuring my muscles."

The power of positive thinking keeps Bostwick levelheaded. "Too many people get caught up in the negative," he says. "Those who understand the difference should use positive elements whenever possible. This doesn't mean you should hide your head in the sand — just ignore life's occasional pain. After all," the actor adds, "happy endings are what life is all about."

Trying for a comeback with 'Under One Roof'

By Gillian George

Richard Sanders

Ever since "WKRP in Cincinnati" went off the air in 1982, Richard Sanders, the actor who played pompous news director Les Nessman on the CBS series, has been trying to make a comeback.

It's been touch and go. Earlier this year, the actor appeared as a crooked United States Treasury agent on the short-lived NBC series "Berrenger's." Simultaneously, he appeared as Mr. Beanley, the perplexed, serious high-school guidance counselor on another NBC series, "Spencer."

Then, with a silent but obvious chuckle from the fates, "Berrenger's" was axed and Chad Lowe, who originated the role of Spencer Winger, threw the series' future into doubt when he refused to continue in the series. After much deliberation, "Spencer" was revamped, newcomer Ross Harris took over the leading role and the series was relaunched as "Under One Roof."

"It was a great relief to get all sorted out," says Sanders, who insists he hasn't any idea if the series will return in the fall. "I really enjoy playing Mr. Beanley. He's the high school's authority figure, a man who desperately tries to leap across the generation gap. I've come to think of my character as the coyote in the 'Road Runner' cartoons — he constantly finds himself going over a cliff while Spencer always escapes unscathed."

The 44-year-old Pennsylvania-born Sanders has an impressive list of projects to his name. He was a screenwriter before his face was seen on TV, and he contributed about a half-dozen scripts to "WKRP." He has also written several successful songs, and this year, he's working with a writing partner who also happens to be his love interest. "I can tell you that her first name is Marilyn," he says, "but she's so shy about publicity that I'd rather not reveal her last name."

Sanders is realistic about his claim to fame.

"My success came from the audience as well as from my 'WKRP' peers," he explains, "and that's pretty rare. Today, success is still a factor in the life of everybody who was in the show, mainly because the show turned out so well. If 'Under One Roof' ends up being anywhere near as good as 'WKRP,'" he adds, "I'll consider myself to be the luckiest guy around."

Home, Energy Improvement Loans Offered

The Maryland Department of Economic and Community Development (DECD) has available $6 million for home improvement loans and energy conservation improvement loans in one-to-four unit owner-occupied homes. The loans are available through the Community Development Administration (CDA), the state's housing finance agency.

Through the Home and Energy Loan Program (HELP), CDA will provide qualified applicants with home and energy conservation loans at a fixed interest rate of 10 percent, plus a one-half percent insurance premium. Loan amounts plus a one-half percent insurance premium. Loan amounts range from $2,000 to $15,000. Borrowers can repay the loan over a period of up to 15 years.

To qualify for a home improvement loan, applicants must have an income of less that $28,000 per year if single, or $35,000 per year for a household of two or more people. Among the home improvements eligible for HELP financing are: home additions, repairs or replacement of plumbing, heating and electrical systems, installation of new bathrooms, kitchens and closets, repair or replacement of roofs, floors, ceilings and stairways, and home modifications for the handicapped.

Any Maryland homeowner, regardless of income, may be eligible for an energy conservation loan. Energy improvements can include: caulking and weatherstripping, insulation, replacement heating systems, furnace efficiency modifications, replacement burners and vent dampers, new solar or energy siding, clock thermostats, and solar heating systems.

Through the Energy Bank, a companion CDA loan program, the interest rate on HELP loans for energy improvements only for families with limited incomes can be subsidized. This can reduce the interest rate to as low as zero percent, depending on family income and the type of energy improvements planned.

Loans made through HELP will be insured by the Maryland Housing Fund, DECD's mortgage insurance program.

Homeowners in Garrett County should apply directly to the Garrett County Community Action Agency, P.O. Box 449, Oakland, MD 21550; (301) 334-9431.

Fire Marshal Announces Fire Death Statistics

According to statistics compiled by the Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office, statewide fire deaths rose by 2 percent in 1984 from 1983. In 1983, 127 Marylanders lost their lives to fire, as compared to 130 in 1984.

Misuse or negligence while using smoking materials ranked as the number one cause in the majority of fire deaths for the third consecutive year, according to Rocco J. Gabriele, State Fire Marshal.

Of the 130 fatalities, approximately 34 were a result of careless smoking. This figure increased by four over the 1983 total of 30 smoking related fatalities.

Baltimore City led the state with 54 fire deaths, followed by Baltimore and Prince George's Counties with 13 fatalities each. The deaths recorded in Baltimore County included three fire fighters who lost their lives in a multiple alarm furniture store fire.

The lower rural counties of the Eastern Shore also proved to be a "high fire death rate" region of the state, with 18 fatalities.

Statistics also indicate that males were the most frequent victims of fires accounting for 79 fire deaths, while 51 females perished from fire.

The Maryland State Fire Marshal's Office and the Maryland State Firemen's Association, in conjunction with Governor Harry Hughes, conducted a statewide smoke detector awareness campaign during the end of 1984 and continuing throughout the first two months of 1985 to heighten citizen awareness as to the value of smoke detectors. Statistics indicated that the use and proper maintenance of smoke detectors has significantly helped to reduce the number of fire deaths in Maryland since 1982.

Mile-Long Hot Dog Event To Benefit Heart Association

The city of Frostburg in Western Maryland will be making history on May 25 on the campus of Frostburg State College, announced Delbert Payton, director of Recreation and Parks for the City of Frostburg.

"We are going to make the largest hot dog, 5,280 feet, in the world," said Payton. "The Mile-Long Hot Dog, making 15,000 individual sandwiches, will go on sale to the public at noon for 50 cents each, beginning with the Biggest Hot Dog in the World hot dog eating competition."

The sale of the Mile Long Hot Dog will benefit the Western Maryland Division of the American Heart Association.

The eating competition is open to any person who wants to be the Biggest Hot Dog eater in the world. Persons may contact Deb Payton at the Recreation Department, (301) 689-3957, if they want to compete for the title.

William R. Davis, mayor of Frostburg, will present the Hot Dog Trophy to the winner—the person eating the most hot dogs in a 10-minute period—officially recognizing them as the World's Biggest Hog Dog.

Certificates will be awarded in various categories to Hot Dog Runners-Up, and there will be TV coverage, Payton said.

Allegany Ballistics Laboratory has designed a specialized 24-inch stuffing funnel to be used with the mile-long casing prepared by Yoders Meat Packing Plant of Grantsville.

"Preparing the hot dog is a very delicate procedure," said Pete Meuller, plant manager at Yoders. "The casing will be like a balloon, one small hole will be the same as sticking a pin in a balloon."

"Our staff at Yoders will be working very slowly to avoid any breaks in the Mile-Long Hot Dog," said Meuller. "We will prepare the meat stuffing in one day and stuff, cure and cook the second day."

"Handling the Mile-Long Dot Dog is tricky," said Payton, "and we have designed a two-part rack to support the hot dog which will fit in the back of a pickup. The Mile-Long Hot Dog will be laid out as we travel the mile course across the football and baseball fields on the Frostburg State College campus.

"We invite everyone in the world who enjoys fun and wants to take a bite out of history," Payton said.

Ziegler To Speak At Fairview Revival

A weekend revival will be held May 31 through June 2 at Fairview Church of the Brethren, located four miles off Rt. 50 at Table Rock, with special guest speaker, Rev. Edward K. Ziegler.

The Friday and Saturday evening services will begin at 7:30 p.m., with the Sunday service starting at 11 a.m. Rev. Ziegler's topics will be: "Creation is on Tiptoe," Friday evening; "Story of Two Bad Boys," on Saturday evening; and "Pursuit of Holiness," on Sunday morning.

Rev. Ziegler has been pastor, professor, missionary, and author, and is currently serving as pastor of the Beaver Dam Church of the Brethren in Union Bridge.

Something To Think About

R. Mark Durst

DIRECTOR

MARKERS AND MONUMENTS

If you are preplanning funeral arrangements, one thing you might consider is the gravemarker. You may not be looking to buy any thing just yet, but it might be helpful to visit a memorial dealer and brush up on the facts.

Monuments and markers were once made of many materials; now granite and bronze plaques are the most common. Marble, slate, or sandstone—once used exclusively—have been found to weather so badly that they are now rarely, if ever, used. Granite comes in all colors: black, gray, soft reds, white. The finest stones have an absence of any discoloration or seams, with a fine, uniform grain texture and color throughout.

The size of the stone, the number of words in the inscription, and any special borders or designs all affect the price. Since all stones must be handcrafted, the price may be somewhat more than you imagine. That's another reason to check things out with a memorial dealer, in order to know what you have to plan for.

RESCUE ON DEEP CREEK LAKE — An unidentified man and woman whose sailboat capsized on Deep Creek Lake on May 5, owe their lives to the two Garrett county men pictured above, Donald Upole, left, and Douglas Schenk. According to Joseph Kisselovich of the Garrett Bassers Association, Upole and Schenk were taking part in the Bassers' Spring Tournament on Deep Creek Lake along with approximately 20 other club members. These bass fishermen were scattered over wide areas of the lake, trying to catch the fish that would win the tournament for them. As Upole and Schenk were moving from one area of the lake to another, they saw a sailboat capsize and a man and woman thrown into the water. They were not wearing life jackets and the woman apparently could not swim, according to Kisselovich. They were calling out for help, and as Upole and Schenk were speeding toward the couple, they could see that the man, who was keeping the woman afloat, was beginning to tire. The fishermen pulled the couple into their boat and took them to shore. They then attempted to tow the sailboat to shore but were hampered by high winds. After two or three hours, they were finally successful. Kisselovich stated that the Bassers Association was proud of Upole and Schenk and glad that they were in the right place at the right time.

Garrett Community College Hosts Eighth Annual Career Day

Students from Northern and Southern High Schools got an opportunity to plan for their futures following graduation at the eighth annual Career Day, held May 14 at Garrett Community College.

Junior and senior students, numbering about 400, descended on GCC for the event, which included the opportunity to talk to representatives from 34 area colleges and post-secondary training institutions as well as a wide variety of career-oriented seminars and workshops.

"This year's Career Day was a big success, mainly because this year's students made it a success. They appeared to be the most motivated, goal-oriented group of students we have ever had for Career Day," commented Bill Ewing, director of admissions at GCC and a member of the Career Day Planning Committee.

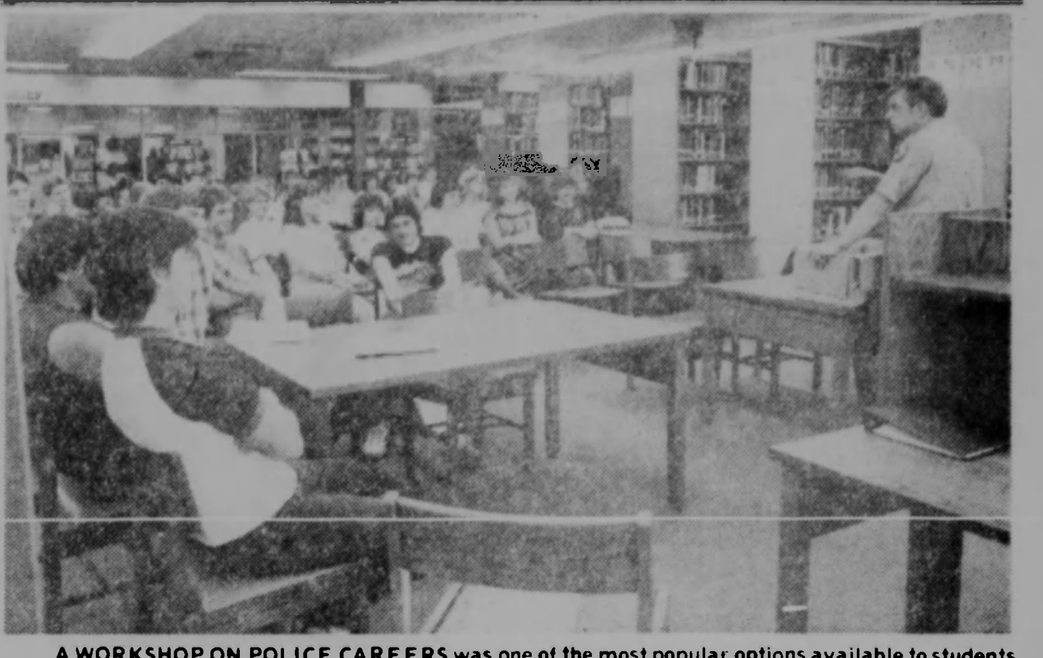
Other members of the committee was Albert Coviello, director of pupil services for the Garrett County Board of Education, Southern High School counselors Anna Bishop and Les McDaniel; and Northern High School counselors Jack Lear and James Thomas.

Among the most popular career workshops offered were those on police careers, the FBI, medical careers, and the McDonalds management trainee program, all of which attracted overflow crowds throughout the day.

Other options in the career workshop area included seminars on agricultural careers, personal finance for the college student, marriage and family, poultry technology, women and careers in the 1980's, financial aid for college, word processing skills, communication careers, computer careers, forestry careers, and cosmetology careers.

Colleges and training institutions represented at Career Day included Alderson Broadus College, Allegany Community College, Arundel Institute of Technology, the Art and Fashion Institute of Pittsburgh, Bethany College, Bowie State College, California University of Pennsylvania, Davis and Elkins College, Delaware Valley College of Science and Agriculture, the Diesel Institute of America, Duff's Technical Institute, Eastern Mennonite College, Frostburg State College, Hagerstown Business College, Hood College, ICM School of Business, Indiana University of Pennsylvania, Job Training Partnership Act, Maryland National Guard, the Median School of Allied Health Careers, the Nashville Auto Diesel College, Potomac State College, Shenandoah College and Conservatory, the U.S. Air Force, the U.S. Army and Army Reserves, the U.S. Navy, Vale Tech Campus, Waynesburg College, Webster College, Western Maryland College, West Virginia Career College, West Virginia University, and West Virginia Wesleyan College.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE GCC FACULTY AND STAFF were available to answer questions about attending Garrett Community College at Career Day at the college on May 14. Opportunities for financial aid, admissions procedures, and available courses of study were discussed with juniors and seniors from the two county high schools. Pictured above, left to right, are Bob Crone, chairman of the Humanities Division and assistant professor of English; Darlene Tressler, admissions representative; and a group of unidentified students.



A WORKSHOP ON POLICE CAREERS was one of the most popular options available to students attending Career Day at Garrett Community College on May 14. Juniors and seniors from Northern and Southern High Schools each selected three workshops from the seventeen available, which ranged from a seminar on computer careers to one about job opportunities in the FBI. Students also spent time meeting with representatives from 34 post-secondary training institutions and area colleges to discuss post-graduation options. Pictured above at right is 1st Sgt. H. W. Graham addressing a group of approximately 40 Career Day participants.

Edwards Speaks To Allegany-Garrett Municipal League

Delegate George C. Edwards (R-Garrett, Allegany) was the principal speaker at the Allegany-Garrett chapter of the Maryland Municipal League's bi-monthly meeting in Friendsville on May 15.

Friendsville Mayor James R. Spear hosted the session held at the Old Mill Grill. This marked the first time in 16 years the league has met in Friendsville.

Edwards discussed the legislation enacted by the 1985 General Assembly which affected Western Maryland, including bills to permit crossing of highways by snowmobiles in Allegany and Garrett counties; eliminating the sales tax on leased farm equipment; a severance tax on coal hauling; prohibiting the hunting of black bears; modifying the qualifications of private detectives, and raising the salaries of Garrett County officials.

The four-million dollar renovation of Northern High School at Accident, health care costs, and the current crisis involving several savings and loan firms in the state were also discussed by Edwards.

Executve Director of the MML Jon Burrell also attended the meeting and warned the municipal officials not to count on getting federal revenue sharing funds after September 30, 1986, when the program is scheduled for elimination as part of President Reagan's effort to balance the federal budget.

He also noted that federal income tax deductions on property taxes will be eliminated under Reagan's plan.

Approximately 30 officials from Friendsville, Oakland, Grantsville, Mountain Lake Park, Cumberland, Frostburg, Westernport, Luke, Lonaconing, and Midland attended the meeting which was presided over by Cumberland City Councilman Edward C. Athey, president of the Allegany-Garrett chapter.

The next meeting will be held on July 17 at Kitzmiller.

Seminar Slated To Help Persons Stop Smoking

Persons who have been planning to quit smoking, but perhaps need more support may find that support during a five-session video seminar entitled the "Five-Day Plan to Stop Smoking" to be held June 3-7, at 7 p.m., at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland.

Organizers of the seminar claim an 80 to 95 percent success rate initially, with half of those still not smoking a year later.

The seminar, rated as one of the most helpful in the nation, is offered as a community service by the Seventh-Day Adventist Church. The program has been offered for nearly 20 years with more than 16 million graduates worldwide.

The video seminar will be conducted by Roger Morton, M.S.P.H., a hospital health educator who has personally supported more than 7,000 smokers towards success in quitting. Each of the five sessions shares motivational insights plus suggestions on how to best handle the physical and psychological withdrawal symptoms.

Attendance for the seminar is free of charge. Further information may be obtained by calling 334-4017.

Memorial Day Travelers Beware Of State Police Operation CARE

State Police and highway patrols from Maine to Florida are joining together once again for the eighth consecutive year in a unified effort to prevent injuries and save lives.

"Operation CARE", which stands for Combined Accident Reduction Effort, is a cooperative effort whereby state traffic enforcement officers will be targeting speeders, drunk drivers, and other traffic law violators on the interstate systems and other selected routes.

This effort will contiune throughout the summer when traffic volume historically increases, especially on holiday weekends beginning this Memorial Day.

Studies have shown that when motorists obey the 55 mile per hour speed limit there are fewer fatal accidents and less injuries resulting from crashes.

Colonel W.T. Travers, Jr., Superintendent of the State Police, said, "Marylanders have been put on notice that we are serious about enforcing the 55 mile per hour speed limit on our interstate highways and every effort will be made to provide maximum patrol coverage beginning this Memorial Day weekend." Travers continued, "Additionally, our efforts to identify and remove drunk drivers from the highways will not be lessened, and those who insist on violating speed and drunk driving laws can expect to be dealt with accordingly."

Troopers will be paying particular attention to those roads leading to and from resort areas in an effort to make the highways safer for travelers. Motorists are asked and encouraged to utilize their safety belts, for it is their best protection when involved in a traffic accident. In addition, motorists are reminded that it is required under Maryland law that any child from the ages of 3 to 5 must be restrained in an approved child safety seat or belt, and those children under the age of 3 must be in a child passenger restraint seat.

Area CPA Chapter Split In Two

The Maryland Association of Certified Public Accountants has announced that, beginning July 1, its membership in the western Maryland area will be divided into two chapters.

In response to a petition by members in Garrett and Allegany counties, this area will become the Western Maryland Chapter and members in the Frederick/Hagerstown and surrounding area will become part of the Mid-Maryland Chapter. The change was approved by MACPA's Board of Directors at its January 15 meeting.

MACPA is a statewide professional association for certified public accountants with a membership exceeding 5,500.

NEW HOUSING COMPLEX PLANNED — Meg Ellis, right, director of housing services with Garrett County Community Action Committee, and Jerry Humberson, Humbersons Homes, Inc., McHenry, view a scale model of Deer Park Village, a five-unit housing complex located in Deer Park. The complex, currently under renovation, is to be completed by the end of 1985.

St. Police Honor Men For Rescue

Two men who rescued a driver from a wrecked vehicle on June 21, 1984, have been honored by the Maryland State Police. The rescue was made by Donald K. Jesse and Daniel Richard Head, who have been presented with Good Citizen Awards by First Sgt. D. E. Stanton, on behalf of the LaVale barrack of the State Police. Head was on hand to accept the honor and Mrs. Joyce Jesse accepted the award on behalf of her husband.

The rescue took place in the early morning hours when Jesse was on his way to work in Hancock, and Head had been to the Thomas B. Finan Center to deliver a load of fuel. Head said when he came up on the accident, the truck was already on its side and smoke was coming from it. Jesse said when he approached the truck he saw the driver moving. The driver yelled to him that the chemical was not flammable.

The two men, concerned only with the driver's welfare, did what they could to remove him from the upset truck. Using a tie rod, jack hammer and bar, the two men removed the driver. Head said he was worried that the fuel might leak on the driver.

The driver of the truck later identified by police as Daniel Joe Williamson, 37, of Friendly, W. Va., was later admitted in "stable" condition after being rescued from the truck. His Leaman tractor trailer had been eastbound on Route 40 when the rig swayed to the right, striking the guardrail, east of DeHaven Road near Baltimore Pike, and overturning in the ditch. Although Williamson was not seriously injured the tanker was extensively damaged.

Head, 32, is a native of Oakland. He is a driver for AC&T, Inc., Hagerstown, a petroleum wholesaler. He is a 1971 graduate of Southern High School. Head and his family reside in Hancock.

Jesse, originally from Piedmont, W. Va., lives in Cumberland. Jesse, 36, is employed by A. J. VanMeter Associates, Fairfax, Va., but was working for Holloway Construction, Hancock, at the time of the mishap.

State police said the two men were honored for taking part in the unselfish act of rescuing the driver of the truck and for being more concerned about the health and welfare of another human being rather than their own health and welfare.

Housing Units To Be Located In Deer Park

A five-unit housing complex is being rehabilitated in Deer Park as part of a state program to provide affordable housing throughout Maryland.

The project, called Deer Park Village, is funded by the Maryland Community Development Administration's Maryland Home Rehabilitation Program and is being remodeled by Humberson Homes, Inc., McHenry. The project is expected to be completed and the units ready for occupancy by the end of 1985.

The state agency also administers tenant subsidies for eligible occupants of the building which is part of its goal to rehabilitate substandard housing and renovate other structures to provide affordable housing in the state.

Meg Ellis, director of housing services with Garrett County Community Action Committee, states there are presently six property owners in the county participating in the program. By the end of May, she expects 12 units will be completed and seven others will be under construction, with a total of 60 housing units provided in the county by the end of 1985.

The MHRP, administered locally by Community Action, also assisted in the rehabilitation of Country Air units in the Mosser Road area, completed in the fall of 1984. This project, funded with public funds and local bank financing, was also renovated by the Humberson firm.

Local Republicans Attend Convention

Members of the Garrett County Republican State Central Committee attended the Republican state convention in Ocean City May 17-18, at the Carousel Hotel.

William Crawford, Wayne Wilt and Paul Frantz were in attendance for the two-day event.

Robert R. Neal, a member of the House of Delegates from Anne Arundel County, was elected and installed as second vice chairman to replace Charlie Johnson, Allegany County, who resigned.

A move by several large counties to increase their voting power was defeated in a roll call vote. This measure, if passed would have reduced the strength of the local committee, a committee spokesperson explained.

Officials of the state party praised all areas of the state for their work in raising money for the presidential campaign for Ronald Reagan.

A petition circulated the group designed to encourage U.B. Nickle, county administrator of Howard County, to change from the Democratic Party to the Republican Party in order to be that group's candidate for governor in the 1986 Maryland gubernatorial election.

ADOPTION OF NEW CHARTER FOR TOWN OF LOCH LYNN HEIGHTS NOTICE OF CHARTER AMENDMENT RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the Charter of Loch Lynn Heights as enacted, codified and published in the Code of Public Local Laws for Garrett County, Maryland, being Article 12 of the Code of Public Laws of Maryland, is outdated and no longer properly serves the purposes for which it was enacted; and

WHEREAS, the Mayor and Council of Loch Lynn Heights desire to repeal in its entirety the existing Charter of Loch Lynn Heights as now in effect and filed with the Secretary of State and the Department of Legislative Reference and in its place adopt as a new Charter for Loch Lynn Heights the following:

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT ORDERED AND RESOLVED by the Mayor and Council of Loch Lynn Heights that the Charter of Loch Lynn Heights as published in the Code of Public Local Laws for Garrett County, Maryland, 1971, BE REPEALED IN ITS ENTIRETY and a new charter of Loch Lynn Heights be adopted and that Loch Lynn Heights be governed substantially by the provisions of the "Municipal Corporation Charter" contained in Article 23 B of the Annotated Code of Maryland with the exceptions of the changes summarized below:

1. Section 5 of said charter provides for a council consisting of four councilmen to be elected for terms of two years which shall expire on the first Monday in January of the year following election of their successors.

2. Section 6 requires that each councilman must have been a resident of the town for one year and each is required to remain a resident of the town during his term or vacate his office.

3. Section 7 provides for salary of councilman to be TWENTY DOLLARS ($20.00) each for each meeting attended or as provided from time to time by ordinance.

4. Section 8 schedules the first council meeting for newly elected councilmen on the first Monday following its election for the purpose of organization and thereafter as required but at least once a month.

5. Section 18 provides that the mayor shall hold office for a term of two years and shall take office the first Monday of January of the year following his election and requires that the mayor be a resident during his term or vacate the office.

6. Section 20 provides THIRTY DOLLARS ($30.00) for each meeting attended as salary for the mayor or as may be set by ordinance.

7. Section 22, sub paragraph (31) grants the council the power to regulate and issue the numbering of new constructions.

8. Sections 26 through 41 of the new charter differ from the "Municipal Corporation Charter" in that it provides that the clerk instead of a Board of Supervisors of Elections shall be in charge of registration of voters, nominations and all town elections. Certificates for nomination for public office must be filed with the clerk on or before the first Monday in October next preceding the town election. Registration of voters shall be the first Monday in April of every year. Primary elections shall be held in the town on the third Monday in October in every year to select candidates for the general election on the first Monday in November. Polls shall be open 12:00 p.m. to 6:00 p.m. on election days. Votes cast for each candidate shall be determined by the clerk who shall certify the results to the mayor and town council, and the two candidates for councilman with the highest number of votes shall be declared elected and the candidate for treasurer and the candidate for mayor with the highest number of votes for each office shall be elected as treasurer and mayor.

9. Section 31 provides for primary election only when more than four persons file for councilman or more than two persons file for the office of mayor and/or treasurer.

10. Section 32 provides for a term of office for all public officers of two years, but two councilmen shall be elected each year.

11. Section 57 provides that taxes provided by Section 55 are due and payable on the first day of June in the year levied and are overdue and in arrears on the first day of the following December. Interest on taxes in arrears shall be assessed at the rate of two-thirds of one percent for each month or fraction thereof.

12. Section 64 requires that purchases and contracts be made by the mayor upon approval of the council and that all expenditures in excess of $2,500.00 shall be by written contract.

13. The new charter provides for an elected treasurer, and a clerk appointed by the mayor upon approval by the council. The duties of the treasurer shall be those generally designated to the clerk-treasurer by the "Municipal Corporation Charter," and the duties of the clerk shall be those generally designated to the clerk and Board of Supervisors of Elections in the "Municipal Corporation Charter."

The Resolution for Charter Amendment was ordained and enacted May 7, 1985.

HIKE AND BIKE ATTRACTS PARTICIPANTS OF ALL AGES — The ninth annual Hike and Bike of the Garrett Organization for the Handicapped, held recently, attracted about 100 participants of all ages including five-year-old Angie Lantz, who walked the entire five miles and collected money, although she was not old enough to be an official participant. Angie is in the picture at the right with her aunt, Donna Moon. Bike inspections, above, were handled by VFW Post Number 10077. Dot Leuba is pictured below pointing out the route the bikers are to take. Hike and Bike organizers say they are very pleased that the pledges, which amounted to over $6,000, are coming in rather quickly, as this is the major fund-raising event of the year for GOH.

Chief Judge Thayer Declares Cumberland Youth To Be Delinquent

A 17-year-old Cumberland youth was found to be delinquent by Garrett County Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer in juvenile court cases heard May 15.

The boy had been charged with assault, wilful and malicious destruction of property and carrying or wearing a set of nun-chaku, a deadly weapon.

The charges stemmed from a February 6 incident at the residence of James L. Smith, Beckman's Peninsula, Deep Creek Lake.

Chief Judge Thayer placed the youth on supervised probation subject to a 28-day evaluation at the Finan Center, Cumberland. The youth was also placed on probation in Allegany County on a temporary basis.

Final disposition of the case will occur after the evaluation.

The judge ordered $329.14 in restitution be paid to Smith for two doors damaged by the youth.

Commissioners Hear Concerns Of Academic Forum

Seven members of the Academic Forum and one member of the Board of Trustees from Garrett Community College met with the Board of Garrett County Commissioners Tuesday morning to discuss concerns they had about their situations at the college.

Note: It was announced this morning that the GCC Board of Trustees will be meeting in a closed session with representatives from the Academic Forum Tuesday evening at the college. Chairman Pat Fischetti said the meeting was called to address the apparent lack of communication between the Forum and the administration.

George Dailey, newly elected chairman of the Forum, presented a nine-page report of the concerns and frustrations he and other members of the faculty had with the present administration and the Board of Trustees.

The thrust of the report dealt mainly with what nearly half of the Academic Forum perceived as a lack of communication with the faculty from the administration and the Board.

Dailey told the commissioners that he and two other representatives from the Forum had scheduled a meeting with the Board of Trustees to relay to them the reasons the Forum had voted no-confidence in President Randall Harman and Dean of Academic Affairs Fred K. Learey, but upon entering the meeting they were told by Chairman of the Board Pat Fischetti that the board had confidence in the administration and would support them. Dailey also stated that Learey, Dean of Financial Affairs Leo Martin, and John Culp were present for the meeting. Dailey contended that the board had breached their agreement to meet with the Forum representatives alone so they were forced to give up their attempt to talk with the board about their concerns.

Other grievances aired by some of the Forum representatives were the "know-it-all" attitude that they feel exists in the administration. They said the decision to change the Developmental Program was made without consulting Joan Crawford "who has had total responsibility for the program." They stated that Dr. Paul Deal and David Slagle had no input

Northern County Residents Angry Over Split Shifting Of Students

Parents of school-age youngsters in the northern part of the county are angry about the plan to split-shift Northern High and Northern Middle school students next year while Northern High School undergoes extensive renovation, primarily because they feel the idea was rammed down their throat without a chance to discuss it.

"Why weren't we informed?" asked one parent during a public meeting held the evening of May 23 in the Grantsville fire hall and attended by approximately 90 parents, primarily from the Grantsville area. The question was one that was asked several times throughout the evening by parents who stressed they knew little of the plans for their children next year until after recent actions by the county school board on the split-shift issue.

The three-hour meeting was conducted by Delegate George Edwards, who noted he has personal concerns since his two children will be affected next year. Edwards kept the angry group of parents under control throughout the evening as they grilled Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, county school superintendent, almost the entire meeting.

The school board voted in December to split shift the students next year, but the specifics of the plan were not worked out immediately because of word from state officials that the project would not receive state funding this fiscal year. When money was allocated for the project on the final day of the General Assembly session on April 8, a meeting of the committee set up to determine the specifics of how the two schools would be operated was held the next day.

The school board voted at its April 11 meeting to approve a recommendation which clarified a little more the way the students would share the middle school by assigning the middle school students to the early morning shift and the high school students to the afternoon shift. The morning shift would run from 7:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. and the afternoon shift would be from 12:35 to 5:30 p.m.

Dr. Ryscavage explained to the group that two informational meetings on the plan for split shifting were planned, but the parents pointed out their desire to have been informed before major decisions were made and demanded explanations on what options were studied for the students and why split shifting was chosen.

The meeting was emotionally-charged as adults threatened legal action, demanded the money be sent back to the state and the project delayed and ordered new plans be made.

"If I had the money, I would send my student to a different school system," remarked one parent, while another vehemently said, "As far as I am concerned we are the boss, you are our employee, and we've decided we don't want your plan!"

Chief on the list of concerns with split shifting expressed by the parents was the safety of middle school students during winter months when they would be out along the road at 6 a.m. in freezing temperatures and in the dark waiting for a school bus. They also protested that split shifting would disrupt daily life, particularly for those families with children in both middle and high school and others with children at the elementary, middle and high school levels.

Request Public Meeting

As a result of the meeting, five representatives of the parents approached the Garrett County Board of Education at a meeting Tuesday evening requesting a public meeting to examine the effects of the North-

NHS Renovation To Be Discussed At June 4 Meeting

In response to strong concern voiced by many parents about the split-shifting of Garrett County school students from the northern portion of the county next school year, the Garrett County Board of Education has called a special meeting on Tuesday, June 4, at 7 p.m., in the Northern High School cafeteria.

The purpose of the meeting will be to develop further public awareness of the Northern High School renovation and how it will affect both students and parents next year.

In conjunction with the meeting the Board of Education will be soliciting comments about the proposed plans as well as input concerning other alternatives. Students, school faculty and staff, parents, and other members of the general public are invited to attend.

MEMORIAL DAY, a time to contemplate those persons who now rest from their labors and particularly the thousands of soldiers who sacrificed their lives for freedom, has been observed locally this week in the usual variety of services, parades, and ceremonies. Above, members of the Mt. Top Chapter 29, Disabled American Veterans, and its Auxiliary conduct special ceremonies at the Dennett Road Manor Nursing Home, Oakland. On hand to supply patriotic musical selections was the Southern Garrett Band of Southern High School, directed by Richard Clever. The annual Oakland Memorial Day parade and services were held this morning.

Steep Slope Bill Vetoed By Hughes, Bambacus, Edwards Disappointed

Most Western Maryland politicians are disappointed with the governor's veto of the steep slope mining bill on Tuesday.

The bill, which would have permitted mining on slopes of 20 degrees or more, would also have allowed the state Bureau of Mines to deny permits for steep-slope mining if the operation would have endangered life or property, resulted in excessive storm-water runoff, soil erosion or mud slides. A permit could also have been denied because of previous poor performance by an applicant.

Passing in both the House and Senate with large margins, the last stumbling block for the bill was Governor Harry Hughes' signature. Although he had stated earlier that the bill was a prime candidate for veto, many legislators hoped that the large number of amendments added to the bill would change the governor's mind.

After the bill was passed by the Senate in March, Sen. John N. Bambacus (R-Allegany-Garrett), the bill's lead sponsor, said, "It's now one of the strongest mining laws in the nation based on the amendments which were added after conversations with citizens."

But Gov. Hughes stated later that, "Even though this bill is very carefully drawn, I did not feel comfortable with the risks of damage to the environment."

After the bill, that was favorable to both House and Senate, was vetoed by Gov. Hughes, Delegate Casper R. Taylor Jr. (D-Allegany) commented that, "it certainly flies in the face of the governor preaching for seven years that the legislature sets the policy."

Aides to the governor said he had received about 1,000 pieces of mail and had reviewed the 1983 Department of Employment and Training figures which showed roughly one percent of Western Maryland's total employment was involved in mining.

The Maryland Geological Survey says 36 million tons of coal are available on slopes less than 20 degrees, according to

Board Closes Public Record On Zoning Plan

The Garrett County Commissioners announced Tuesday they have closed the public record for comments on the proposed revisions to the Deep Creek Lake land use plan, but will withhold any decisions on the matter, including whether to hold a second public hearing, until Tuesday, June 4.

The reason, explained Elwood Groves, chairman of the board of commissioners, was to allow them more time to review the large volume of letters they received on the matter.

The commissioners jointly held a public hearing with the Garrett County Planning Commission May 16 when they told the approximate 45 persons attending they would decide on whether to hold a second public hearing after closing the public record.

Many persons at that hearing requested a second public hearing to allow lake summer residents an opportunity to publicly state their views on the proposed plan update.

Reportedly, the letters can be divided in three main categories: 1) Those opposing the proposed addition of a rural residential zone in the "fringe areas" of the lake watershed which would allow mobile homes on permanent foundations on one-acre parcels, 2) Those opposing the recommendation to change a strip along U.S. 219 south of the lake and near the Mayhew Inn intersection from town center to town residential; and 3) Those requesting a second public hearing.

Sunny Memorial Day Weekend Brings Large Crowds To Area State Parks

The pleasant, warm, sunny weather over the long Memorial Day weekend boosted the number of visitors to state parks in the county to near records for this time of year.

Ward Ashby, park manager at Deep Creek Lake State Park, reported that the camping area at the park was full through Monday, with a back up at the boating facility. He said that although the picnic area was not too crowded, the beach was full of sun bathers but not too many swimmers.

Ashby explained that beginning last weekend, a day use service fee will be charged beginning at 5:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. on holidays and weekends. There will be no fee for use of the boat ramp. Two lifeguards will be on duty Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays throughout the summer, with one lifeguard on duty Mondays through Thursdays.

The boat ramp is open 24 hours a day and the picnic and beach areas close at sunset.

New Germany and Big Run State Parks were both full because of the three days of sunshine, according to Park Manager Jim Rodgers. Both camping areas and the log cabins at New Germany were full to capacity.

Campers at Big Run totaled 138 on Saturday and 103 on Sunday. At New Germany the total was 160 on Saturday and 135 on Sunday. The number of people coming to New Germany for "day use" on Saturday was 150, and on Sunday 179. At Big Run the totals for "day use" were 78 on Saturday and 189 on Sunday.

"We had a good Memorial Day crowd because of the weather," said Rodgers, "although it's still too cool for swimming, some were trying." He expects the next big crowds

Local Woman In "Fair" Condition Following Attack

An Oakland woman remains a patient at West Virginia University Medical Center in "fair" condition after being assaulted in her home late Sunday evening.

Margie Marie Bell, 57, was transported to the hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad following the attack by her unknown assailant. She reportedly suffered multiple head injuries as a result of being struck in the head several times with a garden hoe.

According to Chief Deputy M. Van Evans of the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, the incident occurred when an unknown person attempted to break into the Bell residence. He felt robbery was a possible motive for the breaking and entering. Evans said a suspect in the case has developed and the investigation is continuing.

Assisting in the investigation is Assistant Chief Deputy Harland Tichnell. The Sheriff's Department is requesting that anyone with any information in the case should call the department at 334-2141.

Woman Drives Through Tavern, Cited For DWI

A Corinth, W. Va., woman was arrested Monday evening after driving her car through Sereno's Tavern, located on Route 39 near Hutton.

Prema Clara Bowman, 60, was arrested after she drove her 1974 Chevrolet Malibu into the parking lot of the tavern, struck a parked car, and finally drove her car through the tavern, according to a report filed by Tfc. Larry Rosage of the Maryland State Police.

Rosage charged the woman with driving while intoxicated, reckless driving and driving an unregistered vehicle.

Reportedly, Doris Jane Ashby, owner of the bar, screamed when she saw the car coming through the wall, causing patrons of the establishment to scatter. No one was seriously injured in the mishap.

Bowman was transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital by the Southern Rescue Squad, where she was treated and later released. Also responding to the scene were the Garrett County Sheriff's Department, the Oakland City Police, and the Oakland Volunteer Fire Department.

Grantsville Man Charged With Attempted Murder

A Grantsville man has been released on 10% of $10,000 bond after being charged with attempted homicide on May 18.

The arrest was made after Michael Bittinger, 26, allegedly shot at his estranged wife, Vickie D. Bittinger, 24, and Donald W. Fazenbaker, 27, Grantsville.

Police reports filed by Tfc. D.W. Broadwater and Cpl. M.R. Mattingly of the Maryland State Police stated that the incident occurred at 12:47 p.m. when Michael Bittinger pulled his vehicle behind the vehicle occupied by Fazenbaker and Vickie Bittinger in the parking lot of the Wild Water Inn on Route 40. Reportedly, Michael Bittinger followed the Fazenbaker vehicle when it left the establishment and Bittinger then allegedly fired two shots at the Fazenbaker vehicle, causing a flat tire.

Fazenbaker told police he ran from the vehicle to call for help and when he returned to his car, Vicki and Michael Bittinger had both left the scene.

Broadwater then went to the home of Vickie Bittinger, who allegedly stated that her estranged husband had taken her home and left. Broadwater located Michael Bittinger near his residence and placed him under arrest. The weapon used in the assault was reportedly found at the residence of Michael Bittinger.

An inspection of the Fazenbaker vehicle revealed two gunshot holes.

Pledges For Relay For Life Exceed $3,000

Pledges have now exceeded $3,000 for the 200-Mile Relay for Life, slated for this weekend, according to Don Sincell and Steve Hile, coordinators of the event, the proceeds of which will go to the local Ethiopian Famine Relief Fund.

An additional $300 was pledged last night as WXIE Radio, Oakland, provided three hours of promotion of the effort and accepted telephone pledges from listeners.

Sincell said arrangements are underway to have Congressman Gary Ackerman, of New York, meet the runners at their final destination in Washington, D.C., this Sunday evening. Ackerman is the person who spearheaded the Children for Children effort in New York City, whereby inner-city children have raised over one-quarter of a million dollars in relief monies and have had great success in reaching the starving people of Ethiopia with food and medical supplies. Because it is an all-volunteer effort and because the food purchased by the organization is flown into Ethiopia rather than shipped, the supplies have been delivered directly to the people in need, quickly and efficiently. The local Ethiopian Famine Relief Fund monies will be donated to Children for Children.

A slight change in the schedule of the run was noted by Hile. The first runner will complete 20 miles of the run on Friday evening, rather than early Saturday morning. The runners plan to reach Hagerstown by Saturday evening and feared that the last runner on Saturday would have been running in the dark. By completing the first 20 miles Friday evening and picking up the run in the New Germany area Saturday morning, there will be ample daylight to reach Hagerstown by Saturday evening. The run will then be completed to Washington on Sunday with an estimated arrival time of 6 p.m.

Ten runners, all from Garrett County, will each run 20 miles of the relay, carrying a small bag of grain, symbolic of the grain so desperately needed by the Ethiopian people.

Persons may still make a pledge to the effort by filling out the special pledge form in today's issue of The Republican. Those who wish to pay their pledge now may make their checks out to Relay for Life and send them c/o The Republican Newspaper, Oakland, MD.

Southern Middle Students Plan Walk/Runathon

The Southern Middle School class of 8B-3, in conjunction with the Parent Advisory Committee, is sponsoring a Walk/Run-a-Thon this Sunday, June 2, for the benefit of the Ethiopian Famine Relief Fund.

The walk will begin at 2 p.m. and follow a five-mile loop beginning and ending at Southern Middle School. The students are now accepting pledges of so-much money per mile.

The participants will follow Broadford Road to Dennett Road, travel west on Dennett Road to Eighth Street, south on Eighth to High Street, west on High to Fourth Street, north on Fourth to Memorial Drive, east on Memorial to Harvey Winter's Drive and back to the school.

The rain date for the event is June 9 at the same time and location. Sponsor sheets have been distributed and parents are invited to participate in the walk. A number of Southern Middle School teachers will either walk with the students or man rest and refreshment stations along the way.

Nearly New Shop Friday Proceeds To Be Donated

The Nearly New Shop, owned and operated by St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, will donate all money from sales this Friday to the local Ethiopian Famine Relief Fund.

Because the Nearly New Shop is operated by church volunteers and sells donated clothing and furniture, there is little or no overhead costs and therefore the entire income of the day will be donated to the relief effort.

Persons are also reminded of a spaghetti dinner which will be held at the Oakland Fire Hall Friday evening from 5-8 p.m., also to benefit the Famine Relief Fund. Tickets are $3.50 for adults and $1.50 for children under 12. Pam Ashby is the coordinator of this event.

Oakland Police Arrest Three: Probe Robbery

A Somerset, Pa. couple was arrested Monday night by Cpl. Ron Beeghly of the Oakland City Police at the Oakland Motel.

Robert Kemp, 58, and Nancy Dudgeon, 39, reportedly registered at the motel at 11:00 a.m. Monday and complained about the price of the motel room. Later that night they allegedly returned to the main office and began complaining and shouting at the manager, James Fulk. Fulk reportedly asked them to leave quietly and opened the door for them at which time Kemp hit Fulk in the nose. Fulk's wife telephoned the police and the couple returned to their room.

When Officer Beeghly arrived at the scene, the couple allegedly began screaming at him. Beeghly told Kemp he was under arrest and Kemp attempted to strike Beeghly, but fell to the floor instead. Beeghly then handcuffed him. At that point, Dudgeon attacked Beeghly. Deputy William Thomas arrived at the scene and apprehended Dudgeon.

Kemp was charged with battery, resisting arrest, and disturbing the peace. Dudgeon was charged with assault, disturbing the peace and resisting arrest. Both were incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail on $1,000 bond each and have since been released pending a hearing.

Fulk, who sustained a broken nose in the altercation, was taken to Garrett County Memorial Hospital by Cpl. Beeghly.

Another arrest was made by the department early Saturday morning.

Donald E. Walker, 21, Mtn. Lake Park, was arrested by Officer Charles Warfield at 3:30 a.m. and charged with disorderly intoxication. The arrest occurred at the intersection of Route 135 and U.S. Route 219.

Chief John Sines is currently investigating a report of breaking and entering and theft filed by Fredrick Baker, Green Street.

The theft of $85, a knife and fish tank pump were reported. Sines said it appeared that the lock had been tampered with on Baker's apartment door. The Chief is questioning several suspects in the case.

J. T. Healy Pleads Guilt To Forgery

A 42-year-old Oakland man pled guilty to a felony charge of forgery in the Garrett County Circuit Court May 23 and three other charges were placed on the stet docket.

Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer sentenced Joseph T. Healy to one year with the Division of Corrections and fined him $500, but suspended the jail term and placed Healy on one year of supervised probation.

Healy faced two charges of forgery and two of uttering checks on which he had forged his estranged wife's name, without her consent, in endorsing checks written to them both. The charges involved two checks in particular both in the amount of $526.51 and written by James Wells as payments for the purchase of Healy's establishment, Joe's Place.

Healy was charged with cashing the two checks and not sharing the money with Elizabeth Healy.

In court on May 23, Healy entered his plea under a plea agreement in which he agreed to pay $789.77 to Elizabeth Healy. A felony charge of forgery and two felony charges of uttering were placed on the stet docket.

Healy represented himself throughout the proceedings.

Six Grantsville Incumbents Gain Re-election May 14

Approximately 25 voters turned out to re-elect six incumbents in the Grantsville town election on May 14. The office of mayor will again be held by Fred Holliday, while the councilmen are: Gerald E. Beachy, Dr. Ron Gillum, Joseph E. McRobie, James Wilburn, and Walter Yoonkin.

The mayor and council voted to approve a tax rate of 75 cents per $100 assessed value, with an ad valorem tax for the sewer project of 45 cents per $100 assessed value. The constant-yield tax is 80 cents for the coming year compared to a rate of 84 cents last year, with the ad valorem tax last year being 49 cents.

It was decided that a public hearing to adopt the new budget will be held on June 3 at 7 p.m. A proposed-use hearing for revenue sharing will also be held that same night at 7:30 p.m.

A progress report on the sewer project was given by Andrews Miller and Associates from Cambridge. Town residents who have had violations of sewer lines or roof drains have been contacted. It was reported that work on the sewer project has gone well up to this point, with residents of the town responding very well.

GARRETT COUNTY DIRECTORY of Agencies and Organizations, 1985 edition, was recently released. The directory was put together under the direction of Barbara Frey from the New Horizons Program of Garrett Community College. The new directory contains 126 different agencies and organizations which provide services to the county. The project was initiated in January to update service groups that might provide assistance to displaced homemakers served by the New Horizons Program. Some of the production costs of the directory were defrayed by the Mt. Top Chamber of Commerce. The directory has been sold to the public on a pre-paid basis. Shown above is Pat Fischetti, representing the Chamber of Commerce, receiving a copy of the directory from Barbara Frey. Anyone who has ordered and paid for a directory may receive them at the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College in the New Horizons' office, Room 607, between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 2:30 p.m. weekdays.

B And E Charges Filed Against Two Oakland Men

Two young Oakland men were charged with breaking and entering by the Maryland State Police on May 17.

Timothy C. Liller, 19, Oakland, and Leslie A. Bittinger, 19, also of Oakland, were charged after police were alerted by a summer resident, Clarence J. Duke, whose cottage is located on the Pergin Farm Road.

According to police reports, Liller and Bittinger allegedly took two 17-year-old juveniles to the cottage. Liller allegedly told them the cottage was his and took the key from a cabinet in the carport. Reportedly, Liller had done yard work for Duke and knew where to locate the key. Liller, upon hearing the owner pull into the driveway, allegedly told everyone to leave by the back door.

Tfc. G. R. Chaney apprehended Bittinger and the two juveniles near the cottage. Liller was still on the grounds of the Duke cottage.

Both men were incarcerated in the Garrett County Jail and have since been released on their own recognizance.

Science Division Course Offerings At GCC Noted

The Science Division at Garrett Community College will offer a number of science and mathematics courses this summer. Many of the courses are appropriate introductions to college-level work, and are designed to give students a head start on their college careers, according to a GCC spokesman.

Introduction to chemistry, offered Mondays through Thursdays from 10:30 to 12, includes laboratory work on Mondays and Wednesdays from 1 to 3 p.m. It is aimed at preparing students for college-level chemistry. It is especially recommended to the student who has not previously taken chemistry, or to the one who had some trouble with it in high school. The course will be taught by David Gnegy, a former GCC student who recently graduated from Frostburg State College. Gnegy, who has served as a chemistry tutor for several years at Frostburg, has been accepted into the University of Maryland School of Medicine.

Bioscience, or Biology 100, is designed for students who need an introduction to the general aspects of biology. It will be especially helpful to students preparing for future study in biology. Bioscience is offered from 9 to 12 Mondays and Wednesdays, with a lab from 1 to 3 p.m. Instructor for bioscience will be Katherine Payne.

Introduction to Computers will be offered on Monday through Thursday evenings from 5 to 6:30 p.m. The course was designed to provide the necessary knowledge to work on a home computer, and to serve as an introduction to students who wish to pursue further studies in the field of computer science. The course will be taught by Mike Will, instructor of business at GCC and an experienced computer operator.

A course dealing with PASCAL, a widely used computer teaching language, will be offered Mondays and Wednesdays from 6:30 through 9:30 p.m. Entitled Special Problems in Computer Science, the course will be taught by Gary Devine-King, who instructs in the math, physics, computer, science, and biology areas at GCC. He also was a research assistant for the West Virginia University Physics Department.

College Algebra is the subject of Math 105. This easily transferrable course is appropriate to satisfy the needs of many students for a mathematics elective. Algebra will be taught by Don Robinson, who teaches mathematics at Allegany Community College. He is a former GCC instructor. Math 95, or Introduction to Algebra, will also be offered in the summer session for students who want to brush up on their math skills before enrolling in college-level algebra. Introduction to Algebra will be held Mondays through Thursdays from 5 to 6:30 p.m. College Algebra is scheduled from 8:30 to 10 a.m., Mondays through Thursdays.

Placement Testing, Remedial Courses Available At GCC During Summer

Placement testing for competency in English and mathematical skills is available at Garrett Community College, both for future GCC students and for those who are bound for a different school this fall. Interested persons are encouraged to make an appointment with Bill Ewing, director of admissions at GCC, for the testing, which can reveal weaknesses in preparation for college in time to allow the student to enroll in remedial courses prior to officially beginning his or her college career in the fall.

Testing is available in the areas of reading, writing, and mathematics. Remedial courses in all of those areas are available during the college's summer session, which runs from June 18 through August 6.

Remediation in mathematics is available in Math 95, Introduction to College Algebra. Math 95 is a foundation level course that prepares the student for college level math courses such as algebra or technical mathematics. Teaching the course this summer is Dwight Jeffrey, a graduate engineer of Purdue University. Chairperson of the Science Division Mike Logsdon characterizes Jeffrey as "an experienced, patient instructor of students who want to improve their fundamental math skills."

Introduction to College Reading will be offered for students who want to improve their reading speed, comprehension, and vocabulary skills. It will be taught by Beth Pletta, a graduate of Frostburg State College whose experience teaching basic English includes work with foreign students learning English for the first time, as well as teaching at GCC and supervising the peer tutor program there.

Basic Writing is a preparatory course designed to prepare students for college-level English courses. It includes work on grammatical and technical skills correlated with writing activities, including focus, organization, paragraph writing, and essay development. Instructor for the course will be Joan Crawford, a longtime faculty member at GCC who coordinates the Extended Learning department at the college.

"The testing program at GCC, along with the preparatory courses offered this summer, is a great chance for students about to begin their college careers to be aware of any deficiencies in their skills while there is still time to bring them up to college level," Ewing said. "We encourage any interested individual to contact the college and make arrangements to take the series of tests, for which there is no charge."

QUALIFY FOR G&T PROGRAMS — Five Northern Middle School students have qualified to participate in the Gifted and Talented Summer Program, sponsored by the Maryland Department of Education, according to Thomas Fowler, principal. Pictured left to right, front, are: Stacy Carlson, who will attend the Painting and Drawing program at Goucher College; Petrina Jones, who will attend the Chorus program at Goucher; and Kimberly Mansfield, who will attend the Creative Writing and Music program at Washington College. In the rear are Cynthia Bosley, left, who will attend the Leadership Development program at St. Mary's College, and Leona Schmidt, who will attend the Creative Writing and Architecture program at Washington College.

One More Hearing . . .

With Memorial Day comes the usual influx of Garrett County's summer residents, a group of folks who, for the most part, respect our county and its year-round residents and come here mainly to enjoy what our beautiful area has to offer. Our local economy depends heavily upon these people, not only from the tourist dollars spent, but also from the huge real estate tax income they provide.

The Garrett County Planning Commission recently approved some revisions to the landuse plan for the Deep Creek Lake Watershed and is now awaiting final approval from the Garrett County commissioners. The Commission approved the revisions at a public hearing which was held on May 16, a Thursday evening, after listening to several concerns and opinions of the approximately 45 persons in attendance.

One of the requests by these citizens was that one more public hearing be held sometime after Memorial Day so that a greater number of the summer residents could voice their concern also. We agree with them.

Although the effort to revise the plan has been underway for two years, there have been some significant revisions proposed since the last public hearing upon which summer residents have had no opportunity to comment in a public forum. These zoning revisions are, to say the least, controversial, and it seems only fair that the summer residents be given an opportunity to speak. The hearing could be called within the next few weeks and a final decision could be made a few days later.

Zoning is a sensitive issue, and once certain changes are made, and undesirable construction begins in areas that were once protected, it is almost impossible to ever restore or recover those areas. Therefore, we believe that all persons with opinions on the revisions should be given one final opportunity to voice their opinions. A delay of a few more weeks will do no harm.

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor:

I recently returned to Deep Creek Lake after six years and found most things the same, except for a handful of business people who try their best to realize their dreams. These few make the lake and ski slopes what we would like it to be, a fabulous recreation area that would be a joy to the mind, eye and spirits of those who would visit our lake in the summer and fall or come for wonderful winter skiing. I know first impressions are vital and one wonders their thoughts coming into McHenry. The lake sometimes resembles a cesspool with choked up barrels and trash, rotted and broken-down road posts, poor antiquated road lighting and yards full of wrecked cars, tumbledown sheds and a junkyard in the middle of town that pollutes this community and their neighbors.

Surely our commissioners see many beautiful places in their travels. Would it not be more of tribute to them to have a wonderful recreation area to show their visitors that would speak more loudly than their words?

Why not lake roads lined with trees, mountain laurel and flowers (picture pretty fencing) clean week-cut roadsides and gas lights to put a glow on our lake, and heavy fines for those that pollute the eyes of our residents and visitors.

Just imagine the change you could make in the tourists we attract, and our pride.

Sincerely,
Betty J. Gibelline

To the Editor:

This past weekend many people spent time going to community cemeteries placing flowers and spending silent moments at markers of their loved ones.

My family and I traveled to three different cemeteries. The cemeteries in Grantsville and Bittinger were freshly mowed and looked nice.

We went to the Oakland Cemetery and found things to be very different. This cemetery looks like it hasn't been mowed yet this year. Grass was so high around some of the monuments that you couldn't read the name inscribed on them. People were hauling lawnmowers and weed eaters out of their cars. I couldn't believe my eyes. I looked all around me and people were mowing and trimming, with dismay.

We proceeded on towards the markers of our loved ones and got on our knees and starting pulling grass away to make it look as best we could. A kind man offered to use his weedeater and cut the grass for us. We then placed our flowers and after a while we were on our way home.

This proved to be a very depressing day. Even if the person who was in charge of taking care of this cemetery was fired or quit, you would have thought the town of Oakland could have found someone to see that the cemetery was mowed.

Oakland always tries to impress people and capture big events. They feel they're best in everything, be it in sports, school in general, band, etc. But one thing is missing: respect. Where is the respect this Memorial Day for all the loved ones in your cemetery? How difficult would it have been for someone to have given a little time to beautify the final resting place for the people who gave us all so much?

Are they to be forgotten?

To the Editor:

All of the kids at Northern Middle School are worried about the Northern High School renovation. We don't think it should be done, although it needs it. The eighth grade students are very concerned about their ninth grade education. They don't think they will learn enough in a five-hour day as they do now in a seven-hour day.

The Board won't tell anybody about the renovation. How are the parents going to cope with their kids coming home at 7:30-8:00 at night? How are farmers going to do the work without their kids to help them?

We don't think the Board has any concern for the jobs the kids have to do after school. Some kids are paying for their parents' bills because they are laid off.

The Board doesn't have to suffer over the renovation. The parents and kids have to suffer over the Board's mistake.

A very worried student, at the parks will be during the July 4 weekend.

Herrington Manor and Swallow Falls had fine crowds, according to Jerry Sword, park manager. The average for the weekend was 2,800 visitors per day. The cabins at Herrington Manor held an average of 114 per day, with in-state campers numbering 140 per day and out-state campers numbering 163 per day.

Sword remarked that if each visitor spent $10 each day in the county, the amount spent by all the visitors all three days could hypothetically be $161,000. He uses this example to show that state parks do contribute to the economy in Garrett County.

Only minor problems developed over the weekend at Swallow Falls and Herrington Manor. According to Sword, two sets of keys were locked in cars, one vehicle broke down, and one emergency notification was made.

Boat house attendent, Chris Biggs of New Creek, W. Va., rescued two people who could not swim.

Approximately 100 cars with an estimated 350 people were turned away on Sunday. "The weather was great, and we heard many favorable comments about Garrett County," said Sword. "People say they've been here and there, but Garrett County is the best."

MSTA Leader Visits Allegany, Garrett Counties

Janice Piccinini, president of the Maryland State Teachers Association, addressed teachers of Allegany and Garrett counties on the evening of May 21 on the future of the teaching profession and of the teachers association.

The evening event, held at the Grantsville Holiday Inn, was part of a two-day visit to Allegany and Garrett county schools.

Ms. Piccinini spoke to the group Tuesday evening about the teacher shortage and teachers' salaries. In discussing the teacher shortage, Piccinini noted there was only one cure for the problem — money.

Piccinini noted that nationwide 40 percent of the present teaching force is eligible for retirement within the next ten years. In Maryland, 18-20 percent of the present teaching force is eligible for retirement within the next five years.

"Getting closer to home," said Piccinini, "our statistics show that, in Allegany County 21.5 percent of the present teaching force is eligible in the next five years and in Garrett County, 8.2 percent is eligible in the next five years. Apparently, only new teachers can afford to stay in Garrett County. Obviously, teachers do not make a career of teaching in Garrett County."

Piccinini said there were severe shortages of teachers in math, science, foreign language, English, vocational education, industrial arts, business education and special education.

"The primary reason for the teacher shortage is the less than professional wage attached to the profession," Piccinini said. But, she added, even if salaries were raised immediately, college students would still have to enroll in a two-year teacher education program to be eligible to teach in Maryland, meaning there would be a two-year lag time built into the current shortage.

However, Piccinini noted that the MSTA would fight any efforts on the state level to lower certification requirements for teachers.

Piccinini added that she believed teachers should play a bigger role in making decisions about fundamental educational issues. "I am firmly convinced," she told the group, "that until we, the organized teaching profession, take over the decision-making process in education, the future of our profession is in peril. We have a talent which no other organization can claim: we can teach; we can organize, and we do both effectively."

The ability of the teachers organization to have an impact on issues that affect them has been shown in recent years at the state level, Piccinini stated at a press conference held earlier Tuesday at the Cumberland Holiday Inn.

"You, the teachers, the members of MSTA, are viewed as the most powerful political group in Maryland and we cannot afford to let up on that image," she said. "In 1984, you and our colleagues dispelled Senator Steinberg's accusations and stunned the entire state by flooding the legislature with a sea of information and action unparalleled in the 350 year history of Maryland."

She told the group she believed the 36,000 educators in the MSTA could defeat the state delegates who cast the 71 votes that changed the state retirement system in 1984.

"No, we will not forget the unconscionable and we believe unconstitutional reduction in our retirement benefits," she stated. "Even now, as 77 percent of the teachers are paying two percent more to maintain that which was guaranteed to them, I hope you feel an anger which will not subside and seek some sort of release, because now is the time for us to get tough—to channel that anger into constructive action—political action!"

Hear Concerns

into the decision on how to properly terminate the Vet-Tech Program, "despite the fact that they were the faculty members responsible for the program's development and implementation." They further stated that there was an attempt by the Dean to eliminate physical education as a general education requirement without consulting Dr. Dennis Fearnow, division chairperson.

The report also stated that many of the Forum members were "vitally concerned" about their Middle States accreditation report scheduled for next year. "Only sporadic and desultory attempts have been made by the administration to address the important issues raised in the previous (1980) accreditation review. One has only to read the recommendations of the report about community needs analysis, academic planning and decision making, two-way communications between faculty and administration, and improvement of student services to realize that we have made little progress in most of these areas. It would appear that either our present administrators lack the necessary training and experience to address these concerns, or they choose to ignore them," the report stated.

Some of the Forum members also questioned the qualifications of the President, "who has not met with the assembled professional staff at the college for the last two years."

The report continued, "After the Board of Trustees told the faculty to follow correct procedures in attempting to resolve its difficulties with the President and the Dean, the Academic Forum requested meetings with both administrators but to no avail. To this date, neither man has agreed to meet with the general membership of the Academic Forum . . . and what is our status within the collegiate organization when the Board of Trustees ignores our vote of no-confidence?"

Several Forum members expressed dismay at the non-renewal of contracts for Dr. Dennis Fearnow, athletic division chairman, and Donald Carstens, building trades instructor, and felt that they should be reinstated and that Coach Tom Bosley should be able to withdraw his resignation, if he chose to do so. A segment of the Forum also said the administration should continue Dr. Dailey as transfer advisor.

The report concluded, "We were saddened to hear that at the last Trustees meeting Richard Browning could not get a second to his motion calling for communication between the Board and the Academic Forum on the issue of no-confidence . . . we can only hope and pray that the Board of Trustees will realize that President Harman and Dean Learey do not possess the necessary attributes for effective leadership in higher education . . . the situation must change."

Following the report by Dailey, the commissioners stated that they were sympathetic to the Forum's frustration, but had no legal avenues to take concerning the situation described to them by the Forum.

According to Maryland State law, the commissioners are mandated to fund GCC 32 percent of its budget, but they have no other control over the college.

Dailey said he understood their position, and that the Forum just wanted to inform the commissioners of the lack of communication, as they perceived it, at the college and the concerns they had for the future of the college.

One of the Forum members stated, "The administration keeps talking about their long-range plan, but what is the plan? We don't know and we strongly suspect that they don't know."

Dick Browning, a member of the Board of Trustees, told the commissioners he was out of town during the time the no-confidence vote was handed down, but upon hearing the news at the next Board meeting, made a motion that the Board communicate with the faculty about the matter. He said the motion was not seconded. He also moved that the Board contact the State Board of Community Colleges to do an internal review of the administration. That motion was also not seconded.

Browning informed the commissioners that he intends to pursue the matter of an internal review on his own.

Commissioner Ernest Gregg concluded the meeting by saying, "We hope this matter can be cleared up quickly and that the college can get on with the business of educating. Things like this at the college reflect badly on the county as well. There is a failure of communication somewhere and this must be resolved."

Our Turn

An Invitation To Dinner

by Pam Ashby

I have involved myself in the efforts of aiding the starving Ethiopians by way of coordinating a spaghetti dinner. (Incidentally, you are all invited to the dinner at the Oakland fire hall tomorrow evening. It's a cheap night out and the cost of one dinner will feed 70 starving Ethiopians.)

Anyway, I figured this was one small way I could help the cause. So, since my column normally has humorous undertones, how can there be humor in something like this? Easily. I took my husband along while I did the shopping for the spaghetti dinner.

First, he was mortified to have to push the cart that contained a zillion loaves of Italian bread. Then a kindly gentleman began to stare at this weird couple pushing carts laden with tons of ground beef, cases of tomato sauce and box after box of spaghetti.

After passing us several times, the smiling man remarked, "Boy, I'd love to come to your house for dinner!"

We laughed and continued our shopping journey for other assorted condiments.

Finally, after passing us again, the nice man stops and inquires, "Pardon me. I just have to ask you. What's going on?"

We explained the dinner sponsored by Garrett Countians for Ethiopian Famine Relief. We found that he and his wife were summer residents and that they would probably attend the dinner.

I think Joe's mortification was beginning to turn to pride, until we arrived at the check-out counter and the clerk suggested that it would be cheaper to take back the eight three-pound boxes of spaghetti and get 24 one-pound boxes because there was a "buy one, get one free" special.

Poor Joe. People were staring at him again as he carried several armloads of spaghetti up and down the aisles. What a terrific guy! His wife is always involving him in one project or another. Does he complain? No, not much. Especially for a cause of which we both sympathize so strongly.

We're proud of the efforts of so many unselfish Garrett Countians who have given unselfishly to give thousands of starving fellow human beings a few more weeks of hope.

The starving people don't have much to laugh about as many of us do. While we worry about what to fix for dinner, they worry about ever eating again. We might be one of the poorest counties in the state, but we certainly have a big heart and a generous hand. Thanks Garrett Countians. You are making a difference.

Bill Vetoed

Hughes, and steep slope mining would give local operators access to 38 million tons of additional mineable coal. Hughes feels, however, that "It's not necessary to permit steep slope mining now."

Bambacus, however, feels that, "The bottom line is, the governor didn't have faith in his Department of Natural Resources secretary to enforce the law. After all, (under the bill) it was discretionary for the Bureau of Mines to issue a steep slope permit. Secondly, the governor's political ambitions, his intentions for the United States Senate, played a major part in the veto. When the scales were tipping, he figured he would have trouble in Western Maryland because he hasn't been there much anyway. But the biggest reason was his lack of faith in his own department, reflecting on his choice in DNR Secretary Dr. Torrey Brown to do his job."

Disagreeing with Bambacus is Del. W. Timothy Finan (D-Allegany), who said, "The people of George's Creek have to be protected. Perhaps steep slope mining should be restricted to Garrett County." Del. William B. Byrnes (D-Allegany) the only local lawmaker to oppose the bill, commented that, "My sole interest was for people of George's Creek who have suffered untold damages to their properties from the flood waters and contamination over the years."

Sen. Victor Cushwa (D-Allegany-Washington) said that he suspected the veto and was disappointed, but that, "Every conceivable safeguard had been written into the bills. I don't see how he vetoed it, the people's concerns were addressed one by one. It would have been very difficult to get a steep slope permit and it would have been well policed."

Del. George C. Edwards (R-Garrett-Allegany) added his opinion that, "In essence the veto shows he (the governor) doesn't have confidence in his DNR to carry out the law."

The Maryland Coal Association feels that the veto was a political move by Hughes, and that the governor believes it will give him more political support if he becomes a candidate for the U.S. Senate. Maryland Coal Association President John Carey remarked, "I think it's fairly clear that the governor is not interested in private industry or jobs in Western Maryland."

The Allegany County Commissioner response was mixed, with Commissioner Linda A. Golden "really delighted" and Commissioner Francis G. Philpot "very glad the governor looked out for the people and not fall for that line about economic development." Commissioner Arthur T. Bond, meanwhile, supported the legislation and commented, "It's obviously political by a lackluster governor who hasn't done anything for six years and now wants to be senator."

"The potential loss is something we will continue to feel for some time," said Garrett County Commissioner Ernest J. Gregg Jr., who also said that the Garrett Commissioners were disappointed but not surprised with the outcome of the bill. The Garrett County Commissioners had urged Gov. Hughes to sign the bill into law and were predictably unhappy with the veto.

Sen. Bambacus revealed that "unemployment in the coal industry (in Western Maryland) is at least 50 percent. With this veto, that will be sustained or grow. I think political ambitions got in the way of good public policy."

Bambacus said he would determine if he can get the required backing of three-fifths of the elected members in both the House and Senate to override the governor's veto in January when the legislature convenes, by consulting other legislators.

Split Shifting

ern High School renovation. The board agreed to hold such a meeting on June 4 at 7 p.m. in the Northern High School cafeteria.

Also during the Tuesday evening meeting, the school board approved architectural drawings for the project which will now be sent to state officials. Architect Kent Gandee of the firm Gandee, Thomas & Sprouse Architects, Charleston, W. Va., estimated the project could not be put out to bid to contractors until around July 1.

The renovation will involve stripping most of the school building down to the shell and rebuilding it from there with the exception of the cafetorium. There will also be several additions to the building including increased space for vocational education programs.

During the Thursday evening meeting, Dr. Ryscavage explained the options which were explored by a committee which was composed of five school board staff and teachers, four parents and one student from the northern part of the county. He went over problems with the various options and explained the advantages and disadvantages of the split shift plan.

"The school board had a difficult decision," Dr. Ryscavage said. "Whatever their decision, it would not be good for somebody."

He added that he believed split shifting was the best alternative for the students. "Frankly," he said, "I don't know what the alternative is." He noted that the school board still could change its decision if shown a better alternative.

"The question is how to go about doing it," stated Del. Edwards at the conclusion of the meeting. He indicated he believed the school board made a mistake in not having a meeting with parents sooner, but he pointed out the parents must come up with a good, viable plan to present to the school board.

"If nothing else can be done," he noted, "you should be sure the county and state roads departments and the police are doing all they can to ensure the safety of our youngsters."

Edwards pointed out that the renovation for Northern High School was needed and that the money had to be used now or some other jurisdiction in the state would get it. The county would then lose its chance to improve the school and may even lose the possibility to improve Southern High School.

Additional Concerns Expressed

In response that the committee concerned with how to house the NHS students while the school was being renovated did not thoroughly investigate all possible alternatives, Dr. Ryscavage explained exactly what options were seriously considered.

He said three primary alternatives were considered: 1) If two or more grades could be accommodated at Garrett Community College; 2) If only one grade could be accommodated at GCC, and 3) If no students could be accommodated at GCC.

Dr. Ryscavage explained under each alternative several sub-alternatives were examined. Under the first alternative, the group looked at five sub-alternatives: 1) Housing two grades at GCC, one at Camp Hickory and holding ninth graders back at Northern Middle School and sixth graders back at the elementary schools; 2) Housing two grades at GCC, one at Northern High School and one at Camp Hickory; 3) Housing academic and general students in 10th through 12th grades at GCC, vocational education students at NHS, ninth grade students would be held back at NMS and sixth graders held back in the elementary schools; 4) Housing two grades at GCC, one at NHS and one at NMS; 5) split shifting.

Under the second alternative, there were two sub-alternatives: 1) Housing one grade at GCC, one at Camp Hickory, one at NHS and one at NMS; 2) split shifting.

Two sub-alternatives were considered for the third group: 1) two grades at Northern High School, one at Camp Hickory and one at Northern Middle School; and 2) split shifting.

Dr. Ryscavage told the group that use of the Accident Elementary School had been considered, but an inspection of that facility revealed it was too deteriorated. The building was then turned over to the county, which gave it to the Town of Accident which has leased the building to Garrett Community Action which has contracted it for renovation into apartments.

Among an array of statements about preferred options and problems split shifting would cause, some parents and school-age youth noted their concern over how the schools would provide a quality education and how they would arrange extra-curricular activities. Also mentioned was problems the split shifting would create for students with after school jobs and for bus drivers who would be spending most of their days on the road which would take them away from other jobs unless they hired help.

Some parents said that faculty in the schools were unhappy with the decision. Dr. Ryscavage responded that the high school faculty advisory council supported the split shifting idea, and that one might receive different perceptions about the overall faculty position depending on which teachers one approached.

GARRETT COUNTY HABITAT FOR HUMANITY has its first of five houses targeted for construction this year well underway due to the efforts of Northern High and Southern High school students as well as residents of the county. The shell for this home was constructed by Northern High School students in their carpentry class, under the direction of teacher Jeff Montgomery. The idea for such a venture was conceived a year ago by Montgomery after attending a slide presentation on Habitat. The house, located on the Shade Hollow Road near Grantsville, was designed by Jake Powles, construction coordinator for the five houses, and the blueprints were made by Bill Freyman, drafting instructor at Southern High School.

CORNER STONE LAID — Corner stone laying ceremonies were conducted May 11 for the home which is being constructed for the Willard and Brenda Yommer family. Participating in the ceremony were Duane Yoder, president of Garrett County Habitat and Rev. Richard Tepper, Terra Alta Baptist Church, who was assisted by Rev. Powell Hall, St. Paul's United Methodist Church, Grantsville. Mrs. Yommer and daughter, Beverly, along with Duane Yoder placed a copy of a scriptural passage, an annual report and a register of those present for the ceremony in the corner stone. The scriptural passage points out Jesus Christ as the corner stone of meaningful human existence and was included to emphasize that Habitat is a Christian-based ministry.

HANDS ON EXPERIENCE — Northern High School students set down floor boards before preparing to raise the shell they constructed in their school carpentry class. Their teacher, Jeff Montgomery, estimated that 50 hours went into the construction work at the school and another 16 went into the on-site work, not counting the approximate 16 to lay the blocks. The students worked until 8 p.m. and were served dinner by the women of St. Paul's United Methodist Church in Grantsville. Several of the students returned on Friday to work on the roof for the house as well as to put on half of the shingles.

CROWDED CONDITIONS — The Yommer family has resided in this 8'x10' trailer since October 1984 when their mobile home was destroyed by fire. Their new home is being constructed on property they own. The Yommers have two children, ages 5 and 6. Mr. Yommer is employed as a butcher at Buckel's Market, Grantsville.

WORK BEGAN ON THE ACTUAL RAISING of the house shell on the morning of May 16. A group of Grantsville area residents arrived at 7:30 a.m. and worked till 9:30 a.m. to construct the floor system in preparation for the students to begin their work to construct the shell. This band of early birds included Levi and Ray Miller, J.B. Strawser, Henry Yoder, Paul Miller and Jake Powles. The block basement was constructed May 13 and 15 by students of Northern High and Southern High schools under the supervision of Harold Humberson, masonry instructor at both schools. Humberson was assisted on the job site by Jim Koon, vocational instructor at both schools. When the students ran out of time at 3 p.m. on the site Wednesday, some blocks remained to be laid. Willard Yommer and a group of his friends worked from 3 to 7 p.m. to finish the job under the supervision of Stanley Tice and Bill Spear, Habitat volunteers.

THE STUDENTS BEGAN TO ASSEMBLE the house shell once all was ready. Garland Maust of G & W Lumber donated the use of a truck and his men to transport trusses for the building from the school to the worksite and Dave Maust of The Home Place offered the use of trucks and men to transport the house panels. Jim Chisholm coordinated the delivery of all the supplies to the site. The supplies for the home and including the shell and trusses were provided through Habitat. When the students finished Thursday, the shell was up, roof trusses were in place and one half of the roof sheathing was on. The Northern High School students' contributions to Habitat were not completed with this house because they have also constructed a shell for a second home.

School Officials Seeking Children With Handicaps

Today the Garrett County Board of Education began a countywide effort to locate and identify those handicapped children between the ages of 0 months and 20 years of age who have not been in school. Garrett County is among the 23 educational units in Maryland who undertake this annual Child Find.

"Child Find" is designed to search out young people between the ages of birth and 20 years of age who are blind, deaf, physically handicapped, emotionally disturbed, mentally retarded or with learning disabilities.

Albert A. Coviello, Director of Pupil Services, had indicated that Child Find is a comprehensive statewide campaign to locate handicapped children who are not in school, to counsel and advise their families and to provide special education services to the child.

Persons who have a handicapped child or know of one that is not receiving an educational program should call the Garrett County Board of Education at (301) 334-8121 and ask for Albert A. Coviello, Sarah G. Wilson, or William T. Carlson.

Something To Think About
R. Mark Durst
DIRECTOR
PREPAYMENT PLAN
If you are planning your funeral arrangements in advance, the funeral director may suggest that you also arrange to pay the difference—over and above social security and VA benefits—in one of a number of alternative ways. For some people this is simply not practical; for others it can be a real blessing.
For those who are elderly or who are rooted in one place and have no intention of moving, this can be a relatively painless way of paying what will have to be paid eventually. Some people also know their own habits or procrastination well enough to realize that unless they nail down the money now, the survivors will surely have to pay the price.
Even if you think you MIGHT be moving out of the area (perhaps to that retirement spot you always dreamed of) preplanning and prepayment may still make sense. Certainly you can cancel the arrangement at any time; the money is yours until goods and services are provided.

Weed Control in Oats

I have had several calls on weeds in oats. Banvel applied at 0.25 pt. per acre will control many of the Annual Broadleaf Weeds. Applications of Banvel must be made before the oats exceed the 5-leaf stage. Observe the precautions on the label.

Overtop Postemergence Weed Control in Corn

The following herbicides are labeled for overtop weed control in corn: Dual + Atrazine can be applied overtop of corn before grass and broadleaf weeds pass the 2-leaf stage and before the corn exceeds 5 inches in height. Dual should be applied at a rate of 1½ to 2½ pints per acre in combinations with 1½ to 2½ lbs. of Atrazine 80W per acre. A good combination for small grasses and broadleaf weeds.

Bladex 80W or Bladex 80W plus Atrazine 80W can be applied overtop of corn through the 4-leaf stage of corn growth but before the weeds exceed 1½ inches in height. The maximum use rate is 2½ lbs. of total formulated product per acre, but you should not exceed the dosage rate specified by soil texture for preemergence broadcast applicaiton. An excellent herbicide combination primarily for grass control.

Atrazine Plus Oil can be applied at a rate of 2½ lbs. of Atrazine 80W plus 1 gal. of emulsifiable oil per acre. Annual grassy weeds especially foxtail, that are less than 2 inches tall are effectively controlled. Fall panicum will not be controlled with this treatment. Annual broadleaf weeds can be taller (4"-6") and be effectively controlled. Do not apply when the crop is under stress or crop injury will result.

Banvel is now labeled up to 2 applications per year. From planting until corn is 5 inches tall, Banvel is labeled up to 1 pint per acre depending upon soil type. From 5 to 36 inch tall corn, Banvel is only labeled at a rate of ½ pint per acre. Drop nozzles should be considered if weeds are covered by corn leaves or if spray drift could be a problem. An excellent herbicide for annual and perennial broadleaf weed control.

2,4-D is similar to Banvel and controls a wide range of Broadleaf Weeds. Unfortunately, corn may be more brittle. Use a rate of ½ pint per acre overtop when corn is 4 to 5 inches tall. Increase the rate to 1 pint per acre as the corn reaches 8 to 10 inches in height, but use drop nozzles and direct spray to base of plant.

Basagran can be applied overtop of corn at a rate of 1½ to 2 pints per acre and is very effective on many broadleaf weeds. Special situations for its use would include the control of Canada Thistle and Yellow Nutsedge. When these two weed species are 8 inches tall, apply 1 quart per acre. A second application at the same rate, 7 to 10 days later may be necessary. An oil concentration should be added at a rate of 1 quart per acre. Basagran is also labeled for use as a tank mixture with Atrazine and Oil Concentration. Use of trade names in this article is for informational purposes only, and use of trade names does not imply endorsement of products mentioned.

Real Estate

DURING THE SHOWING

What should a homeowner do during the showing of the house to a prospective buyer? Probably the homeowner would be of the greatest help doing nothing. Often, it's best that the homeowner not be present at all. Prospects feel that they should not criticize a home when the owner is present. However, part of the Realtor's job is ferreting out their objections, then offsetting them. Many sales have been made immediately after clearing up such doubts. With the owner around, the problem that is blocking the sale may never be known.

If the owner is at home when the Realtor arrives with the prospects, it would be best to withdraw after the introductions. It is not necessary to be present to fill in any awkward gaps in the conversation. It's during such gaps that many prospects make up their mind to buy.

If you ARE going to be around during the showing, you can arrange a vase of freshly cut flowers for the dining table; brew a pot of coffee or iced tea and take the pets out for a walk or turn them out in the yard.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices.

"I HAVE NEVER SEEN a senior class like this one, both athletically and academically," was the comment of Southern High School head football coach Tom Woods, who presented the awards at the annual Southern Sports Awards Banquet, held May 19 at the Wisp Ski Area's McHenry House. Seniors were not the only athletes to be honored, however, as many underclassmen also received trophies for their accomplishments in athletics during the 1984-85 school year. The three young people pictured above captured a number of awards in a variety of sports. Pictured at left is Steve Bennett, who along with Scott Stem, right, was named Male Athlete of the Year, while girls varsity basketball standout for the past four years, Jenny Hillen, was named Female Athlete of the Year. Stem also received a plaque for being named the Pepsi Cola/Times-News Player of the Year in basketball. Stem was the area's leading scorer with 19 points per game this past season. Bennett received the Pepsi Cola/Times News Player of the Year in football, while Hillen led the Lady Rams to two consecutive trips to the Class C Maryland playoffs and averaged 24 points per contest this past season. Non-students receiving awards at the banquet were John Hill, master of ceremonies, who received the Citizen of the Year award from the Southern Garrett Athletic Association, sponsor of the banquet, and Dennis "Xie" Colaw, who received the SGAA Past President award.

Garrett County Special Olympics were held as scheduled on Friday, May 24, at Garrett Community College, McHenry. This was the first local special olympics held in the county in three years.

Frisbee disc, 50-yard dash, wheelchair race, standing broad jump and softball throw were the competitive events for these special athletes. Soccer, basketball and "new games" clinics were available to all participants. Musician and singer, Bob Leatherbury, was on hand to entertain athletes and chaperones between events and during lunch.

The Coca-Cola Bottling Company donated coke and lunch was provided by the Appalachian Center.

WXIE disk jockey, Paul McCloud, presided as master of ceremonies for opening ceremonies. James Soult of Northern High School was torch bearer. John Keefer, Phillip Wotring and Theresa Glaze of Southern High carried the signs which led the parade of athletes.

Harriet Uphold of the Appalachian Center led the Pledge of Allegiance and Tom Savage of the Appalachian Center recited the Olympic Pledge. Delegate George Edwards was on hand to urge the athletes to their own personal victories, expressing his hope that some of them will go on to participate in the state competition next year.

The National Guard Armory sent five volunteers who helped set up events, served as chaperones and led the opening parade by carrying the American and State flags.

Garrett County Special Olympics has been funded by the Proctor Kildow Post #71 of the American Legion. Many volunteers from the Legion were also on hand during the games to give their support to the athletes. The local games were organized by Area Director, Debbie Ambrose, with the assistance of Rick Deloach, Dale Perando and many other citizens. Mike Stakem, member of the Maryland Special Olympics Board of Directors, and Randy Agetskin, Area Director of Allegany County Special Olympics, played major roles in bringing the games back to Garrett County.

Many medals were won by the athletes. Gold medalists were: Michael Perry, Kevin Swick, Connie Lantz, Mary Snyder, Victor Mazzocco, Roger Paugh, Connie Tasker, Harriet Uphold, Bill Faulkner, James Soult, Randy Harvey, Richard Bennett, Becky Glotfelty, Theresa Niner, Helen Stemple, Wanda Harvey, Randy Young, Chris Kinsinger, Margie Bell, Donnie Tasker, Tom Savage and Buddy Griffith.

American Legion Baseball Try-Outs Set For Saturday

Accident Post 208, American Legion baseball team will hold try-outs this Saturday, June 1, at noon at the Southern High School field. High school players who will not be 19 before August 1, from Northern, Southern, East Preston, Central Preston, Elk Garden, and Petersburg high schools are invited to try out for the Post 208 Legion team.

Accident Post 208 will begin its second season in the Mt. District Legion League and will play a 16-game schedule against Cumberland and Westernport, beginning June 11 and running through July 27. The winner of the Mt. District advances to the Maryland state tournament in Easton, August 13-17.

Coach Phil Caruso stated "We have everyone back from last summer and with the addition of some outstanding new players, we believe we can be competitive against the two other Legion teams who are always strong. Westernport seems to be the favorite, being able to draw from both Keyser and Mt. Savage high schools who are coming off outstanding seasons. However, we are drawing from two high schools, Southern and Petersburg, which also had outstanding seasons. In fact, we are still waiting for our Petersburg players to finish, as they are still involved in the West Virginia playoffs. Northern also had a respectable season and has some fine players."

The Legion program is funded through community, players, and Post 208 efforts. Players are selling VCR raffle tickets and player sponsorships to meet the cost of the season. The date on the VCR raffle has been extended to the end of June to allow players more selling time, and there is a need for eight more sponsors at $60 a player. Anyone interested in sponsoring a player should call Xie Colaw at 334-4880 or contact any Legion player or coach.

Revised Baseball Camp Schedule Noted By Caruso

Summer baseball camp director Phil Caruso announced this week that, due to several requests, the baseball camp dates, time and site have been changed to accommodate more campers.

Instead of the June 3-7 and June 10-14 dates from 3:30-5:00, the camp has been switched to a two full-day camp on June 20 and 21, from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Campers are to pack lunch.

This change in schedule, according to Caruso, is "to allow for an increase in instruction time and less conflict with actual Little League games."

The site of the camp has been changed to the Broadford Little League fields. Garrett Community College head baseball coach, Lawrence Nesselrodt, has been added to the staff, as well as the Accident Post 208 American Legion baseball team, which the proceeds of the camp will benefit.

All campers who are currently registered will be guaranteed enrollment in the revised schedule. There is space for up to 50 campers. Campers may pick up applications at Southern Middle School, Dennett Road, Loch Lynn, and Broad Ford elementary schools or at the concession stand at the Little League fields. All applications should be returned to Caruso at Broad Ford Elementary School to pre-register.

There are currently 20 openings left for the two-day camp. Additional features of the camp will be the use of a pitching machine both days, video-taping of each camper's hitting, and two box seat tickets to a Pirate game to be raffled off. Persons with questions may call Coach Caruso at 334-9445, or Coach Nesselrodt at 387-6666 or 387-9042.

Oakland Splits With Cumberland In Season Opener

The Pen Mar League opened its 36th consecutive season this past Sunday. Oakland traveled to Cumberland and split with the home team, losing the first game 5-4 and winning the second game, 14-1.

The first game went nine innings as Oakland got strong pitching performances from Mike Brady and Mike Gustav. Cumberland got especially good pitching from Bryon Gray and ACC standout J.R. Perdew, who got the win.

In the first inning of the opener, Phil Caruso reached on a walk and scored on a Gustav single. In the fourth inning Ed Wildesen scored on an error and Phil Carr singled in Ron Bosley. Oakland ended its scoring in the sixth when Carr singled home Gustav. Carr and Gustav both registered sparkling defensive plays in the outfield.

Cumberland scored the winning run in the ninth inning on a Mike Marrale RBI single.

In the second game Stan Fitzwater and Mark Rodeheaver in relief led Oakland to an easy win. Wayne Brown scored three runs for Oakland and recorded two hits and an RBI. Francis Mouse scored three runs, finished with three hits and four RBI's including a 420-foot three run homer in the first inning. Mike Gustav had two hits and four RBI's, including a two-run blast in the third.

Oakland will host LaVale this Sunday at the Southern field in a 2 p.m. doubleheader.

Volleyball Clinic To Be Held At Southern High

There will be a Volleyball Clinic at Southern High School June 4-6 from 3:30 to 5:30 in the small gym.

The clinic will be instructed by Sue Mason, head volleyball coach at Garrett Community College, and Robin Johnson, a junior all-conference W.V.I.A.C. player from Alderson-Broaddus College.

The objective of the clinic will be to prepare individuals for competitive play by teaching basic skills, offenses, and defenses.

Cost of the clinic is $6.00 per person and all proceeds will go to the Garrett Community College recruiting fund. The clinic is open to anyone who is interested in learning to play volleyball.

Registration will be held immediately before the first session.

Layman, Llewellyn Recruited By GCC's Wellham For '85-86 Season

SIGNED BY GCC — Two of the area's top female basketball players, one of whom also excells in volleyball, have been signed by Garrett Community College basketball coach Ann Wellham. Above is Wellham, left, with Nena Layman, of Union High School, along with Union coach, Dan Gardner. Below, Wellham is pictured with Lisa Llewellyn, of Valley High School, with her high school coach, Joan Fitzpatrick. See story.

Garrett Community College Women's Basketball Coach Ann Wellham has announced the signing of two outstanding area high school players to the Lakers' roster for the 1985-86 season.

Wellham said that the addition of the two players, Nena Layman, Bayard, W.Va., and Lisa Llewellyn, Lonaconing, should have a "very positive effect" on the strength of the Lady Lakers next fall. The GCC women posted an 11-12 record this year, including several close defeats at the hands of strong Maryland JUCO teams.

Nena Layman, a 5'4" point guard from Union High School, is the daughter of Nancy Layman. She was named to the West Virginia All-Star Class A team this year, honorable mention. She was also a member of the Potomac Valley, All-Conference team. She was named Most Valuable Player at Union High School and will compete in the WMIL All-Star Game as a member of the West Virginia team in June.

"I'm looking forward to attending GCC because it is close to my home and provides the chance for a lot of recreational activities," Layman said. "The small size of the school should allow for a lot of individual attention. I'm looking forward to playing basketball there and meeting a lot of new people."

Union High School Women's Basketball Coach Dan Gardner said that Layman's best qualities as a player are "her aggressive defensive play, her hustle, and her desire to win. GCC is like Union High because it is a small school with a family atmosphere. I feel that Nena will fit right into a leadership role there. The team and the school are behind her 100%. We are pleased that she is pursuing her academic career at GCC."

Lisa Llewellyn, 5'8" guard/forward, is the daughter of Frances Marie Llewellyn, Lonaconing. She is a graduate of Valley High School, where she was co-captain of the girls' basketball team in her junior and senior years. She averaged 14 points per game last season, posting a 68% field goal average.

She was honorable mention on the All-Area and All-Western Maryland All-Star Teams in her junior year, and this year was a member of both teams. She has been selected to play in the WMIL All-Star Game June 8 as a member of the Maryland team.

Llewellyn was co-winner of the outstanding basketball and volleyball awards at Valley this year, and was also named outstanding track team member. She plans to major in physical education in college.

Coach Joan Fitzpatrick of Valley feels that Llewellyn will be "a real asset" to the GCC squad. "She is a true all-around athlete and is very dedicated to the game," she said.

Coach Wellham said, "I am looking forward to Lisa joining our squad. She will help round out the guard position and increase our offensive options."

Llewellyn will also play volleyball for GCC, and is the recipient of a volleyball scholarship from the school. GCC's volleyball coach Sue Mason is looking forward to having Llewellyn join the team. "I have high expectations of Lisa. I feel that she will be one of the strongest hitters on the squad and will be a real asset to the team."

HOW DO YOU TRANSPORT A MILE-LONG HOT DOG? — Very carefully, according to the employees at Yoder's Meats where the hot dog was made. The picture above shows meat room employees moving the 1,000 pound frankfurter to the smoke house for cooking, with the help of Darlene House, facing the camera, and Nancy Warnick, not pictured. A special rack was made by the Frostburg Rec Department to hold the hot dog while it was in the smoke house, and the "dog" was then coiled into one of Yoder's trucks for transport to the Frostburg State College football field. There it was unwound from the truck as the truck moved at a snail's pace four times around the football field. The hot dog was laid into rain spouting, coated with tin foil and filled with ice and stretching across 85 tables. The event was for the benefit of the Western Maryland Chapter of the American Heart Association, with a goal of making the Guiness Book of World Records for the longest hot dog in the world. Newspapers, television and radio stations from Texas, North Dakota, Oregon, California, and Alaska called to ask questions about the largest hot dog ever made and the people responsible for it.

Relay For Life

Famine is not a media event. It's long-term suffering that doesn't end when the cameras stop rolling.

It's little children with bloated bellies and mothers too weak to respond to their cries.

It's old people who will not age gracefully and die with dignity, but will expire hungry and in pain.

It's people in Ethiopia, Mauritania, Chad, Niger, Kenya, Mali, Somalia, Mozambique and Sudan who need your help.

If you have already responded, with concern and with money, to the terrible disaster confronting 35,000,000 Africans, thank you.

But the need continues.

There is still time to pledge to the 200-Mile Relay for Life. Please help!

(Send no money now)

I wish to give of my many blessings so that others not nearly so fortunate might live.

I hereby pledge ________ per mile (or a total of $________) for the 200-Mile Relay For Life, to be run June 1-2, from Oakland to Washington, D.C. Mail pledges to: Relay For Life, c/o The Republican, P.O. Box 326, Oakland, Md. 21550.

In Loving Memory of Clayton Harsh

This man of love, honesty, loyalty, and faithfulness; life for him on earth has ended, however, life everlasting has just begun. It is our belief that his heart is held unblamable in holiness before God.

No one can fill his shoes for our Daddy walked the straight and narrow path. He was the delight at our table for he enriched our lives by asking a blessing.

No one can take his place, for in his personal life he lived what he taught: Where there was hatred, he had love; Where there was injury, he pardoned; Where there was doubt, he had faith; Where there was despair, he had hope; Where there was sadness, he gave joy.

Invariably, at the end of the day, just about 10:00 p.m., if you happened through the living room you could see a dim light, and the shadow of our Daddy reading his Bible and praying to the heavenly Father, just before he retired for the night. As he taught us to pray: "Our Father, which art in heaven".

Our Daddy will be missed by all who knew and loved him.

The Clayton Harsh Family

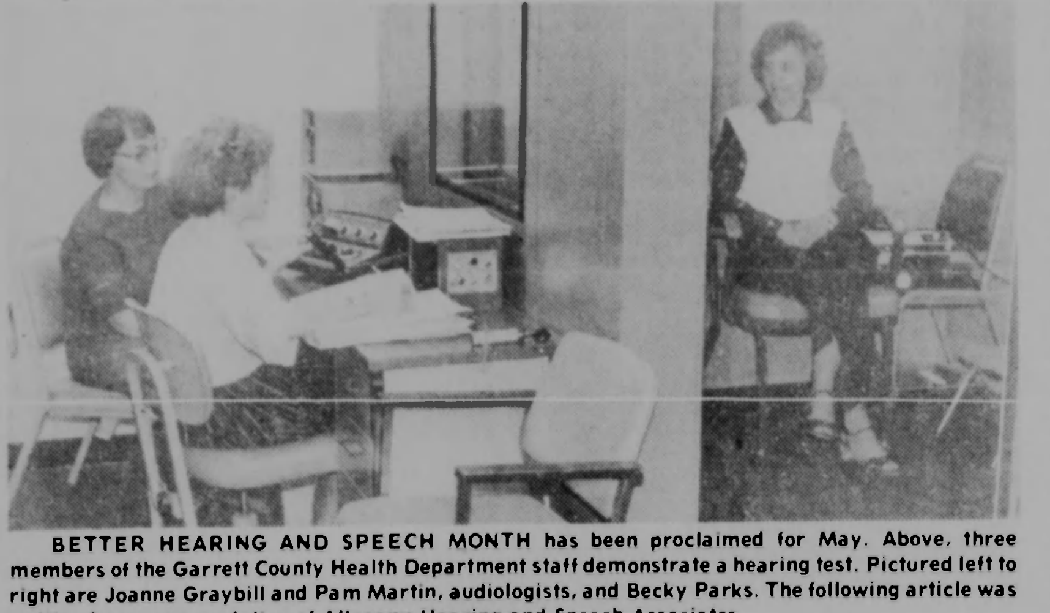
May Declared Better Hearing And Speech Month



BETTER HEARING AND SPEECH MONTH has been proclaimed for May. Above, three members of the Garrett County Health Department staff demonstrate a hearing test. Pictured left to right are Joanne Graybill and Pam Martin, audiologists, and Becky Parks. The following article was written by a representative of Allegany Hearing and Speech Associates.

Better Hearing and Speech Month, a chance to look behind the scenes and see what professionals are doing to treat speech and hearing problems, has been proclaimed for the month of May.

There are more than 17 million hearing impaired people in the United States. More than 15 million of them are hard of hearing; about two million are deaf. More than 10 million unaided people can benefit from amplification, but many of these people are unaware of the fact that they could benefit from a hearing aid. Of all handicapped children, the hard of hearing are most numerous.

Who helps persons who have problems involving speech, language, or hearing?

A speech pathologist holds a bachelor's degree and master's or Ph.D. degree or equivalent in speech pathology or communication disorders, specializing in diagnosis and rehabilitation of persons with disorders of speech or language, to include voice problems, articulation (speech phoneme production) and stuttering. A speech pathologist is certified by The American Speech Language Hearing Association when he/she has demonstrated exceptional competency in knowledge and treatment of disorders of speech and language. A certified speech pathologist has the abbreviation CCC-S appearing behind his or her name.

A clinical audiologist holds a bachelor's degree in communication disorders and a master's or Ph.D. or equivalent in audiology. A clinical audiologist specializes in the identification and diagnosis of hearing problems and rehabilitation of persons with hearing or listening difficulties. An audiologist is also certified by The American Speech-Language–Hearing Association when he/she has demonstrated exceptional competence and knowledge in the field of clinical audiology. CCC-A is used to designate persons who hold this certification.

The following areas of need are treated by the speech pathologist;

Aphasta - Speech and language rehabilitation is often necessary for persons who suffer brain damage as a result of a stroke, accident, or illness, and consequently have difficulty in speech or language function. This type of speech therapy is usually offered through a hospital, private office, or clinic and is often available to people in their own home. Treatment might focus on facilitating the patient's ability to express his/her thoughts and to comprehend the conversation of others.

Articulation - Many persons have difficulty producing certain speech sounds. Therapy is aimed at correcting distortions, substitutions, and omissions of speech sounds to facilitate intelligible, normal speech production.

Language - Language is a complex process which requires skills in vocabulary, grammar, and sentence structure. Therapy is aimed at improving skills and overcoming delays in any of these areas. Many preschool and school age children receive help in developing speech and language skills.

Voice - Voice problems, a result of vocal abuse or of medical origin, may involve abnormal quality, pitch, or loudness levels. Therapy is aimed at developing a more normal and acceptable voice.

Stuttering - When speech is dysfluent or difficult to initiate, special speech therapy techniques are used to enable the person to better control his rate and patterns of speaking.

Anti-Drinking, Driving Campaign In State Parks

The Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service has put its Anti-Drunk Driving in Parks campaign in full force for the 1985 season. The slogan for this campaign, "Stay Alive - Don't Drink and Drive", is visibly posted throughout state parks as a reminder to park visitors. State parks are also sending out Anti-Drunk Driving in Parks flyers to people making reservations for park shelters/pavillions and campsites. These flyers can be obtained from park offices and contact stations.

During the last two years, park rangers have been given updated and in-service training on Driving While Intoxicated (DWI). DWI training teaches rangers to notice actions of drivers that may be probable cause for investigation. Rangers are also taught how to give field sobriety tests, process violators and advise violators of their rights. Violators agreeing to take breathalyzer tests are taken to local sheriff offices or Maryland State Police barracks where the tests are administered.

On March 18 of this year, Rangers Mick Browning of Gunpowder Falls and Dave Chrest of Patapsco Valley State Parks were invited to a week-long training session on advanced DWI. All law enforcement agencies throughout the state were represented at this training session held at the University of Maryland's University College Center for Adult Education. During that week participants attended classes on the physiological effects of drinking and drugs, detection and testing for DWI, administering the breathalyzer test and new and improved tests for DWI.

During the past three weeks there have been four arrests made in state parks for DWI. "The Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service would like all park visitors to enjoy themselves but cautions against senseless tragedies that drinking and driving can cause," stated a DNR spokesman.

Goldstein Notes Sales Tax Gains

Maryland State Comptroller Louis L. Goldstein says the combination of preparations for Easter and open weather for construction provided a boost to state sales tax revenue for the month of April, 1985.

Retail sales and use tax revenue for the month totaled $89,146,247, up 12.1% over the $79,416,713 collected during April, 1984. "The latest April revenues represent retail activity during March, when shoppers were searching for Easter bonnets and other apparel," Goldstein said, noting that the apparel category of sales tax collections grew by 15.9% and the department store category posted a 9.7% gain over revenues for April, 1984.

Goldstein also stated that the construction related category of sales tax collections rebounded with the building and contractors category posting a 20.5% growth, while the closely related hardware, machinery and equipment and furniture, fixtures and appliances categories grew by 24.9% and 13.5%, respectively.

"For the first nine months of Fiscal Year 1985, sales tax revenue totaled $807,835,215, an 11.3% growth over the $725,947,060 collected during the same period of the previous year," Goldstein said. "The construction related categories continue to show the fastest over all growth during that nine-month period."

TAKE YOUR MEDICINE AS LONG AS NECESSARY

One of the hardest things the doctor has to do is to persuade his patients to keep on taking their medicine as long as he thinks its necessary. Many people think that they are cured just because they start to feel better. However, many drugs do not cure—they are taken to control an illness.

Don't fear taking your medicine. Instead place your confidence in the knowledge and experience of your physician and follow his instructions exactly. He knows what a drug can and cannot do and how long it will usually take to get the job done.

Date with the world

TEL AVIV
Nassau

"Gee, it's a big world—oceans to cross . . . mountains to climb . . . the call of exciting cities . . . the lure of Orient." All are waiting . . .

Like Jimmy, many of us once saw ourselves circling the globe and keeping our date with adventure. But somehow our big plans got pushed aside by the busy pressures of earning a living and raising a family.

Years pass and the dreams of the young change. Suddenly, there are new goals clamoring for our attention . . .

But a world of unique adventure is never far from our doorway—the world of truth, the world of the spirit, as revealed through the love and inspiring teachings of our Church and the Bible.

No, the world is not as big as it is to Jimmy, but for us there are new horizons, horizons of hope, faith and strength if we will seek them in the church of our choice each week.

THE BIBLE SPEAKS

BY LAWRENCE W. ALTHOUSE

WHEN IT'S YOUR OX THAT'S GORED

June 2, 1985

Background Scripture: Amos 1:1 through 2:8.
Devotional Reading: Amos 2:9-16.

The prophecies of Amos may seem dry as dust -- unless you change a few names and words here and there. Then, Amos will no longer be dry; in fact, he may become downright disturbing -- just as he was to the people of Israel.

Let me illustrate. In Amos 1:3, for example, let's make one substitution so that it reads: "For three transgressions of Libya, and for four, I will not revoke the punishment." If we go on to 1:4, we can substitute the name of "Khadafy" for Hazael. Now, that makes Amos timely instead of "dry," doesn't it?

In 1:6 we can substitute "Iran" instead of Gaza, in 1:9 "Cuba" for Tyre, in 1:11 "USSR" for Edom, in 1:13 "Nicaragua" for the Ammonites, and in 2:1 "Vietnam" for Moab. Like the Israelites in Amos' own day, we would probably receive those prophecies with both understanding and relish!

CLOSER TO HOME

But, of course, there was more. In 2:4 we could substitute for Judah the name of "Canada." For, although Israel and Judah frequently had disputes, still there was a blood relationship between them. Thus, when Amos prophesied the sending of fire upon their cousins to the north, the people of Israel must have had some mixed emotions.

Yet, there is one more prophecy that Amos delivers from God. And here, if we are to appreciate how that prophecy sounded to the people of Israel, we need to substitute for Israel the name: "United States of America." (Note: I'm not saying that God is making such prophecies against us, but only that this substitution helps us to appreciate what the Israelites felt about Amos.)

So long as Amos was pronoucing doom upon the enemies of Israel, the people heard him gladly. But when his prophecies began to hit home, people no longer regarded his as a prophet, but as a subversive meddler. So we can appreciate, can't we, why Amos was invited to get out of town? Isn't that how we would likely react if he were to say to us what he said to Israel? As the old saying goes, "It depends upon whose ox is being gored."

JUST AS CORRUPT

Note that each of Israel's enemies was condemned because they oppressed their neighbors with violence and treachery. Judah, on the other hand, is condemned because, instead of oppression, she was found to be ignoring the laws and statutes of God. And when Amos turns to Israel, it is not aggression that is condemned, but moral corruption: "...because they sell the righteous for silver and the needy for a pair of shoes..."

Israel may have been blameless as far as its foreign relations were concerned, but it was that which was within this nation that brought God's judgement upon them.

And us? How might our ox fare under the prophecies of Amos?

Accident Water, Sewer Rates To Increase July 15

The Accident Mayor and Town Council held a public informational meeting on Monday, May 20, at the town hall to present the new water and sewer rates. Jim Cooper, a management consultant engaged by the town, had studied the annual financial reports, water and sewer budget, and the current rate structure. He presented his findings during the meeting which reflected the need for an increase in the water and sewer user fees. The new rate structure represents a 30 percent increase for both water and sewer service.

There will be no change in the front-footage assessment charge for the average residential customer. This will mean an increase of about $4.50 on the monthly water and sewer bill. The water and sewer rate increase will become effective July 15, and will be reflected in customers' September 1 bills. This is the first rate increase since the system became operational in 1976.

Eight citizens from the town attended the meeting. A five-page handout was provided explaining the rate increase. Anyone who did not attend the meeting and desires a copy of the handout may contact Accident Town Clerk Marjorie Fratz at 826-8149.

Extended Coverage
By ROB MICHAEL Agent

If you haven't reviewed your insurance coverage in light of recent tax laws, you could find yourself seriously underprotected.

In years past, Uncle Sam would help you bear an uninsured loss. If a diamond ring was stolen, or a tree fell on the house, you'd have to carry the first $100 of the loss yourself, but you could deduct the rest from income on your tax return.

Now the "floor" on casualty and theft losses is 10 percent of adjusted gross income, PLUS that $100, before you can deduct anything. And if you are subject to the alternative minimum tax, the effect is even worse.

Now it makes sense to insure just about everything worth stealing, and to up your coverage sufficiently to cover home, auto, or other holdings; if premiums are a problem, it's cost-efficient to increase deductibles.

Don't wait for the NEXT tax law change to review your policies. It's a good bet it won't be any more liberal.

Project KIDS Announced By State Police

State Police announced this week the kickoff of a comprehensive statewide program designed to educate parents and children concerning the problems associated with missing and abused children.

Governor Harry Hughes has proclaimed May 27 through June 2, 1985, as Missing Children Awareness Week in Maryland in concert with the proclamation of May, 1985, as National Child Safety Awareness Month. In support of this proclamation, the State Police has joined together with Baltimore based 92 Star/WYST radio station to announce its new program which will address specifically the concerns of dealing with missing and abused children.

"Project KIDS", which stands for Kids In Defense of Self, will consist of a series of child safety educational programs specifically designed to educate parents and children together spelling out the causes and preventive measures relating to missing and abused children.

The purpose of the statewide observance of Missing Children Awareness Week is two-fold: first, to increase citizen awareness of and participation in child victimization prevention programs and activities currently operating throughout Maryland; and second, to support the continued child crime prevention endeavors of Maryland Crime Watch, the Maryland Crime Prevention Association, state and local law enforcement, and other interested groups and individuals.

Throughout Missing Children Awareness Week a public showing of the movie Better Safe than Sorry II will be shown at all Maryland State Police installations. On Saturday, June 1, additional showings will be held at participating shopping malls within Baltimore, Anne Arundel, Howard, Harford and Carroll Counties as well as Baltimore City.

Following each viewing of the movie, a child safety and protection packet called a KIDS Kits will be distributed to parents. This packet contains tips to both parents and children concerning preventive measures. Additionally, it will contain instructions to parents on using the KIDS Kit to organize and maintain important information needed by police to conduct a quick and effective missing person investigation should it ever be necessary.

According to State Police Superintendent Colonel W.T. Travers, Jr., "Children are our most valuable resource and it is our responsibility as adults to take whatever precautions necessary to protect them and insure their safety." It is my sincere hope that this type of program will heighten public awareness to the dangers associated with missing and abused children."

Travers continued to say that it is "most unfortunate" in this day and age that these types of programs are necessary. He has directed the State Police Crime Prevention Unit, and other crime prevention troopers throughout the state, to take an assertive effort in addressing this area of law enforcement.

Earns Degree At Randolph-Macon

Rachel R. Reneslacis, Kitzmiller, was one of 168 seniors who received bachelor of arts degrees from Randolph-Macon Woman's College May 12.

Miss Reneslacis, daughter of The Rev. and Mrs. Juris V. Reneslacis, P.O. Box 200, received her degree with honors in English and philosophy. She is a Dean's List student.

Nobel Peace Prize recipient Betty Williams-Perkins delivered the commencement address, "Peace Is Everyone's Business."

Randolph-Macon Woman's College, a four-year liberal arts college founded in 1891, was the first woman's college in the south to receive a Phi Beta Kappa charter.

Increase In Cost Of Hospital Care Below Average

Hospital revenues in Maryland registered their smallest increase in a decade in 1984, inching up just 2.3 percent, compared to a national average of 6 percent.

The statistics, based on data submitted by hospitals to state regulatory agencies, were contained in a new report from the nonprofit Maryland Hospital Association to leaders of its 64 community acute care and special hospital members.

"This kind of performance by our hospitals—an increase of less than half the national average—indicates clearly that Maryland's hospitals are continuing to help make our nationally-acclaimed cost containment program work," commented Association President Richard J. Davidson. "Hospitals are responding to the need to hold down costs not by delivering less care, but by delivering all care more efficiently." He noted that many institutions are streamlining operations and eliminating unused capacity voluntarily.

The 2.3 percent rise also was significantly less than the four percent increase in the naitonal Consumer Price Index (CPI), the barometer of inflation.

Davidson also pointed out that the 1984 savings data covered the period before the 1985 session of the Maryland General Assembly and passage of several new laws aimed at further containing health care costs in the state.

MHA's report showed an average statewide increase of 1.9 percent in the average charge for treating each patient admitted to a Maryland hospital. The data also separated revenue increases into inpatient and outpatient categories.

Hospital's revenues for inpatient care increased only 1.8 percent, while revenues on the outpatient side went up 4.8 percent. Davidson said the greater increase for outpatient services reflected the larger volume of surgical and other procedures now being performed on an ambulatory, less expensive basis.

The hospital association has been tracking closely hospital occupancy rates and average lengths of stay over the past year. Both, he said, have continued to drop. The average stay of a patient in a Maryland hospital fell to 7.12 days in 1984, a decrease of more than 7 percent compared to the previous year. Occupancy rates dipped an average of 8 percent, according to MHA.

"We are enormously proud of our volunteer hospital trustees, and hospital management, employees and medical staff in this state. They've put Maryland institutions among the best quality, most efficiently operated hospitals in America."

Glades Chapter Of DAR Meets; Parrack Speaker

The Youghiogheny Glades Chapter, NSDAR, met Tuesday, May 14, in Terra Alta, at the home of Mrs. Charles Thomas for a covered dish dinner for the 25 members and one guest present.

Grace was said by Luther Parrack, speaker for the evening. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Clair Hawkins, Mrs. Lewis Jones, Mrs. Robert Zeller, and Mrs. Charles Briner.

Following the ritual, Parrack, director of secondary and middle school education in Garrett County, presented the program on Maryland High School graduation requirements and the student handbook. Parrack was graduated from high school in Terra Alta, and earned a bachelor of science and master of arts degrees in secondary education from West Virginia University. Certificated as principal, supervisor, and director of secondary education, Parrack taught English, science and social studies in Terra Alta, and Northern high schools. In 1964, he came to Garrett County as an instructor at Northern High. In 1967, he was appointed vice principal and served in that capacity until 1972 when he was appointed principal at Southern High. In 1984 he was named to his present position.

Parrack is married to the former Pauline Whetsell. They reside on High Street with one of their two sons. Tom, who is a student at GCC. Their older son, Tim, is married and resides in Mt. Lake Park.

A short business meeting was conducted by Mrs. Sherwood after the program. The President General's Message was read by Mrs. Sherwood. Soup labels and cancelled stamps were collected for the Indian Schools. Mrs. Robert Proudfoot reported on the progress being made indexing the cemetery book.

Mrs. Willard Hayden and Mrs. Sherwood reported on the NSDAR Ninety-Fourth Continental Congress they attended in April in Washington, D.C. Highlights were a special salute to the Statue of Liberty, a musical tribute to General Douglas MacArthur by the U.S. Army Band, and the election of Maryland State Regent, Mrs. Charles A. Bloedorn to the national office of Vice Presidents General. NSDAR Continental Congress is always held during the week of April 19 to celebrate the anniversary of Paul Revere's ride from Boston to Lexington and Concord.

Youghiogheny Glades members are asked to continue volunteering to work on indexing the cemetery book and to continue saving Campbell's soup labels and cancelled stamps. The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Lewis Jones in September.

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

I was shocked to hear about Selma Diamond's death. I watched "Night Court" every week just to catch her antics! Can you tell me where she was born? Also, what was the last film she made? — L.S.A., Yonkers, N.Y.

Selma Diamond

Miss Diamond was born — are you ready? — in a movie theater in London, Ontario, Canada. Her parents moved to New York when she was a young girl. Miss Diamond grew up in Brooklyn. She was 64 years old when she died.

Originally Miss Diamond wanted to be a writer. As a young woman, she began selling cartoons to a New York newspaper and jokes to comedians. After Groucho Marx's daughter introduced her to radio star Goodman Ace, Miss Diamond was hired as a writer for Tallulah Bankhead's NBC radio series "The Big Show."

Other writing jobs followed, and eventually Miss Diamond tackled the stage, film and television. Her last film appearance was in the 1984 comedy "All of Me." The flick starred Lily Tomlin and Steve Martin.

I think I'm related to Gerald McRaney, one of the stars of the CBS series "Simon & Simon." Do you have an address for the actor? I'd love to drop him a note. — L.M., Willoughby Hills, Ohio

You can address your letters to McRaney c/o "Simon & Simon," Universal Studios, Universal City, CA 91608. Good luck!

Gerald McRaney

Do you have an address for "Days of Our Lives"? I need it fast — please! — E.J.W., Chicago, Ill.

I can never resist such an urgent plea. Write to the NBC soap at 1438 N. Gower, Hollywood, CA 90028.

(Do you have a question about TV? Write Val Carew at 200 Park Ave., Room 602, New York, NY 10166. Questions cannot be answered personally but those of general interest will be answered in future columns.)

BEHIND THE SCENES

TV viewers are treated to a 'slice' of Gidget

By Marta Tarbell

It's all in the family for Ralph Riskin. The producer of the syndicated movie "Gidget's Summer Reunion," has the distinction of being married to Rebecca Drenick, the niece of Kathy Zuckerman, the woman on whom Gidget is based. "Gidget's Summer Reunion" airs this week.

Riskin, whose television production credits include such classics as "The Outer Limits" and "The Courtship of Eddie's Father," can still recall how the idea of "Gidget" was born.

"About 25 years ago, Kathy's father took her to visit some Hollywood people at the Malibu Colony," recalls Riskin. "Kathy got bored and went down to the beach to watch some boys ride their surfboards. Later, on the way back home, she said, 'Daddy, you should write something about those boys.'"

But it took Kathy's father, Fritz Kohner, a few days to realize that he was on to a good story. The moment of revelation? When a surfer called his home and, instead of asking to speak with Kathy, asked for "Gidget."

"Fritz said, 'There's nobody here by that name,'" remembers Riskin. "But the young man said, 'Is your daughter about 5 feet tall, with dark hair? Well, that's Gidget. It's short for girl-midget.'"

Today, that "girl-midget" is married to a screen-writer and is the mother of two teenage sons. She recently opened a travel agency, and it's pure coincidence, insists Riskin, that Caryn Richman, the seventh actress to portray Gidget, plays a travel agent as well.

Caryn Richman

What else has happened to Gidget, who has managed to keep her youthful look for the film? She and Moondoggie (played by Dean Butler), a structural engineer for a big corporation, are still married. Gidget has gone to work to pay off their debts; they fell in love with a house that was out of their price range. Moondoggie wants a family, but Gidget's not quite ready. And the going gets a little bit tough when Gidget leaves to shepherd a tour group through Hawaii. Eyes start to stray and...

While you'll have to tune in to find out what happens, don't worry: This is, after all, the land of happy endings.

"I think Gidget was so popular," says Riskin, "because of her tolerable rebellion. Although she was rebellious enough to make people say, 'Gee, I wish I'd done that,' Gidget was always kind of white bread. She never did anything that wasn't fair or honest. And we all loved her for that."

David Hartman (he's the one on the far left) is joined by a trio of robots for an explorational tour of the world of technology in "The Future is Now," airing Tuesday, June 4 on ABC.

SOAP OPERA WEEK

Teen soap star has a career that's blooming

By Kimberly Redmond

I think Brian Bloom, the young actor who portrays Dusty Donovan on "As the World Turns," is adorable! What can you tell me about him? How about his address? — S.H., Fayetteville, N.C.

Brian Bloom

Bloom, who was born in Long Island, N.Y., is in the ninth grade. The actor has been portraying Dusty since April 1983. His previous acting experience includes roles in the feature films "Once Upon a Time in America," "The Stuff" and "Flanagan." He's also appeared in the ABC movie "A Different Twist."

Bloom lives at home with his parents and two brothers, Scott and Mikey, who also want to be actors. And though his career seems to be in full swing, Bloom says he intends to enroll in college. His first choice? Yale. You can write to Bloom c/o CBS, 51 West 52nd St., New York, NY 10019.

I'm going crazy trying to figure out the name of the song that was played during Liz and Carlo's love scenes on NBC's "Days of Our Lives." Can you help? — D.A., Avenel, N.J.

The tune is titled "I'm on Fire," and it is performed by rock superstar Bruce Springsteen. The tune gets lots of use: Lately, it has been played during the love fantasies of Reva and Kyle on the CBS soap "The Guiding Light." Several other soaps have used the song as well.

Shall we dance? Yul Brynner and Tony nominee Mary Beth Peil, starring on Broadway in "The King and I," will recreate some of the songs from the Rogers and Hammerstein musical for "The 39th Annual Tony Awards," airing Sunday, June 2 on CBS.

SUNDAY

Tony nominee Jonathan Hogan stars in "As Is," William Hoffman's drama about the devastation of AIDS. The play has also been nominated for a Tony. "The 39th Annual Tony Awards" airs Sunday, June 2 on CBS.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Broadway 'King' makes room for a new queen

By Marc Minnelli

Mary Beth Peil eyes the tape recorder's whirling cassette. Her voice drops to a whisper. "The out-of-town reviews were quite outrageous," she says. "The Chicago papers even said I upstaged Mr. Brynner! I was afraid that he'd be angry, but the next day, he told me, 'Not everyone can hold their own with me.' That's when I knew," the actress adds, "that I done good."

Indeed, Miss Peil, making her Broadway debut in "The King and I" opposite Yul Brynner, has done so well as Anna Leonowens, the staunch schoolteacher who fights and eventually falls in love with the arrogant King of Siam and his 67 children, that she has garnered a Tony Award nomination for Best Featured Actress in a Musical. But don't mention the honor to her: "Bite your tongue!" she snaps at a dressing room guest when he suggests she'll walk away with the coveted award. "The 39th Annual Tony Awards" airs, live from New York, June 2 on CBS. On the telecast, Miss Peil and Brynner plan on recreating some of the show's classic moments.

Mary Beth Peil

For those who worry that Miss Piel is tampering with a classic — the role of Anna was written in 1951 for Broadway legend Gertrude Lawrence; Deborah Kerr played the schoolteacher in the 1956 Hollywood film version — Miss Peil does not disinter any spirits. Her Anna is her own creation, a blend of cheery spunk and assertiveness, perfectly meshed by a voice that caresses and soothes. Miss Peil gives a royal performance that leaves your heart pounding.

"Some nights I feel the presence of Gertrude's ghost," says Miss Peil, whose husband, Jerry, plays in the show's orchestra, "but it's always a good feeling. I hear her laugh ... it's as if she's blessing me, telling me to have a good time."

And that's exactly what the actress has been having. "Mr. Brynner has taught me so much," says Miss Piel, who toured with the show since winning the role in late 1983. "He made me realize not every role has to be crap. He's taught me how to be a perfectionist. And that's important. People are paying $45 to see this show," adds Miss Peil. "I cannot afford to be cavalier."

STAR STYLE

Keeping active keeps 'Love Boat' star slim

By Renee Ross

Cruise ship vacationers often have a tough time staying slim with all the delicious temptations that are usually on board. But "Love Boat" regular Jill Whelan says that the lavish meals no longer tempt her.

"For me, the ship is a work environment," says the actress who plays Capt. Stubing's daughter Vicki on the ABC series. "So it's much easier to stick to my diet than if I was a cruise guest. Plus, I can always jog around the deck!" Miss Whelan laughs, then adds, "I avoid the lavish meals on board. If I don't taste the food, it's not tempting. But once I get a taste, it becomes a problem."

Last month, Miss Whelan set out on a six-week cruise to Egypt, Spain, Portugal, Italy and the French Riviera, where she'll film several upcoming "Love Boat" segments for airing next season.

"I'm looking forward to the cruise," says Miss Whelan. "Even though the trip will be hard work, it'll be fun. It's like traveling around the world with all your best friends," adds the actress, who has literally grown up before audiences' eyes during her seven-year "LB" stint.

Though Miss Whelan stands nearly 5 feet 5 inches tall and weighs 121 pounds, she says she constantly struggles to keep her trim shape. "Weight is an ongoing battle for me," she confesses. "I have a very slow metabolism, but being active helps." Despite her busy shooting schedule, Miss Whelan sandwiches in thrice-weekly jazz dance classes, swimming and gym workouts amid her "LB" responsibilities.

Jill Whelan

"Stay in tune with your body," the actress says. "It gives you messages as to what it needs as far as exercise and diet are concerned. I really believe in the philosophy of 'You are what you eat.'"

The actress plans to continue her health practices on board ship, even though she'll be thousands of miles from home. "I'm bringing along lots of canned tuna," she says, "because I'm not sure what I'll find over there. I like to play it safe."

SHOW AND TELL

Soap star iooks for stardom on prime time

By Gregory Garver

HOLLYWOOD — At the moment, Terry Lester is sitting pretty. The actor, known to daytime TV fans as Jack Abbott on the CBS soap "The Young and the Restless," recently completed a project that he feels will make him rich, happy and successful.

Lester, who's played Abbott for five years, was recently seen in the CBS pilot "Blade in Hong Kong," a film in which the actor played a dashing, Hong Kong-based private eye.

"If 'Blade' sells and becomes a series," Lester explains, "then my character on 'The Young and the Restless' will leave on a long trip and never come back. If he does come back, he would be played by another actor.

"If 'Blade' doesn't make it," he continues, "then I will have the option of whether or not I want to renew my contract with 'Y&R.' (His contract is up this month.) My thinking is that I won't renew — so that long trip for Jack Abbott will probably happen anyhow. If I do renew, that long trip won't happen, or it'll be a short long trip or it'll be canceled at the last minute."

It's obvious that Lester is a person who thinks things out carefully. In fact, he's currently halfway through his ten-year career plan. His goal? To make lots of money.

Terry Lester

"I feel I've done pretty well in the past five years," Lester says. "And if 'Blade' makes it, the next five years are taken care of very well."

In five years time, he'll be 40. And that's the time he'll begin thinking about starting a family. Lester says he can wait because he's been through a lot in 35 years. Some of it's even been good. The former Indianapolis native was a musical prodigy, a high-school basketball star and a brilliant college student who focused on politics.

Then something happened. While at DePauw University, the campus revolts of the '60s hit, and Lester was swept up in them. He shaved his head, shook up his life and revolted.

He became an actor.

Sammy Davis may go for the gold again

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — I congratulated Sammy Davis Jr. on his decision to return to Broadway in a revival of his 1964 hit "Golden Boy."

"Don't congratulate me," Sammy said. "I didn't sign yet. I want to do the play — I want to do the Billy Daniels role, the part of the older fight manager. I want to work with Obba Babatunde, who would play the younger fighter, the part I originally played. I want to come back but...."

But what?

"It's up to my agents," Sammy added. "The producers insisted I sign with the show for one year, but in one year, I earn 3 million bucks in joints in Vegas, Reno and Tahoe. I can't give all that up. So my return to Broadway depends on what kind of bread my agents can get me."

Sammy Davis Jr.

Michael Jackson will earn six figures licensing his name to a line of sunglasses. ... Even though his first guest appearance hasn't aired yet, the producers of "Love Boat" invited Andy Warhol back for a second sail. ... Gay C. Roth Named Tucker Co. Business Person Of The Year

Gay C. Roth, president of Fairfax Sand and Crushed Stone Company, Inc., has been named 1985 Tucker County, W.Va., Business Person of the Year. Fairfax Sand and Crushed Stone Company has grown from a $1 million business in 1976 to a $4.5 million business without ever being "in the red".

Gay, his father and five brothers, purchased Fairfax Sand in 1958 from P. L. Milkint and Earl Roth (not a relative) and started with one plant in Thomas, W.Va. That business has now expanded to four plants with each of the six brothers involved in some stage of the company's operation. The company is now 58 years old.

Gay was elected president of the company in 1976 following the death of his father, William "Bill" Roth. Gay began working at the plant at the age of 18. At that time there were about 25 employees. Now at the age of 45, Gay is employing more than 80 men and women.

The most recent accomplishment of the company is the opening of Fairfax Concrete Products near Oakland. In 1982, Fairfax officials bought what was known as Silver Knob Sand Company and have since installed their own block-making machine and are producing all their own cement products.

Also in 1982, Gay installed a ready-mix batch plant at Thomas and a stone-bagging machine at the Scherr plant. Presently Gay's heading the installation of a ready-mix batch plant at the Short Gap Stone plant, with other expansions planned in the near future.

Fairfax Sand has 43 trucks on the road and numerous pieces of off-road equipment. Along with his five brothers, there are six secretaries and many employees to help things go smoothly.

Early this spring the Roths purchased a movable drilling machine so they now are able to do their own drilling for sand and stone.

Recently a new office was built for Gay onto the existing building to make room for a secretary. Also in the building stage is an addition to one of the garages at the Thomas plant.

Gay's mother, Bernice Martin Roth, continues to make her home at Horse Shoe Run, W.Va. Her other five sons are Weir, who manages the Short Gap plant, Harold and Sam manage the Thomas plant, Cecil manages the Scherr plant, and Willard is in charge of the Fairfax plant at Oakland. She also has two daughters, Mrs. Shirley Parsons of Aurora, W.Va. and Sue Ann Myers of Ft. Ashby, W.Va.

Gay and his wife, the former Virginia Calcamp of Horse Shoe Run, are the parents of four children, Christine (Tina), a sixth grader at Davis-Thomas Elementary; Charles, a junior at Tucker County High School; Crystal, a graduate of Fairmont State College, and Cheryl Musgrove, a beautician in Cumberland. Gay's one grandchild, Nicole, is the daughter of Cheryl and Kevin Musgrove.

An awards banquet will be held on May 31 at the Canaan Valley Lodge to honor Gay Roth for being chosen the Tucker County Business Person of 1985.

Accepts Admission To St. Olaf College

Paul T. Everly, a 1985 graduate of Northern High School, has accepted admission to St. Olaf College in Northfield, Minn., as a freshman for the fall semester beginning in September, 1985. Everly is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Everly and grandson of Carl H. Everly, Mtn. Lake Park.

St. Olaf is a liberal arts college of The American Lutheran Church with an enrollment of 2,900 students. It was founded in 1874 by Norwegian immigrant churchmen, farmers, and merchants as a means of helping their countrymen adjust more successfully to American society.

St. Olaf offers a full range of liberal arts and pre-professional programs and is particularly well-known for its curricula in music, international studies, natural sciences, and mathematics.

Maryland Selected To Receive Fire Prevention Grant

Maryland State Fire Marshal Rocco J. Gabriele today announced that the State of Maryland has been selected to participate in a federal grant project for the development of fire safety education programs in the state. The grant, which is administered by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA), is part of a National Community Volunteer Fire Prevention Program.

The program, which was initiated last year by FEMA's U.S. Fire Administration, seeks to reduce the loss of life and property due to fires.

Fire Marshal Gabriele stated that 10 states have been chosen this year by FEMA to participate in the Community Volunteer Fire Prevention Program because of their high fire death risk. The 10 states are: Delaware, Georgia, Kentucky, Maryland, Mississsippi, North Dakota, South Carolina, Vermont, Virginia and West Virginia. The District of Columbia will also receive a similar grant to develop an urban fire prevention program.

The State Fire Marshal's Office was selected by Governor Harry Hughes to be the single point of contact and coordination for Maryland's role in the National Community Volunteer Fire Prevention Program for the term of the grant.

Three communities in Maryland representing an urban, suburban, and rural area of the state will receive federal funding at $25,000, $25,000, and $10,000 respectively for each area.

The purpose of the Community Volunteer Fire Prevention Program is to increase the scope and effectiveness of local fire prevention efforts through a merger of local, state and federal resources, combined with the resources of the private sector to support new and existing fire safety education programs.

The concept of community-wide fire prevention programs is to stimulate citizen involvement. A local fire system alone cannot control the increase in the number of fires that destroy lives and property daily. "Active volunteer participation by the community and community service organizations can effectively reduce the fire problems in our state," according to Fire Marshal Gabriele.

The State Fire Marshal's Office urges any interested non-profit community organization to contact the office for further information and application procedures. The grants begin September 1, 1985, and conclude on August 31, 1986. The deadline for receiving applications is July 1, 1985.

Maryland Tourists Affluent, Over 40, Well Educated

A survey of 1,078 households which requested tourist information from the Maryland Office of Tourist Development, Department of Economic and Community Development, in 1984 was completed this spring by the University of Maryland - Survey Research Center. There were 685 responses to the survey. Of those who responded, 57% visited Maryland in 1984. The average education completed included college. Average income was $30,000 and 20% of the state's visitors had incomes over $50,000.

The survey also revealed that the average length of stay was 2.5 days and the average expenditure for a party of three was $345.00.

The most visited destinations in Maryland were Baltimore, visited by 54%, and the ocean beaches, visited by 58%, and the Chesapeake Bay, visited by 55%.

The most liked place was Ocean City, then the mountains, parks and lakes, followed by Baltimore. The Chesapeake Bay was in fourth place.

The survey also showed that 63% visited in the summer, 22% came in the fall, and winter attracted only 2%.

Most of the visitors came from Pennsylvania and Delaware, 12% came from New Jersey, New York, New England, and Virginia added 7% each, and 11% came from the Midwest.

Seventy-eight percent of Maryland's visitors are over 40 years old. Over half do not have children at home, which explains the older age brackets and higher incomes.

TCC Receives Federal Grant Of $360,200

Tri-County Council of Western Maryland has received a $360,200 federal grant to establish an energy revolving loan to assist businesses in Garrett, Washington and Allegany counties.

Barry LeBaron, TCC executive director, said the council will decide at its June 5 meeting if the grant will be administered separately or as part of its regular revolving loan fund. The fund was established four years ago to aid businesses and create jobs in Western Maryland.

TCC revolving loan fund administrator Michael Bell said the council applied for the Appalachian Regional Commission grant last February.

The ARC grant was announced Monday by U.S. Sen. Charles McC. Mathias (R-Md) and U.S. Sen. Paul Sarbanes (D-Md.).

According to congressional sources, the new money will be applied to bank and other loans for energy projects and no more than 25% of a total loan could be taken from the ARC grant money.

LeBaron said the energy revolving loan would probably be offered at below market interest rate to qualified local businesses since TCC's regular revolving loan fund interest rate is tied to the rate for U.S. Treasury notes.

According to TCC records, nearly 300 jobs had been created with that fund since the end of March.

The revolving loan fund, RLF, was started with a $500,000 U.S. Economic Administration grant and $125,000 local match from Garrett and Allegany counties. Bell said about $196,000 in RLF money remains available for Garrett County businesses and about $150,000 in Allegany County.

A recent report from TCC indicates that the RLF program helped to create 220 jobs in Garrett County and 74 jobs in Allegany County.

Penn State Graduate

Brenda Renea Thomas, daughter of Juanita Kahl Thomas and C.M. Thomas, Latrobe, Pa., received her bachelor of science degree in chemical engineering Sunday. She is a graduate of Pennsylvania State University. Commencement services were held Sunday, May 19.

Miss Thomas is one of 139 students who graduated from Penn State in the field of chemical engineering, making it the largest group of graduating chemical engineers in the nation this spring.

Miss Thomas is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kahl, of Accident, and the niece of Mrs. Donald Bittinger, Oakland.

Municipalities Feel Crunch Of Federal Cuts

A survey of 57 Maryland municipalities conducted in April by the Maryland Municipal League (MML) indicated that almost 90% would have to increase property taxes, increase user fees, cut services or take a combination of those actions to offset proposed termination of the Federal Revenue Sharing program. The survey was conducted in response to deficit reduction proposals currently being debated in Congress which would end the program as early as October 1, 1985.

Of the cities and towns responding, 37% indicated they would probably increase tax rates in response to revenue sharing termination; 7% would cut services; and 25% would do both. Of those polled, 7% of the municipalities said they would have to increase both property taxes and user fees. Less than 11% of the respondents indicated little or no effect, should revenue sharing be cut.

A third of the municipalities fund police and fire services with revenue sharing. Other services most cited as funded by the program include solid waste collection and disposal, parks and recreation, street lighting, and general administration expenses.

The Maryland Municipal League is a non-profit, non-partisan association representing 140 cities and towns throughout the state. The League provides services including legislation, training, research and technical assistance. MML is headquartered in Annapolis.

Locally, Mtn. Lake Park said it would have to increase its tax rate by 19%; Kitzmiller, 16%; Grantsville, 10%; Friendsville, 15%; Deer Park, 13%; and Accident, 43%. Oakland and Loch Lynn Heights, which use little or no General Revenue Sharing in their operating budget, stated they would not increase property taxes to replace General Revenue Sharing.

The North Glade 4-H Club met on May 8. Karen Lohr called the meeting to order and led pledges. There were 11 members, six adults, and one leader present.

Record books were given out. Andrew Beckman made a motion and Eddie Friend seconded it to go the Washington Zoo. Debbie Friend will check into how much it will cost and get us a bus. The possible date is June 1.

We will clean the cemetery on Saturday, May 18 at 1 p.m. and Thursday, May 23, at 6:00 p.m. Bring your clippers and rakes.

Bring your ideas for the float and booth for the fair to the next meeting which is June 12 at 6:30 p.m. Members should come prepared to give demonstrations on their projects.

Several small craft items for the nursing home for Mother's Day were made by each member.

Refreshments were served after the meeting by Barbara Herbert.

GCAFT The Federation Speaks

Teacher Evaluation of Principals

It's always hard to bring about change in a school system. Everybody talks about the need to attract and retain good teachers, but just getting good teachers is not enough.

Even the best teachers can become useless if they do not receive the support of their administrators. We need to reexamine and improve the relationship between teachers and administrators.

Teacher's don't work for administrators, they work with them. The administrator's job is not more or less important; his job is a different one to perform.

There has never been any question about administrators evaluating teachers. These evaluations give more information to teachers about their strengths and weaknesses. But if we are to have better relationships in the schools, why should evaluations be only one way? Why not have administrators evaluated by teachers?

Categories similar to those used for teachers could be established, such as:

-Exercises authority in a fair and consistent manner.

-Provides instructional leadership.

-Welcomes constructive criticism and benefits from it.

-Genuinely supports faculty/staff in fostering pupil achievement.

-Encourages initiative and creativity by the faculty staff.

How would the results be used? The evaluations of the principal could be kept confidential, made available to any principal who wants them. Principals of schools which may be headed in the wrong direction could be privately informed.

The ideas presented here are not far-fetched. The evaluation process is presently being used in the United States, most recently in Rochester, New York, and in the New York City school system.

So far, what is the reaction of supervisors? Mixed, but mostly wary and hostile. Some groups, especially the supervisors' union, thought it was "attack" and a "slap in the face." Some supervisors feel that there could be abuse and vindictiveness. This should be taken into account, but there is no reason to believe that, as a group, teachers would be less responsible of their evaluations than principals are.

In Rochester, one administrator was quoted as saying, "If teachers begin evaluating administrators, then administrators would push for student evaluations of teachers." This seems to illustrate that some administrators see the relationship between administrators and teachers to be the same as that between teachers and students.

Adam Urbanski, president of the Rochester Teacher Association points out, "That is precisely part of the problem. Teachers aren't children. It's just that they are treated as such by some administrators."

But whether teachers are seen as children or as workers in an educational factory who must accept orders and never answer back, education will not attract talented professionals to such a job. If modern management theory is right, we will never really improve the schools.

Our schools need professionals, both teachers and supervisors. One of the best things a professional can have is a set of peer relationships, willingness to seek and give help, willingness to admit failure when it occurs.

If many teachers and supervisors feel threatened by evaluations, education has an extremely long way to go.

Agency Attempting To Cope With More Budget Cuts

Over the past years the Garrett County Area Agency on Aging has been faced with a series of large budget cuts totalling thousands of dollars in federal funds, according to its director, Margo Van Diver.

Meanwhile, programs continue to be added and they now address a wide range of senior concerns and needs. These include Sheltered Housing, Guardianship, Discount Cards, Congregate and Home Delivered Meals, Social Activities and Personal Care.

Since October Van Diver and her staff have been considering a variety of cost-cutting measures which would protect the basic programs, while meeting funding constraints. Mrs. Van Diver is particularly concerned with maintaining services to the seniors most in need. "We provide the stop-gap services which often permit seniors to stay in their homes with only minimum assistance," she said.

"Such services touch individuals who are most isolated and often physically handicapped," she continued. "While income guidelines are nonexistent for program participation, generally the low income senior population finds the services to be life-savers. We work with a part-time staff and volunteers, and often find we're the only contact the senior citizen has to the world outside his or her home. By working together with the Departments of Social Services and Health, we often can pitch in where the other agencies are not permitted to because of more restrictive dollar guidelines. The variety of services the agency provides touches a great number of seniors in our county."

Adina Drew, Older Americans Act Coordinator, handles the meal and social programs for the county. "Our meal program provides approximately 24,000 congregate and 7,200 home delivered meals annually," she said. Contributions are the backbone of this program; without them we could not provide many meals for seniors. Federal funds just are no longer available as they once were.

"Within the past six months we have also sponsored an indoor picnic, crafts, speakers from the Extension Service of the University of Maryland and other groups. The Health department staff generously contributes time to visit the senior meal sites on a regularly scheduled basis. They provide medical screening to include blood pressure and hearing checks. This summer, these sites will be visited by the Health Department van for more comprehensive screenings."

Despite severe federal funding shortages, the state has recently provided several programs to ease the burden. The Agency has just assumed the responsibility for directing one of these "Home Repair Training Program for Seniors." In this regard, the Area Agency on Aging is seeking eight individuals 55 and over who are interested in establishing themselves in their own home repair business. Rich Tepper, program manager, will provide full details to persons who call 334-2151.

While the Area Agency on Aging is comprised of over 40 individuals, many of whom are volunteers, only two are employed full-time. There is a constant search for volunteers to help with meals, crafts or visitation to the homebound. Frequently there are job openings for seniors who meet low income guidelines. These are state Senior Aide positions, and while the pay is minimum wage, there is a medical package included.

For information, persons may call the Gateway Offices, 334-1330 or 895-5498. There are two coordinators in the county who are available to assist seniors and their families.

AAA Open House Said Successful

The Area Agency on Aging hosted an Open House in Oakland, on Monday, May 20, at the Senior Citizen Center. Senior citizens and residents throughout the county were invited to stop by and acquaint themselves with the programs available to senior citizens through the Agency.

Because May was Older Americans Month with this year's being "Help Yourself to Independence," the various nutrition sites displayed arts and crafts and quilts made by senior citizens and sold baked goods.

In the afternoon approximately 100 volunteers were honored for their many hours of work dedicated to the program and county senior citizens.

Delegate George Edwards attended the festivities and assisted the Agency honoring the volunteers by presenting them with Certificates of Appreciation. Also in attendance was Chief of Police John Sines of Oakland.

Winners of the essay contest "I Remember When," sponsored by the Agency, were awarded their prizes prior to the volunteer appreciation ceremony. Winners of the contest were: First Place, Mary Paugh, dry floral arrangement; Second Place, Alverta Hone, picture frame; and Third Place, Anonymous, writing pen. Prizes for the contest were donated by Green Acres, Proudfoot's and Southern Office Supply.

The Open House was well attended and included visiting senior citizens from Allegany County.

Byron Aide To Visit County

U.S. Representative Beverly Byron's aide, Mrs. Margaret Barkman, will be available for constituents to discuss problems with the federal government, on a district tour, Friday, June 7.

Mrs. Barkman will meet with area citizens on behalf of Mrs. Byron, and will then relay citizen concerns to Mrs. Byron in her Washington, D.C. office.

Tour stops will include: 11 a.m., Oakland Senior Citizen Center, 104 East Center Street; 2 p.m., McHenry Post Office; and 3 p.m., Accident Community Center.

Legal Aid Bureau Announces June Outreach Schedule

Staff members of the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc. will be available to discuss legal problems with persons during February in Oakland on June 4 and 18, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Oakland Center of Garrett Community College and in Grantsville on June 11, from 10 a.m. to noon at the Health Center.

The Legal Aid Bureau, Inc. provides legal assistance in civil matters to eligible persons. Services are available at no cost to those whose income and property holdings are below certain federally-mandated levels.

The Western Maryland office of the Legal Aid Bureau, Inc. is located at 110 Greene Street in Cumberland. The office can be reached in Garrett County by calling 334-8832.

Whenever possible, persons needing assistance should call in advance to schedule an appointment for one of the outreach locations or for an appointment at the Cumberland office, according to the Bureau officials.

Flying Club Is Organized At Frostburg State

A flying club has been formed at Frostburg State College, making the school one of only two colleges in the state with such a club.

Interest in forming a Bobcat Flying Club was met with enthusiasm when 39 students attended the organizational meeting. A Petition for Organization was approved by Don Moore, Director of FSC Campus Activities.

Brooks Honeycutt, associate professor of business administration at FSC and a former Navy pilot, conducted an informal student survey for opinions about starting a college flying club. "The response was overwhelming," he said. He noted that the only other club in the state is at the University of Maryland at College Park.

Honeycutt and Dale Nicholson, vice-president of Cumberland Airlines and Nicholson Flying Service, Inc., met and outlined a program for the students. Nicholson volunteered to set aside a single engine Piper Cherokee aircraft for the Bobcat Flying Club's flight instruction.

"This is a great first for Frostburg," Nicholson said. "We have painted the aircraft in FSC colors and emblazoned it with the feisty Bobcat mascot insignia."

Nicholson has also made available Federal Aviation Administration qualified ground school and flight instructors.

Honeycutt, faculty advisor to the club and a long-time advocate of private flying said, "There are more than 250,000 student pilots being trained in the United States today. Each of these should receive a private pilots license within approximately one year. There is little reason, if any, that mature college students should not participate in an extra curricular activity that is apart from their routine college studies and clubs." FSC faculty and employees may also join the club, he added.

The program includes 40 hours of ground school instruction covering basic theory of flight, navigation, meteorology, communications, safety procedures, FAA regulations, and medical factors of flight.

Each student will undergo a flight training syllabus of approximately 50 flight hours which should qualify the student for a flight check approval by an FAA examiner and the award of a private pilots license.

Twelve members have completed Phase One of the aeronautical ground school and four others have commenced flight training at the Cumberland Municipal Airport. Other members will start ground school and flight training when the college resumes in August after the summer break.

Kelsey Goodman, a business administration senior from Upper Marlboro, was elected president of the club. Lance Tisch, a junior in business administration from Ellicott City, was elected vice president. Other officers will be elected when the club meets next fall.

Social Services Complete Block Grant Report

The Department of Human Resources has completed a draft of its Social Services Block Grant Report for Fiscal Year 1986. The report, entitled Social Services in Maryland, describes the services which are available through the Social Services Block Grant program, who is eligible to receive them and where they may be obtained.

The State of Maryland will receive approximately $50.5 million dollars in federal social services block grant funds in fiscal year 1986. This will be combined with $45.3 million additional federal and state funds to provide a wide range of social services.

Social services are provided to assist with problems arising from aging, chronic illness, physical or mental disability, neglect and abuse, and family and interpersonal relations. Services are delivered through local departments of social services throughout the state, and through a variety of public and private agencies.

A copy of the draft report is available for review from May 16 to June 5 in local departments of social services located in each county and Baltimore City. Comments on the draft will be accepted through June 5.

The final report will be published by July 1. Questions regarding the plan or its availability should be addressed to: Frank Farrow, executive director, Social Services Administration, Department of Human Resources, 300 W. Preston Street, Baltimore, Md. 21201.

Byron Cosponsors Bill To Impact P.O. Closings

U.S. Representative Beverly Byron (D-Md.) announced Friday that she has co-sponsored legislation to require the U.S. Postal Service to make certain considerations of user needs before it can close rural post offices.

This bill instructs the Postal Service to take into account the number of people served by the post office considered for closing. Postal authorities would also have to consider the potential economic impact on the area that would be involved in a closing of a rural post office.

"If the Postal Service determines that the overall adverse impact of closing the post office outweighs any financial savings to the Postal Service, then the rural post office cannot be closed," Byron said.

She added, "I am concerned about the possibility of closing post offices for cost-cutting purposes, thereby putting residents of the local vicinity at an enormous inconvenience.

"I feel confident that this legislation would ensure that no post office could be closed without a careful, judicious analysis of the consequences to the people who use it."

NEWS from THE MARYLAND FOREST, PARK & WILDLIFE SERVICE

MANAGING THE FAMILY FOREST "TREE PLANTING"
by Ernest Metz, Project Forester, Maryland Forest, Park & Wildlife Service

Tree planting of open areas which require little or no site preparation can be an enjoyable family project even for relatively young boys and girls. The planting of old or abandoned fields to desirable tree seedlings offers the family a chance to work together for the benefit of the forest and family team. A warm spring weekend spent planting trees on a family forest will hold the family together now and in future years as they watch their forest grow and mature.

Selecting the kinds of trees and the types of products the family forest is to produce is both an exciting family challenge and a significant decision that will have an important impact on the activities needed to complete the growing cycle. Tree species and product objectives influence the amount and frequency of return besides the time the family must wait until the first harvest.

The Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service operates a forest tree nursery, near Harmans, Maryland. Each year this Nursery provides over seven million seedlings at production costs to the landowners of Maryland. Foresters and technicians will gladly give advice on how, when, and what species to plant that is best suited for each area of Maryland. For larger planting areas a mechanical tree planter is available at a nominal daily fee. Approximately 170,000 of these seedlings were planted in Garrett County this year. Landowners interested in obtaining seedlings for planting next spring should contact the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, Mt. Nebo Work Center; Phone 301-334-3296.

4-H Club News

Country Kids

by Amy Caldwell

The regular meeting of the Country Kids 4-H Club was held Monday, May 20, at the Deer Park Community Building, with the call of order given by President Mike Kepple and pledges lead by Vice President Becky DeBerry. Secretary Amy Friend called roll and read the minutes from the last meeting, dues were collected, and business was discussed.

A discussion was held about the club's bake sale Saturday, May 25. All money made at the bake sale will be used to help club members go to 4-H camp this summer.

The members also made plans to take part in Memorial Day services held at the Deer Park Cemetery on May 26. Club members were in charge of leading the pledges at the service.

Amy Caldwell and Amy Friend made a motion that the club donate $30 to the Ethiopian Relief Fund. It was seconded and they voted to pledge $20 to the relay run for the cause and present Mr. Gary Thompson of Southern Middle School with the other $10.

Members decided to order club T-shirts and orders are being taken by Bernice Kepple.

Extension Agent Alice Hevner showed slides about 4-H camp and encouraged the members to go to camp this summer.

Demonstrations were given by Becky DeBerry and Randy Livingood. Becky's was on "How to Make a Relish Tray," and Randy's was "How to Clean a Gun." At the last meeting, a demonstration was given by Wade DeBerry on "Bees," and by Mike Sweitzer on "The Planets and Using a Telescope."

Refreshments were served and camp forms were filled out. The next meeting will be Tuesday, June 18, at 7:30 p.m., at the Deer Park Community Building.

Consumers Asked To Inspect Home For Fire Hazards

Consumers are being asked by government and industry safety experts to make informal home inspections to eliminate common electrical hazards which cause some 192,000 house fires each year.

Noting that May has been designated Electrical Safety Awareness Month, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission said property losses each year from house fires of electrical origin now exceed $1.1 billion. These fires claim 1,000 lives and injure 10,700 consumers each year; electrocutions kill another 500 persons in and around the house each year.

CPSC said the major sources of electrical house fires were ranges and ovens, household wiring, clothes dryers and washers, electric cords and plugs, central and fixed heating equipment and electric lamps and fixtures. Electrical fire deaths most often involved wiring, electric cords and portable space heaters while electrocutions most often were associated with household wiring, electric power tools, ladders and antennas.

The government's ongoing electrical safety program seeks to eliminate common electrical hazards in the house, particularly those which can be easily corrected by consumers.

The focal point of the campaign is an electrical safety checklist developed by CPSC and industry. The free booklet tells consumers how to conduct a room-by-room inspection of the house and how to correct the hazards.

Consumers may obtain a free copy of the checklist by writing Electrical Safety, Washington, D.C. 20207 or by calling CPSC's toll-free hotline at 1-800-634-2772. CPSC also has a slow-play disc of the checklist for blind consumers.

Cats Must Be Given Vaccination Against Rabies

All cats four months of age or older must be vaccinated against rabies because of the rapidly spreading epidemic of rabies in Maryland, Joseph T. Horman, DVM, the State Public Health Veterinarian warned this week.

Governor Harry Hughes has signed into law a bill that mandates feline rabies immunization.

"Because of their smaller size and inate hunting ability, cats are probably at greater risk of acquiring rabies from a rabid raccoon than a dog is," Dr. Horman said. "The clinical picture of rabies in cats is similar to that of the dog, except that violence and aggression are more commonly observed in the cat, making rabid cats particularly dangerous to humans."

The seven rapid cats reported in the state so far this year exposed 44 people to rabies. There have been no cases of dog rabies this year.

The rabies epidemic which is now raging in Maryland, with heavy incidence in Baltimore, Carroll, Frederick and Prince George's Counties, is expected to become particularly serious during the approaching summer months.

From the beginning of the year through May 15, 97 cases of rabies were reported in Baltimore County, almost twice as many as for the entire year of 1984. Carroll County had 52 cases, Prince George's, 44 cases and Frederick County, 32 cases.

AURORA-EGLON NEWS

Aurora PTO

Mrs. Mary Dean of Etam, a retired Preston County teacher of home economics and presently working with the state, presented a talk on nutrition at the May 14 meeting of the Aurora PTO. She said school lunch programs give the child an opportunity to eat a well-balanced meal which provides the body with foods which can best be used to provide health.

Following Mrs. Dean's presentation, nutritious snacks were served by Mrs. Krista Hayes' homeroom mothers.

Ed Utterback, president, conducted the business session which followed. Linda Martin, chairperson for the fund raising committee, reported that a flea market, auction, and bake sale are planned for June 1, but that donations for an auction have been slow in coming in and many more will be needed if that is to occur. Tables for the flea market are still available at $5.00.

John Lofink was selected to represent the PTO at the East Preston Scholarship Fund meeting.

Representatives of the PTO who had appeared at the Board of Education reported that repair of the band room roof has been contract bid, restrooms will have privacy stalls put in, but the boys' restroom will first have to have a new floor, required by the state fire marshal. The response to a request for wiring to make the intercom operable, it was stated that the whole building needs rewired which will not be done.

Further input at the county level concerning time of dismissal scheduling for next year is needed. Decisions have not yet been made.

Due to the fact that the intercom is of no use without wiring, it was decided that minimum payment will be made to the Board.

Results of the election of officers for 1985-86 are as follows: president, Theresa Newberry; vice president, Bonnie Harsh; secretary, Peggy Spaid, and treasurer, Blanche Snyder. The principal also serves as a vice president with any officers.

Winner of the attendance banner was Mrs. Hayes' second grade room.

IN MEMORIAM

It was the 31st of May, a very warm and sunny day, when Dad walked out the door, never to return anymore. He spent 68 years on the same farm and kept his family from all harm. He was a kind and humble man, serving God in His great plan. Five years have come and gone so fast, but we never do forget the past. Our lives just are not the same, our loss, we know, is Heaven's gain.

Greatly missed
by the family

7. Section 22, sub-paragraph (31) grants the council the power to regulate and issue the numbering of new constructions.
8. 9. Section 31 provides for primary election only when more than four persons file for councilman or more than two persons file for the office of mayor and/or treasurer.
10. Section 32 provides for a term of office for all public officers of two years, but two councilmen shall be elected each year.

13. The new charter provides for an elected treasurer, and a clerk appointed by the mayor upon approval by the council. The duties of the treasurer shall be those generally designated to the clerk-treasurer by the "Municipal Corporation Charter," and the duties of the clerk shall be those generally designated to the clerk and Board of Supervisors of Elections in the "Municipal Corporation Charter."

The Resolution for Charter Amendment was ordained and enacted May 7, 1985.

Tasker To Serve 22 Years In Jail

Russell Tasker, 34, Oakland, is to serve 22 years in the Maryland Correctional Center, Jessup, as part of his sentence for the approximate 12-hour shootout at the J & R Restaurant, Swallow Falls Road, he waged on July 14, 1984.

Garrett County Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer sentenced Tasker Tuesday in the county circuit court to a total 24-year jail term, but two years of the term are to be served concurrently with the other jail terms.

Tasker was ordered to pay restitution of $938 to Sharon Tasker, his wife whom he threatened with shooting at the outset of the incident, and $2,307 to Mr. and Mrs. James Elsey, owners of the J & R Restaurant.

Chief Judge Thayer sentenced Tasker after receiving a pre-sentence investigation which he ordered in court on April 29 after convicting Tasker on six charges.

Tasker was convicted of assault with attempt to murder, carrying a dangerous and deadly weapon, unlawful shooting to avoid apprehension, destruction of property and two charges of assault. He was acquitted of seven charges.

The charges stemmed from an incident beginning after 7 p.m. on July 14, 1984 when Tasker entered the restaurant and threatened his wife, Sharon, with a shotgun. His wife, as well as others in the establishment, left the scene while Tasker remained and began shooting out fixtures,

Judge Rejects Bittinger Plea

Garrett County Chief Judge Fred A. Thayer refused a plea in the county circuit court May 28 after determining the defendant, Edmund J. Bittinger, 49, Swanton, was not able to fully comprehend the full nature of the plea.

Bittinger entered a plea of guilty to misdemeanor charges of carrying a weapon with intent to injure and assault. He was also facing charges of assault with intent to commit murder, malicious injury and unlawful shooting.

Bittinger allegedly shot Homer Wilt, 44, Swanton, in the stomach at about 8:30 p.m. on June 9. Wilt, who was on a picnic with friends and family in the Dry Run area, approached Bittinger who was reportedly shooting a .22 calibre rifle in a nearby open field in the di-

THE FIRST SIGN OF TROUBLE FOR MANY area motorists last Friday morning during the heavy rains and flooding was this stretch of Route 219 South, near the Blue Ribbon Road. The conditions got progressively worse as motorists drove south. The Cumberland area received a relatively small amount of rain, .76 of an inch, compared to the Oakland area which received 2.68 inches of rain, and Bayard, W.Va., farther south, which got a colossal 4.76 inches of rain Friday morning. Several roads were closed until the water receded later Friday, and county roads crews escorted school buses in the Pleasant Valley and southern Garrett County areas to make sure the children got to and from school without danger. No Need To Spray Gypsy Moths This Year In County

Gypsy moth populations in the Frostburg area of Allegany County and Finzel area of Garrett County have sustained approximately an 80 percent egg mortality, Robert Dekker, forest entomologist with the Maryland Department of Agriculture, said Wednesday.

According to Dekker, the cause for the widespread egg failure is not known but may be attributable to the weather. For gypsy moth eggs, low temperatures can be fatal.

In the remainder of Allegany County, successful egg hatch of the gypsy moth was close to 100 percent and defoliated areas are now becoming more evident, especially in the northern sections.

Because of the extensive natural population reduction, the Maryland Department of Agriculture will not be treating proposed spray blocks in western Allegany County and northeastern Garrett County. Blocks that will not be treated include 001-005, and 010 in the Frostburg area of Allegany County, and 001-009 in the Finzel and Big Savage areas of Garrett County.

Dekker reports that approximately 20 percent of the eggs did successfully hatch out but generally their number does not present a defoliation threat. He explains the strategy had been to await the hatch of the remaining 80 percent and then proceed with the spray treatment. Dekker said this never happened.

The successfully hatched 20 percent can no longer be treated with the Bacillus thurin-

Fund Started To Aid Pennsylvania Tornado Victims

Naylor's Hardware Store in Oakland will be collecting donations to benefit the victims of the tornadoes which hit areas of Pennsylvania Friday, May 31.

The tornadoes created millions of dollars' worth of damage in the Albion, Beaver Falls, Cherrytree, Adamsville, and Cochranton areas of Pennsylvania. Tornadoes also hit areas of Ohio and New York along with Ontario, Canada. The death total from the catastrophe rose to 86, with more bodies feared buried in the rubble strewn across 21 counties in the three states.

The American Red Cross set up 27 emergency shelters that housed 1,000 victims in Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania. Pennsylvania was the hardest-hit, with 61 people reported dead and at least 200 others hospitalized. A rough estimate shows 800 buildings damaged.

Emergency aid is badly needed. Naylor's is asking that people donate cash or checks only in lieu of clothing or food. Donation boxes are located at the cash registers in Naylor's Hardware and all money collected will be sent to K.D.'s Army Disastor Fund for Tornado Victims in Pennsylvania. Checks may be made out to K.D.'s Army. There will be a June 30 deadline for contributions to aid those victims.

Runners Successfully Complete 200-Mile Relay To Washington

Twenty-nine hours of continuous running by ten local athletes, covering over 200 miles, was successfully completed at 5:08 p.m. Sunday in front of the Ethiopian Embassy in Washington, D.C.

The 200-Mile Relay for Life was organized by Don Sincell and Steve Hile, both Mtn. Lake Park, to raise money for the local Ethiopian Famine Relief Fund and preliminary figures indicate that the event may clear as much as $4,000 when all the pledges have been collected.

The run began in front of the Garrett County Courthouse at 5 p.m. Friday when Bill Pope, Mtn. Lake Park, pinned a tiny bag of grain to his clothing and began running north on U.S. Route 219. The bag of grain, which was handed off to each successive runner, symbolized the delivery of food and medical supplies to the starving people of Ethiopia.

Graig Abrahamson completed the second leg of the journey by about 10:30 Friday evening, which placed the runners along U.S. Rt. 40 about ten miles west of Frostburg. It was at that point that the run resumed at 7 a.m. Saturday and continued until about 7:30 p.m., which placed the runners in Hagerstown. The relay then resumed on Sunday at 6 a.m. and was completed some 11 hours later.

Tom Ruckert, of near Grantsville, was the first runner on Saturday and completed 20 miles, placing the runners just east of Cumberland at Mason's Barn. Rick Briggs, Friendsville, then ran ten miles, over half of which was uphill on Martin's Mountain. Mark Powles, Mtn. Lake Park, then ran ten miles, most of which was also up steep grades on Scenic Route 40, which was followed by a 15-mile effort by Randy Storey, Oakland, including the long climb up Sideling Mountain. Storey's segment ended just west of Hancock, which is where Sincell picked up the run for the next 15 miles, most of which was along the C&O Canal between Hancock and Big Pool. Pedestrians are prohibited from running on Board Of Ed. Hear Opinions On Split Shifts

In response to the concern voiced by many parents of students in the northern end of the county, a special meeting was held Tuesday by the Garrett County Board of Education in the Northern High School cafeteria. The main purpose of the meeting was to provide better public awareness of the Northern's renovation and the effect it will have on both students and parents. The Board solicited comments about the proposed split shifting plans, and was open for input concerning other alternatives.

The two-hour meeting was attended by parents, teachers, and students from all over northern Garrett County.

Board Chairman Earl Clark opened the meeting, reassuring parents that "it's not like this is going to be forever." He also stated that the most important aspect involved is educating the students. Everyone at the meeting then received a hand-out listing the alternatives that the special committee considered, as well as the pros and cons of each. Dr. Jerome Ryscavage, county school superintendent, explained each item, then opened the floor for discussion, with each person limited to three minutes.

One of the main concerns of the parents was for the safety of their children, who would either leave for school before daylight or come home after dark. One parent suggested that some type of calling system be established if a student doesn't show up in school. That way, parents would know if their child hadn't arrived to school safely, and could take immediate action to locate the child. It was suggested that parents could volunteer to help with the calling to lessen the work for the school secretaries. A bus driver mentioned that if a child didn't get on her bus in the morning, she could go home and call his parents.

Another concern was for young children who would have to wait for the bus in cold

Severe Flooding Hits Area Causing Most Damage In Gorman, Bayard

Heavy rainfall caused severe flooding in the southern area of Garrett County and in neighboring Grant County, W. Va., on Friday morning, May 31. The flooding developed quickly and reached a high water mark in just over an hour, then receded even faster, leaving area residents with mud and debris.

Severe thunderstorms dropped a reported 4.76 inches of rain at Bayard, W. Va., which along with Gorman was probably the hardest hit by the flooding. The amount of rain that fell in Oakland was 2.68 inches. Cumberland, on the other hand, only received .71 of an inch of rain.

According to Randy Shaffer, assistant director of Garrett County Emergency Management, the areas in Garrett County that were most affected by the flood waters were Gorman, Kitzmiller, Shallmar, Crellin and Pleasant Valley.

Several roads were closed for a short time, including Route 560 at Gorman, where a foot of water was reported; U.S. Route 219 at Blue Ribbon Road, where the water was bumper high; the Wilson-Corona Road, where two-thirds of the road was washed out; Table Rock Road, where a large culvert washed out and the road collapsed; the Crellin Mine Road was barricaded by the county roads department Friday night to prevent an accident; and Shallmar Road, which had four feet of standing water. A rock slide occurred on U.S. Route 50, and mud was reported along other parts of the road.

Garrett County Roads Department Administrator Paul Shockey stated that not much damage to the roads resulted from the water in the Pleasant Valley. The extent of the damage seemed to be some plugged culverts and washed out ditches.

Shockey said that the Table Rock Road was reopened on Tuesday night after road crewmen traveled to Bedford, Pa., to pick up a culvert needed for the repair. The Wilson-Corona Road was filled in and reopened by Saturday, according to Shockey.

Shockey felt that the most important task for the roads department, during the flooding and immediately afterward, was escorting county school buses. Road crews were out on the roads and available until all buses were in. Crews stayed out to assist buses until 6 p.m.

Shaffer, of Emergency Management, reported that the Bayard Fire Company was called out at 8:14 a.m. by Grant County Emergency Management to monitor streams. Oakland, Gorman, and Mt. Storm Fire companies sent support to Bayard.

Bayard fireman, Tim Dawson, reported that approximately 10 families near the river were evacuated, several houses were damaged, and the fire company pumped water from many basements. At the height of the flood, water in front of the Bayard Post Office was between three and a half-feet and four-feet deep.

Second Public Hearing On Land Use Plan Slated

The Garrett County Commissioners announced Tuesday they will hold a second public hearing on the proposed revisions to the Deep Creek Lake land use plan.

The commissioners decided to hold the second hearing after reading through the heavy volume of mail received in the past few weeks requesting one more hearing on the plan.

The hearing has been set for Tuesday, July 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the auditorium at Garrett Community College. The commissioners noted they chose that date because it was one of the few free days they had in the next few months.

One public hearing on the proposed revisions was held May 16 jointly by the commissioners and the Garrett County Planning Commission.

Many persons at that hearing requested a second public hearing to allow lake summer residents an opportunity to publicly state their views on the proposed plan update. The commissioners decided to wait until after they closed the public record on that hearing before determining whether to hold a second hearing.

State Health Officials Convey Regrets Regarding Permit Delays

At a press conference Tuesday afternoon, the Board of Garrett County Commissioners announced that they had received a phone call from the Maryland Department of Mental Health and Hygiene concerning the delayed permits for the Southern Industrial Park and other projects in the county.

The commissioners had met with Secretary of Health Adele Wilzack on April 17 in Annapolis to convey their frustration with state regulations and the delays in the permitting process from the State Health Department. At that time, the commissioners were satisfied with the promise that the State Health Department would reply to them by May 1 on permits pertaining to the Southern Garrett County Industrial Park, the Trout Run Project, and Bausch and Lomb packing plant.

Garrett County Development Corporation Director Tom Jones and the commissioners were especially interested in obtaining a permit for the water lines into the industrial park, since they were ready to begin road construction. They said doing the jobs simultaneously would be cost-effective for the county.

At a staffers meeting with the commissioners on May 29, Jones told the county board that he was still waiting for the necessary water permits before work could continue on the project.

The commissioners related their dismay at the lack of response from the State Health Department at a press conference last Tuesday, and media attention prompted Senator John N. Bambacus to contact state officials about the delays.

Information released about the phone call from State Health Department officials included an apology from the state officials and a mutually agreed meeting time and place for the commissioners and

Area Man Jailed On Four Counts Of Sex Offense

A Mtn. Lake Park man is presently being held in the Garrett County jail after being charged Thursday night in connection with a sexual and child abuse offense.

Clayton Lewis Donham, 27, is being held on $20,000 bond after being charged with second degree sex offense, third degree sex offense, fourth degree sex offense, and child abuse by Cpl. M. R. Mattingly of the Maryland State Police.

Mattingly said the four charges stemmed from an incident that occurred in the Oakland area in 1981 involving a minor child. The arrest was the result of a recent complaint and ongoing investigation.

Second Rabies Case Confirmed In Garrett County

The second case of rabies in Garrett County for 1985 has been reported by the Garrett County Health Department. The rabid animal was a raccoon found wondering around the area of Powhatan Street in Loch Lynn late in the afternoon of May 23.

Apparently the raccoon was shot several times with a 22 caliber rifle by Kenneth Paugh. He was not able to kill the rabid raccoon and reported the animal to the police. Deputy T. J. Pratt responded to the scene, killed the raccoon, and submitted it to the health department lab, which confirmed on Tuesday that the animal was rabid.

Health Department officials stated that there was no known animal or human contact made with the rabid animal.

Law requires dogs to be vaccinated every three years. Puppies which have had shots between the age of three months and one year, need another shot one year later before starting on a three-year schedule.

A new law, just signed by Governor Hughes, requires cats four months old or older, to be vaccinated against rabies, and prohibits registration or licensing of cats without proof of adequate rabies vaccination; and to establish standards for administering rabies vaccinations and requiring maintenance of vaccination records for five years.

Because of this new law, the health department may plan a cats only clinic in July

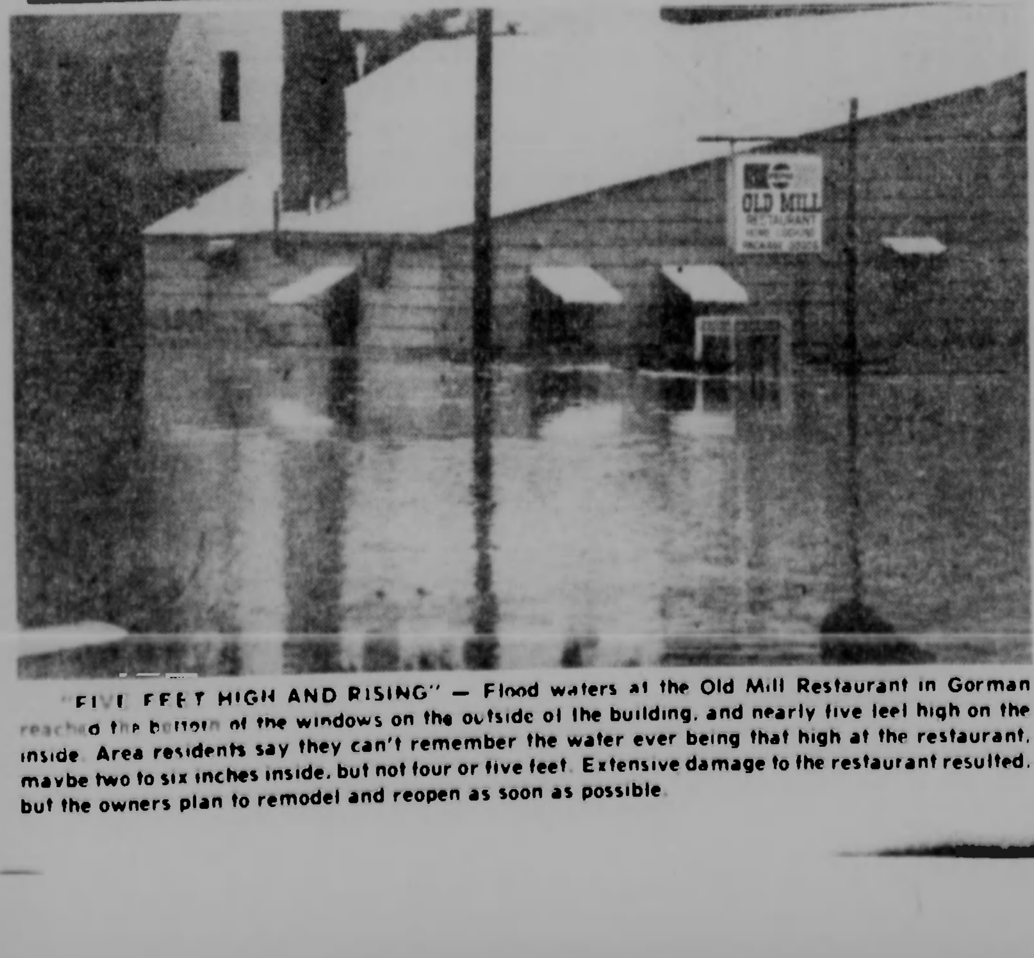
Meeting Slated To Make Plans For World Whitewater Championships

An organizational meeting for the 1989 Savage River Whitewater World Championships Organizing Committee will be held Tuesday, June 25, at 1:30 p.m. in Room 010 of the Administration Building of Garrett Community College, McHenry.

The purpose of the meeting is to assemble all persons interested in assisting with the Championships in any way to plan for the 1989 event. This will also include assisting with races which will be held at Savage River in the years prior to 1989 in order to gain experience.

Savage River was chosen as the site of the World Championship in October by the International Canoe Federation. This is the first time these races have been held in the United States and only the second time they have been held outside of Europe. The races are expected to attract participants from 20 countries and several thousand spectators during the two weeks they will be held.

Anyone having any questions concerning the meeting may contact Cindy Kutchman at the Deep Creek Lake-Garrett County Promotion Council office in Oakland, telephone (301) 334-3888.



"FIVE FEET HIGH AND RISING" — Flood waters at the Old Mill Restaurant in Gorman reached the bottom of the windows on the outside of the building, and nearly five feet high on the inside. Area residents say they can't remember the water ever being that high at the restaurant, maybe two to six inches inside, but not four or five feet. Extensive damage to the restaurant resulted, but the owners plan to remodel and reopen as soon as possible.

WALKATHON NETS $720 — Students at Southern Middle School interested in doing their part to assist the starving people of Ethiopia organized and completed a five mile walk/runathon this past Sunday afternoon. Their efforts netted approximately $720 from pledges which will go into the Ethiopian Famine Relief Fund. The students have still another activity planned for this Saturday, a car wash in the school parking lot, the proceeds of which will also be placed in the Relief Fund. In the photo, left to right, front row, are Lance Beahm and Doug Collins. In the second row, same order, are Ruth Evans, Amy Madigan, Ann Umstot, Teresa Lumpkin, and Clarence Sliger. In the third row, same order, are Crystal Coddington, Shirley Schrock, Aeria Lumpkin, Pam Legeer, and Melissa Livengood. In the fourth row, same order, are Jolanda Walkling, Billie Jo Schrock, Roger Tasker, Wayne Shreve, Randy Streets, John Thorhauer, and Paul Briggs, physical education teacher who accompanied the walkers. Not present for the photo were Connie Schrock and teacher Jane Metz.

Headon Collision Sends Two To Local Hospital

Two people were injured and transported to Garrett Memorial Hospital Monday afternoon following a two-vehicle accident on Rt. 39 near Crellin.

Taken to the hospital were Betty L. Sisler, 17, and Samuel Sisler, 4, both of Oakland.

According to reports filed by the Maryland State Police, the two were involved in a headon collision at 12:32 p.m. which occurred when Timothy K. Sanders, Terra Alta, W. Va., the operator of a 1977 Jeep, failed to slow for stopped traffic, and passed on the left, resulting in a headon collision with the 1975 Ford Granada driven by Sisler.

Garrett County Emergency Management sent Oakland firemen and the Southern Rescue Squad to the scene. The Medevac helicopter was notified and later cancelled.

Another accident last Thursday sent one man to Garrett Memorial Hospital after he sustained facial injuries in the two-vehicle mishap.

Ray Charles Lippai, 30, West Mifflin, Pa., was taken to the hospital by the Northern Rescue Squad following the 3:00 p.m. accident which occurred when the 1983 Harley-Davidson motorcycle he was operating struck a 1978 Dodge Power Wagon operated by Kenneth B. Sukow, 30, Accident.

Tfc. D.W. Broadwater of the Maryland State Police investigated the mishap and said Lippai was traveling north on U.S. Route 219 and collided with the Sukow pickup when it made a left turn into a private drive, crossing the northbound lane. Sukow was charged with failure to grant right-of-way.

Garrett County Emergency management also dispatched Accident firemen to the scene.

Although details were sketchy at press time, State Police at McHenry reported another accident yesterday on Rt. 42 near Friendsville.

Tfc. L.R. Rosage investigated and said that John R. Magruder, 39, Barton, was treated at Sacred Heart Hospital, Cumberland, following the 10:42 a.m. mishap.

Reportedly, Magruder was operating a dump truck north on Rt. 42 when he lost control of the vehicle. It traveled to the right shoulder, striking the embankment, returned to the northbound lane and struck the embankment again, causing the truck to overturn in the road.

Garrett County Emergency Management dispatched the Northern Rescue Squad and Friendsville firemen to the scene.

Commissioners Gregg And Groves To Meet President

Two members of the Board of Garrett County Commissioners have been invited to the White House in Washington, D.C. to meet with President Ronald Reagan.

Ernest Gregg Jr. and Elwood Groves were selected from a group of county and public elected officials to be present for a White House briefing which will be held next Wednesday, June 12.

Both commissioners said they were honored to receive such an invitation.

Attend MACo

Commissioner John Braskey and Elwood Groves were in Annapolis yesterday to attend a legislative session of the Maryland Association of Counties.

Braskey was involved with the Maryland Municipal League committee at the session, while Groves attended a meeting of the Landfill Work-group, as the Garrett County representative of that group.

Deep Creek Meeting

Commissioner Ernest Gregg attended a meeting of the Deep Creek Lake Management Office last night to finalize a draft revision of the Deep Creek Lake Management Plan.

The commissioners announced Tuesday that a second public hearing will be held on the Deep Creek Plan on July 2, at 7:30 p.m. at Garrett Community College.

The decision to have a second public hearing was largely due to the influx of correspondence received by the commissioners after the first public hearing held two weeks ago.

Roads Inspections

The commissioners toured the flooded sections of the Garrett County Roads in the Table Rock area also on Tuesday to assess the damage and to inspect work that had been completed. A damaged culvert near the Mettiki Mines was to be completed by Wednesday, according to the commissioners.

County Budget

The commissioners met with District Attorney James Sherbin to review the offices' budget request for the next fiscal year.

An all-day budget session is planned for Friday, according to Commissioner Groves, to "get closer to the board's self-imposed budget deadline, June 18."

Thayer Applies For Appellate Court Position

Garrett County Chief Judge Fred Thayer will today join those applicants seeking the governor's appointment to a post on the Maryland Court of Special Appeals which will be officially vacated by Hon. James S. Getty on September 1.

Judge Getty, a native of Lonaconing, served 18 years in the Fourth Judicial Circuit, having been chief judge at the time of his appointment to the appellate position. He was also Circuit Administrative judge.

He was appointed as judge of the Third Appellate Court in 1983 by Gov. Harry Hughes and was elected in November 1984 in a retention election.

The counties of Montgomery, Frederick, Washington, Allegany and Garrett are in the Circuit.

Chief Judge Thayer has served in the Fourth Judicial Circuit for 8½ years and has been assigned cases on the Court of Special Appeals four times. His first assignment to that court was in 1983.

Thayer noted that although cases in the appeals court are heard at offices in Annapolis, the judge appointed to the position will establish an office in his home county.

The selection process for a new appellate judge could take two to three months, Chief Judge Thayer noted.

A slate of candidates will be selected by the Appellate Judicial Nominating Commission which will forward its list to the governor who makes the appointment.

Chief Judge Thayer pointed out he was not applying for the position out of dissatisfaction with his current work, but that he viewed his action as pursuing a professional advancement opportunity.

AAUW Name Grant Awarded In Memory Of Goldie Bittle

A name grant of $500 has been donated to the National Association of American University Women by the Garrett County Branch of AAUW in honor and memory of the late Goldie Bittle, a member of the club who died last year.

Mrs. Bittle, a graduate of Hood College, came to Oakland with her husband, Foster D. Bittle, and two children in the early 1930s. Mr. Bittle became principal of Oakland High School.

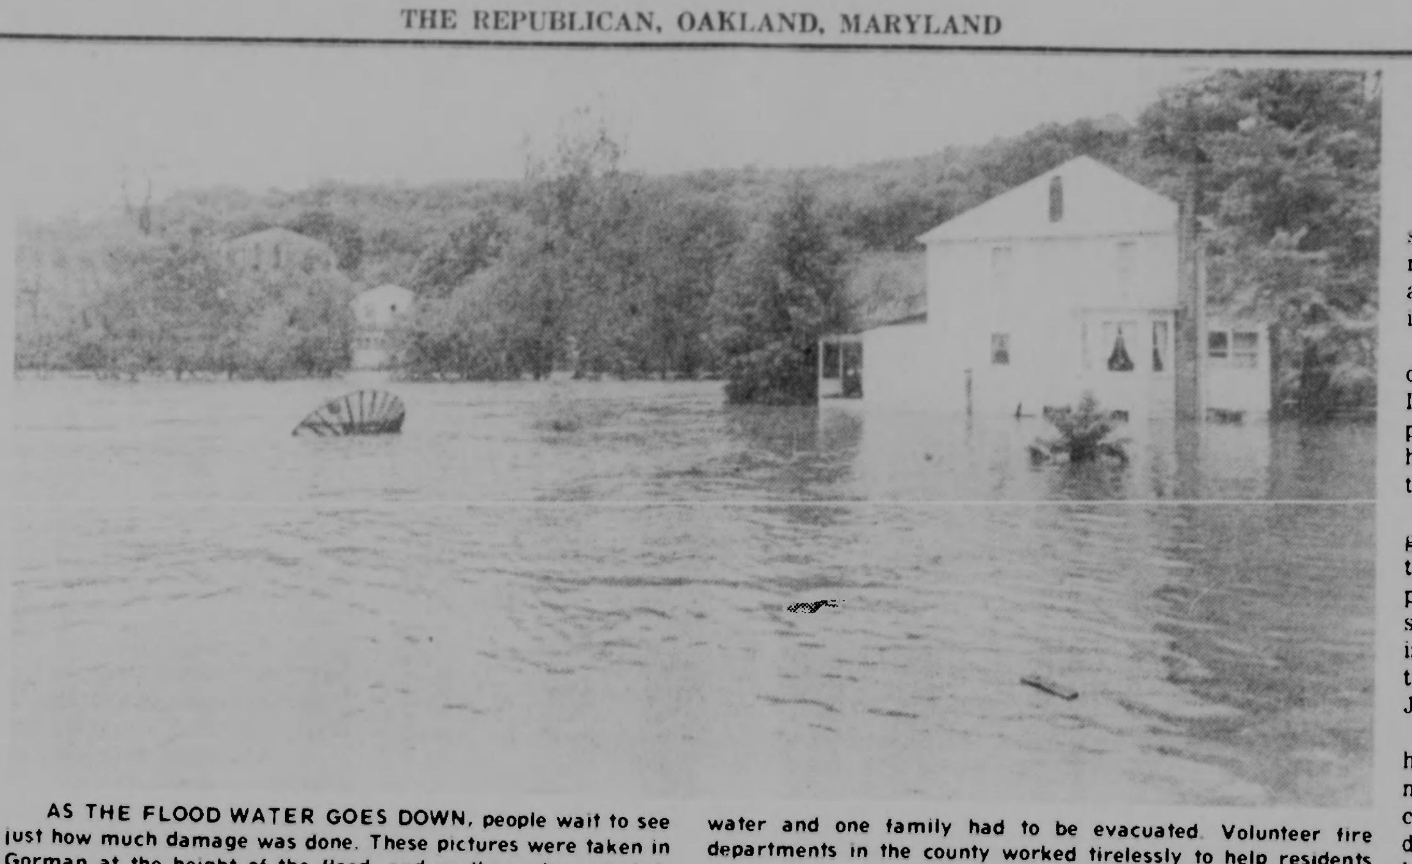
Mrs. Bittle was an active member of the local Girl Scout Troop leadership, taught Sunday School at St. Mark's Lutheran Church where she was a women's circle member. She participated in numerous church programs and repaired damaged hymn books.

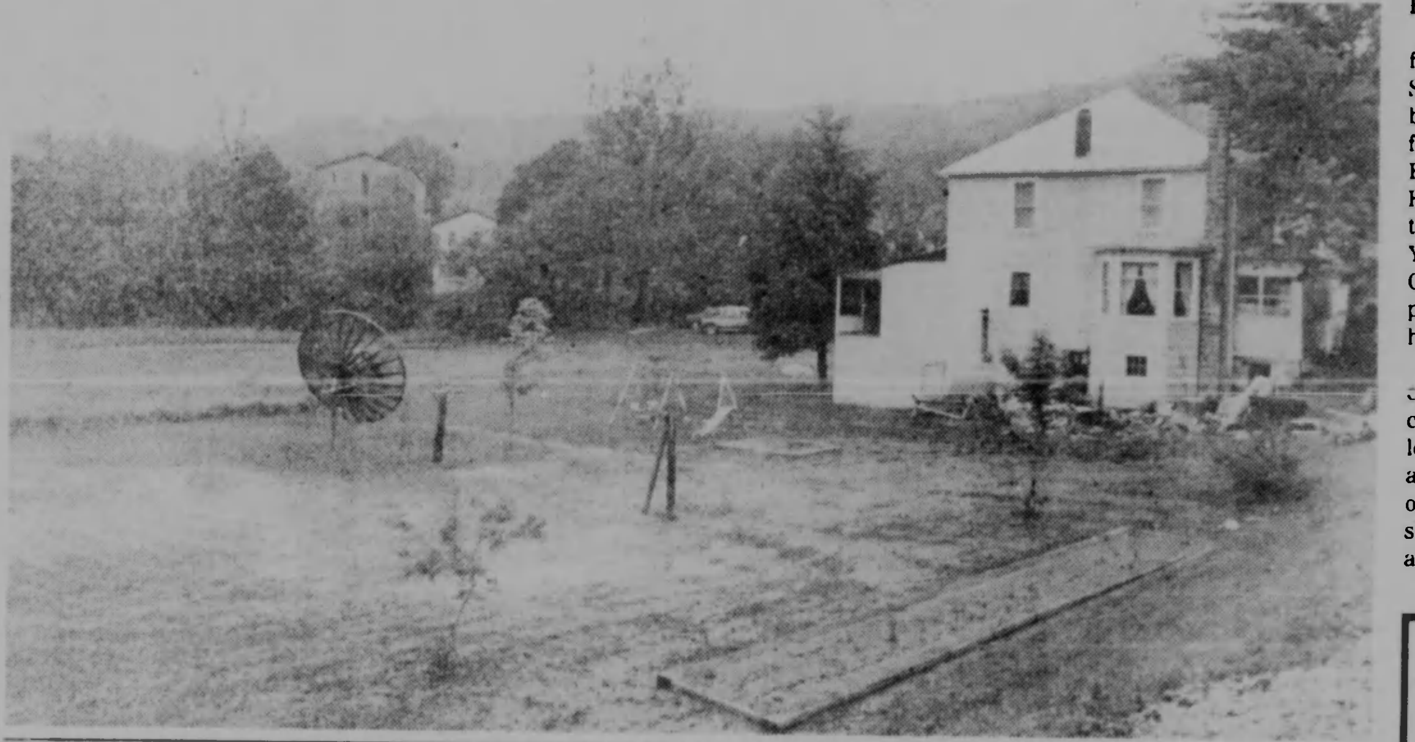
She was also a member of the Oakland Civic Club, the Loar Auxiliary of Garrett County Memorial Hospital, and the AAUW.

According to one of her friends, Mrs. Bittle's most outstanding work was in the field of library sciences. When Southern High School was built she became its first librarian. Her services to teachers and students gained her the reputation of being one of the best librarians in the state. She served from the beginning on the Ruth Enlow Library Board and on the regional library board.

"She was a woman of high intelligence with a sense of humor," stated Edith Brock, Ruth Enlow head librarian. "She could give help without being dictatorial. She sought little recognition for extraordinary service. Though she never held an office in the Garrett Branch of AAUW, her quality of performance made her a valuable member of any committee on which she served."

The name grants are used to further advance study for women in pioneering fields.





AS THE FLOOD WATER GOES DOWN, people wait to see just how much damage was done. These pictures were taken in Gorman at the height of the flood, and as the water receded. Basements on the south side of Route 560 were filled with flood water and one family had to be evacuated. Volunteer fire departments in the county worked tirelessly to help residents clean up after the flood and pump water from basements.

Park Events Set For This Weekend

Several events have been slated for this weekend at Herrington Manor State Park, according to Phil Jarusek, park interpreter.

There will be a hike conducted at Herrington Manor Lake this afternoon, June 6, at 3 p.m., beginning at the boathouse. The walk is expected to take one and one-half hours.

There will be a campfire program at 8 p.m. at the amphitheater located behind the new park office. It will include a slide program showing winter in the park. There will also be a trapping demonstration, led by Jarusek.

There will be a beaver dam hike on Saturday, June 8, beginning at 3 p.m. The hike will include a visit to an old beaver dam and to a new dam. It will last about two and one-half hours and begin at the Swallow Falls office.

There will be another campfire program that evening at the Swallow Falls amphitheater, beginning at 8:30 p.m. The featured speaker will be Jim Ross, a local authority from Friendsville who will discuss the Indians who lived along the Youghiogheny River in Garrett County. The program is expected to last one and one-half hours.

There will be a hike along canyon trail on Sunday, June 9, commencing at the main Swallow Falls parking lot at 10:30 a.m. It will last about one and one-half hours and participants should expect steep grades along the way.

All of these activities are open to the general public. Persons desiring more information may contact Herrington Manor State Park at 334-9180.

Loch Lynn Citizens Discuss Speeding With Sheriff Frank Finch

The monthly meeting of the Loch Lynn Mayor and Town Council, on May [illegible], was attended by approximately 12 townspeople who are concerned by the speeding and failure to obey traffic signs that is prevalent in Loch Lynn.

The citizens had submitted a request for a deputy to patrol Loch Lynn, Mtn. Lake Park area because they feel that the towns are growing, with many children in danger because of speeding vehicles.

Also attending the meeting was Sheriff Frank Finch, who spoke to the concerned group and explained that he has requested funds be added to the county budget to hire a new policeman on the force.

Finch told the residents that an extra man on the force would make it more convenient to patrol the areas of Loch Lynn and Mtn. Lake Park, and help remedy the speeding problem. He stated that an increased amount of calls show co-operation from the citizens, and are appreciated by the sheriff's department, but the manpower is not available to fulfill the calls.

The council discussed the upgrading of the sewer system along Rt. 560 to the town limits, and expect work to be completed within the next three weeks.

Let's Communicate . . .

Most counselors will agree that a lack of good communication between people, particularly members of the same family, is the single most common reason for damaged or broken relationships. The main purpose of counseling sessions designed to help heal the relationship, then, is simply to get the participants to communicate with each other. The counselor encourages the participants to share their opinions and feelings which often have never before been revealed to each other. Listening, an activity which many of us do poorly, is the key ingredient to good communication.

Just as sound, effective communication is essential to a strong, lasting relationship between individuals, it is also important that those in authority grant the general public opportunities to communicate and voice opinion. We are pleased that the Garrett County commissioners have decided to provide another opportunity for residents, be they summer or otherwise, to express their opinions and concerns on the proposed land use plan at Deep Creek Lake.

Similarly, the Board of Education granted a public hearing for parents and students in the northern section of Garrett County to air their thoughts, complaints, and suggestions on the split-shifting of northern students next year during the Northern High School renovation. In retrospect, we believe such a hearing should have been held before the board made its decision. Even if the outcome would have been the same, at least parents, students, and other interested individuals would have been given the chance to speak out and contribute.

We have stated before that one of the main underlying causes for problems at Garrett Community College, in our opinion, is a gross lack of communication between the various levels at the college. Finally, the board of trustees granted an audience for the Academic Forum (faculty) this past Tuesday evening. Although the meeting was closed to the general public, we are nonetheless pleased with this move by the board. Hopefully it will not be too little, too late for the college.

Communication — the key to getting along.

To the Editor:

Early in February, after the Western Maryland Delegation to Annapolis sponsored a bill to repeal the ban on steep slope mining in Maryland (except Delegate William B. Byrnes who opposed the change in the law), I wrote a letter to the editor of The Republican and other newspapers asking those citizens who also opposed this action to write to the Delegation and express their disapproval.

Well, I am happy to report that, although the delegation didn't hear you, Governor Hughes did and last week he vetoed the bill. You who opposed the bill and worked hard for a veto should be congratulated for a fine effort, along with Governor Hughes for his courageous stand. This success proves that the people's interest can overcome the special interests.

DeCorsey Bolden

To the Editor:

The following is a simple solution to the problem of scheduling students at Northern High School next year during the renovation:

1. Retain all sixth grade students at their local elementary school. (All sixth grade students were previously excluded in the grade schools).
2. Utilize the old Accident School for all Seventh and Eighth grade students from NMS. The town of Accident is not using it.
3. Send all Ninth, 10th and 11th and 12th grade students to Northern Middle School.

This plan would save the county thousands of dollars and families and students much disruption.

Sincerely,
Concerned grandparent

To the Editor:

I read previously in your paper of an increase in the prices of school lunches.

I can understand that the federal cutbacks that the increase is probably necessary. My concern is what is being offered for "lunches."

It is my understanding that other than at the K-5 level (especially in the high school) a child can buy complete junk food: or as many of one item as he wants if he has the money, without first buying a lunch.

Children get enough nonnutritious foods where parents have no control without the school system also turning to this type of management.

I'm sure the logic behind this is that the child "must take some responsibility." I seem to be hearing this a lot over many concerns at the school. I agree to some extent, but is it not also the responsibility of the Board of Education to provide a balanced meal for the school children and not to give a choice of that or junk food?

Anyone knows that at least 80% of all children will buy junk food before a balanced meal. I do not feel that so many side items should be sold at the schools and if they continue then it should be only after eating a full lunch.

I'm sure that these items are sold to make extra money to subsidize for the cutbacks in funds, but is it right to go away from the responsibility of the job, to give the children a balanced meal?

It seems that like everything else, making money has gone before the original and important factor of a hot, well-balanced meal for the children.

Eleanor Friend

To the Editor:

The report that the county commissioners contemplate allowing parking lots for mobile homes implanted on concrete foundations fills me with dismay. There is hardly anything that is more depressing than such eyesores. The region around Deep Creek Lake is delightful to behold. Certainly no one who loves Garrett County would want to spoil and cheapen such a lovely spot, and the sly and hurried manner of rushing this proposal to a conclusion before the summer residents can take any action to protect their interests leaves a bad taste in the mouths of a very important segment of Garrett County property owners.

I sincerely hope that public opinion will kill this proposal.

Respectfully,
Caleb Winslow, Sr.

Flooding

According to Dawson, one big concern was Buffalo Coal Company's helicopter which was sitting in three feet of water. A pilot was called in from Elkins, W. Va., to move the helicopter.

He reported one rescue. A doghouse, with the dog still tied to it, was seen floating down the river. Dawson said that someone waded out and cut the dog loose so it could swim to safety.

The Gorman Fire Department spent much of its time helping people get through the water, according to fireman Edgar Uphold. He said that traffic on the temporary bridge across the Potomac River was limited to two vehicles at a time to prevent a problem. Water was lapping against the sides of the bridge when the flood crested.

Uphold said the water came up fast and filled the creek that runs into the river. Basements on the south side of Route 560 were filled and one family living between the creek and the river had to be evacuated. Several houses along the river had the basements full of water and two cars were completely covered during the flood.

The Old Mill Restaurant in Gorman was severely damaged by flood waters. Waters reached four feet inside the building and right up to the bottom of the windows on the outside.

The restaurant has been owned since December by Carl Richard Ford Sr. and his wife, Rosalie, and their son, Carl Richard Ford Jr. and his wife, Joan. According to Joan, extensive repairs must be made to the inside of the building. Tile must be replaced, new carpet installed, walls repaired, and all of the restaurant's inventory was lost in the flood. The owners are estimating a $30,000 loss.

Joan said that residents who have lived in the area longer than they have can't remember the water ever being higher at the restaurant, maybe two to six inches, not three to four feet.

The Fords also reported that the flooding happened very fast. In approximately one hour after it started, those leaving the restaurant were wading in deep water.

They credit the Gorman Fire Department for a lot of help. They came Friday afternoon and hosed four or five inches of mud from the parking lot. Then on Saturday, after all the refuse had been hauled away from inside of the building by Fazenbaker's garbage trucks, the firemen returned and scraped several inches of mud from the inside of the restaurant.

The Fords assured the public that they will remodel the restaurant and have a grand reopening as soon as possible. They and some other homeowners are experiencing some difficulties with the flood insurance companies. They are apparently covered, but have been told they may have to wait about three weeks for their first insurance payment.

Many other homes along the river had their basements flooded and some food supplies may have been damaged. Another article in today's issue explains some guidlines for dealing with food supplies exposed to flood waters.

Shallmar was another hard-hit area, according to Shaffer. The Kitzmiller Fire Department went out to pump basements, and ended up asking for some evacuations in Shallmar. Shaffer was unsure if anyone was actually evaucated.

Shaffer reported one emergency. Apparently two tanks, one holding diesel fuel and the other anhydrous ammonia, broke loose from the area of the Buffalo Coal Company tipple in Shallmar and traveled down the river. An unidentified man was reported to have been trying to shut the valve off on the ammonia tank when he inhaled the gas. Elk District Ambulance Service met the Garrett County Rescue Squad, who transported the man the rest of the way to Garrett Memorial Hospital, where he was treated for inhalation of ammonia fumes.

The Oakland Fire Department spent all day Friday pumping out basements in the area from Gortner to Red House on Route 219.

Emergency Management Director Brad Frantz monitored roads in the Pleasant Valley, Red House, Gorman, and Shallmar areas before noon, and continued to travel throughout the flooded areas during the day monitoring the road conditions. At approximately 3:30 p.m. Shaffer and Frantz went to Gorman and Shallmar to check the conditions and found that the water had receded.

The Underwood Road and the Mansfield Road were both closed for a time and traffic had to be rerouted.

The continuing rain, which has been hard at times, has made the water level rise again, but only slightly, and residents of the area are left with the task of cleaning up as the water level receded again to normal.

Split Shifts

weather. It was explained that the decision to let elementary school children go on the first shift was made for several reasons. One was that, on mornings of bad weather, the younger children would not go to school at all, because it would not be beneficial to just have delays. Also, if the high school students go to school on the second shift, there would be more chance of the weather clearing up enough for them to go to school. This will insure that the students attend school enough hours and get enough credits to graduate.

One parent accused the board of just considering material aspects of the renovation and asked, "How will it affect the kids?" Clark assured her that the children will still be getting their education.

Dr. Ryscavage explained how classes will be changed. The middle school students will be reduced to a six-period day instead of eight. The two eliminated classes would most likely be silent sustained reading and related arts classes. High school students will have the same number of classes, but they will be shortened by ten minutes. There will be some loss of time, but the essence of the program will remain intact.

A question was raised about using money which would normally go for transportation in other areas. Mike Sines, Supervisor of Transportation, explained that the money which is allocated for transportation cannot be used for anything else. The law only provides for the money to be used for transportation, and if it is not all used in one year, it is carried over to the next.

One parent said that if the board continues to agree with the split shift decision, his children will not be attending Northern next year.

Several high school students also got involved in the discussion. A letter was read stating that the majority of the high school students are in favor of split shifting, and listed several reasons. The letter included the signatures of 149 students.

Students and parents alike stressed the need of everyone to work together on the project, and that sacrifices will have to be made, but the end result will be beneficial. A ninth grade student stated that the parents need to show their children how to work together. "If it has to be, it has to be, and I'll do my best to put up with it," she stated.

A parent who will have one child in each of the three schools next year said, "We should look at this project as more of a challenge than an inconvenience." She also mentioned that people should look at the positve aspects rather than the negative.

Don Douds, athletic director at Northern and driver's education teacher, mentioned that he has taught at a school with split shifting before, and it involves much hard work and sacrifice, "but you have to tighten up the belt, and go do it."

Several proposals were brought up during the course of the meeting. One suggestion was to regain possession of the old Accident Elementary School building and use it. Dr. Ryscavage then explained that the building had been considered, but was found to be too deteriorated. The building has been leased to Garrett Community Action to be renovated for apartments.

One parent proposed that the elementary schools contain grades one through six, the middle school have grades seven through ten, and grade eleven and twelve remain in certain areas of the high school.

A student suggested that high school students use the middle school building, while middle school students would attend on a split-shift basis. He also suggested that the lunch period be eliminated to allow for more class time.

Dr. Ryscavage concluded the meeting by mentioning that the board would meet for further discussion, and that more specific details would have to be finalized.

Permit Delays

Assistant Secretary of Environmental Health William Eichbaum, Director of Water Management Administration Richard Sellars, and Mrs. Fran Tracey, public relations coordinator. The meeting is scheduled for June 11, at 4:00 p.m. in Hagerstown.

Commissioner Elwood Groves II said, "I think the State Health Department felt quite motivated to make things right with Garrett County government."

The commissioners announced last week that they had already lost one potential tenant for the industrial park due to delays caused by state mandates. Commissioner Ernest Gregg said at that time, "Garrett County can ill-afford to lose any potential businesses. They are vital to our economy."

County officials are hopeful that next week's meeting will cease any further delays in the development of Garrett County.

Also attending next week's meeting will be Tom Jones and Sanitary Commission Administrator Wendell Beitzel.

Rejects Plea

rection of the picnickers. Wilt reportedly, requested Bittinger to stop shooting towards the picnickers.

Witnesses said the two men were between 20 to 30 feet apart when the shooting occurred. Wilt survived the incident.

In December 1984, Chief Judge Thayer committed Bittinger to the Clifton T. Perkins Hospital Center, Jessup, after determining he was incompetent to stand trial. In March, psychiatrists of the hospital reported Bittinger was able to understand the nature of proceedings against him and that at the time of the alleged offenses, he was able to understand the criminality of his conduct.

But, in court on May 28, Chief Judge Thayer determined Bittinger did not understand the proceedings after discussing the charges and the consequences of his guilty plea. The judge also did not accept the request to withdraw a plea of not guilty of all charges due to insanity.

The judge then withdrew himself from further hearing the case because of the amount of testimony he heard from Bittinger. District Court Judge Jack Turney has agreed to hear the case in the future.

Reportedly, Bittinger had appeared to understand the charges and plea a few days before the hearing, but was not able to on the day of the hearing.

Bittinger was represented by Michael Morrissette, an Oakland attorney.

Meeting Of Retired School Group Slated

A meeting of the Retired School Personnel of Preston County will be held in the Ambulance Building, Tunnelton, on Tuesday, June 11, at noon. Reservations should be phoned in to Jean Maukins (568-4469) as soon as possible. The program will be presented by Mrs. Darrell (Mary) Dean.

The meeting was originally slated to be held at the Methodist Church.

Guidelines For Using Food Exposed To Flood Waters And Contamination

Editor's note: The following was received from the Grant County, W. Va., Health Department regarding guidelines dealing with private food supplies exposed to flood waters. On May 31, areas of Grant County, as well as areas of Garrett County, were hit with high flood water and many private homes were affected. It is hoped that these guidelines might answer homeowners' questions about affected food supplies.

FOOD - PRIVATE SUPPLIES

During emergencies, such as flood disasters, many problems may arise in food supplies which have been flooded. When confronted with such emergencies, it may become necessary to deal with water-soaked material, material contaminated by sewage or questionable water, and filth and dirt contamination.

It is very important that you take every precaution to prevent consuming foods that have been contaminated for the protection of your health. All such foods that in anyway may be suspected of being contaminated should be destroyed as soon as possible by burying two feet underground or other satisfactory means. If you desire more information regarding your food supply or disposal of flooded foodstuff, please contact your local health department.

The following may serve as a guide for you in solving your food supply problems.

FRESH FRUITS AND VEGETABLES

Commissioners Approve IRB For IBMI Expansion

The Board of Garrett County Commissioners Tuesday signed an inducement to issue a $900,000 Industrial Revenue Bond for Integrated Business Methods, Inc., Oakland. The bond would be used for the expansion of data entry facilities at IMBI, located in the Mountaintop Chamber of Commerce Industrial Park.

IMBI plans to immediately build some 8,000 square feet of new data entry space at its Oakland plant. The company is currently adding approximately 60 new jobs to its work force. The company has been in continuous operation in Oakland for nearly 17 years. Most of the existing plant space will be dedicated to the "mass mailing" component of the company's business.

Industrial Revenue Bonds permit a business to obtain reduced interest rates with certain tax advantages. It does not require the full faith or credit of the county.

The $900,000 bond requested by IBMI will deplete the 1985 allocation of $2,017,500 to the county, assuming that all prior revenue bonds which have been approved are purchased by a financial institution.

The commissioners said they felt confident that the expansion of IBMI was a worthwhile project since it would create 60 new jobs in the county.

OFF AND RUNNING to begin the 200-Mile Relay for Life to benefit the Ethiopian Famine Relief Fund was Dr. William Pope, Mtn. Lake Park. Pope was the first of ten local runners who participated in the long trek from the Garrett County Courthouse in Oakland to the Ethiopian Embassy in Washington, D.C. The relay involved some 29 hours of continuous running, beginning at 5 p.m. Friday and ending at about 5 p.m. Sunday. They did not run during the night. Pledges for the relay, which are now being collected, amount to approximately $4,000.

"YOU THINK YOU HAD IT ROUGH? Look at what I have to climb!" might have been the words of Rick Briggs, center, directed at Tom Ruckert, left, who had just completed 20 miles of running in the Relay for Life Saturday morning. Ruckert's segment ended just east of Mason's Barn near the base of Martin's Mountain along Route 40. At right above is another participating runner, Randy Storey. Below, after finishing ten miles, seven of which were uphill, Briggs receives some attention from trainer Frank Custer. Briggs ran his second ten-mile segment on Sunday.

interstate highways, so the runners had to find alternate routes in a number of segments along the way.

At 6 a.m. Sunday, Steve Hile began his 20-mile run, also over hilly Old Rt. 40, followed by a five-mile segment by Storey, putting the runners in Frederick. A five-mile run by Helbig was followed by five by Powles, and then a rigorous 20 miles by Jeff Rice, Grantsville. Briggs then ran another difficult ten miles, followed by five more miles by Powles, placing the runners within 10.3 miles of the Ethiopian Embassy. Sincell ran the final segment and was joined by seven of the other runners with about one and one-quarter miles to go so that eight of the ten participants finished together. Pope and Ruckert had returned home earlier.

The exact distance from the Garrett County Courthouse to the Ethiopian Embassy was 198 miles. With eight runners completing the final leg of the journey, the runners recorded 205 miles. They also recorded approximately 60 miles on a bicycle, which was used by some of the participants to accompany runners on the steeper, more difficult segments of the run.

Serving as driver of the camper and as trainer was Frank Custer, Oakland, who treated only minor aches and pains, plus a few blisters. Custer, a former trainer for the West Virginia University Mountaineers, also accompanied Sincell by bicycle along the C&O Canal, where the camper and lead car could not travel. The camper was loaned to the runners free of charge and complete with gasoline by Brad Stewart.

Sincell stated that the heat on Saturday and Sunday was "certainly evident," but the humidity on both days was not nearly as high as it often is, particularly in the Hagerstown, Frederick and Washington areas.

Also assisting in the navigation of the runners for the final 35 miles of the relay were Barry and Martha (Shirer) Snyder, both formerly of Oakland, who now reside in Laurel. The Snyders plotted a course for the final 35 miles which kept the runners off the more dangerous, congested roadways in the District of Columbia.

Soon after their arrival at the embassy, the runners were greeted by Girma Amare, Counselor Charge D'Affaires, Embassy of Ethiopia, who invited them to his place of residence for refreshments. While there they viewed a film produced by the Ethiopian government about the famine and drought in that communist nation and had the opportunity to ask questions about the various relief efforts, politics, and conflicts in Ethiopia. It was also made clear to Amare that the money raised from the Relay and the other events for the Garrett County Ethiopian Famine Relief Fund would go, not to his government, but to Children for Children of New York City. Amare stated he was familiar with Children for Children and Save the Children organizations and admitted that these groups have been quite successful in reaching the needy people of Ethiopia with food and medicine.

"I believe all the other runners will agree with me that the whole effort was an incredible experience," Sincell stated. "The feeling we had upon completing the relay is difficult to describe. We are confident that our effort will indeed help feed and save some fellow human beings.

"And the visit with the head of the embassy, which was totally unexpected, was just one more fascinating twist to the whole event," he concluded.

Persons who made pledges to the Relay for Life, or who still wish to contribute, may send their checks to Relay for Life, c/o The Republican, Box 326, Oakland. Checks should be made out to Relay for Life.

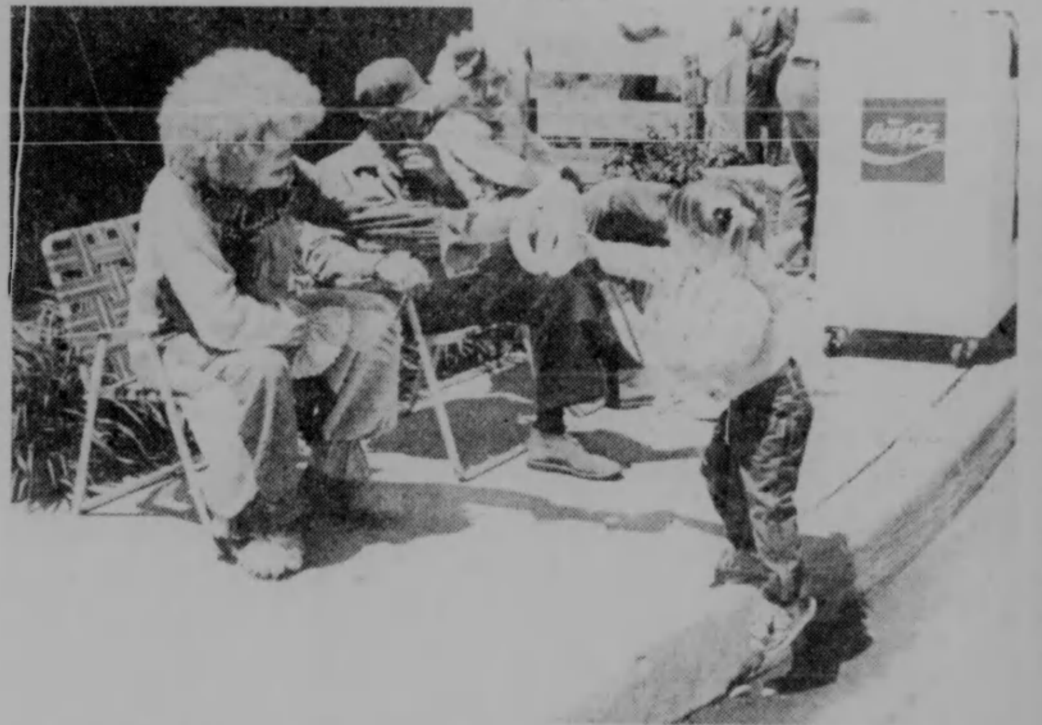
TRAPEZOID, an originally West Virginia-based Appalachian folk quartet that has been soaring in popularity the past five years and now has national acclaim, will present a concert at Southern High School on Wednesday, July 10, to kickoff the third annual Mountain Lake Park Days celebration. Paul Reisler and Freyda Epstein, front, and Ralph Gordon and Lorraine Duisit, standing, make up the quartet which has produced several albums and received overwhelmingly positive reviews all over the country. The group takes the oral traditions, musical styles and instruments of its Appalachian homeland and uses them to express contemporary concerns, adding some swing jazz and pop harmonies at the proper times. The name of the quartet comes from the shape of the hammered dulcimer. "A delightful musical melange" was the comment by the New York Times, while the Boston Globe said that Trapezoid members "hit peaks of chilling beauty." Tickets, which are $5.00 each, will go on sale next week. They may be purchased at Proudfoot's Oakland Pharmacy or The Republican Newspaper office in Oakland. The concert is sponsored by the Friends of Mountain Lake Park, the Garrett County Arts Council, and Garrett Community College.

MARYLAND TOURISM WEEK was observed recently throughout the state and the information center located along U.S. Rt. 48 near Friendsville was a beehive of activity during that seven-day period. On Sunday, May 19, there was a variety of kickoff events, including the arrival of the State Police Medevac helicopter, a program by Trooper Gary Berkebile on traffic safety and the dangers of drinking and driving, a concert by the Ali Ghan Highlander Pipers, pictured above, and entertainment, including balloon sculpturing, by the Ali Ghan Harige Unit Clowns, below. Free coffee and Cokes were available all week long, served by various local service organizations, such as the Casselman Valley Homemakers; the Friendsville Rotary and Lions Clubs; Bill and Hazel Meyers, commanders of the local DAV organizations; and Mary Jones and Ruth Calderwood, local historians. There was also a presentation of country gospel music by Tammy and Pam Brenneman, plus the presence of the Garrett County 350th Anniversary historical display cases. There was a drawing held for a free weekend in Garrett County which was won by Al McIntosh, Canton, Ohio. Free t-shirts, courtesy of Coca-Cola, were available during the weekends. Assisting with the Tourism Week effort and Maryland Promotion programs in general is the Coca-Cola Bottling Company, which is displaying "Capture a Maryland Memory" signs on its delivery trucks, pictured right. Also at right, Ryan Stemple and Ann Andrews display one of the Coke-sponsored t-shirts, to the delight of Robert Kirkham, manager of the Oakland Coca-Cola plant.



Ski Thief Receives $1,330 Fine, 30-Day Jail Term In County Court

A 19-year-old Fairmont, W. Va., man received fines totaling $1,330 and a one-year jail sentence for the January 24 theft of skis at the Wisp Ski Area.

Brian D. Park was convicted of two theft charges in the Garrett County District Court March 12 by Judge Paul Stakem. Judge Stakem, who presided over District Court Cases May 21, handed down Park's sentence after reviewing a pre-sentence investigation.

Judge Stakem suspended all but 30 days of Park's jail sentence. The juge also sentenced Park to 24 months of probation on each charge and ordered that the probation periods run concurrently.

Park is to begin his jail sentence at noon on June 1.

The two charges involved the theft of a pair of skis belonging to the ski resort, valued at $215, and the theft of a pair of skis belonging to William F. Elliott, valued at $450. Both sets of skis were recovered the same day they were taken when Elliott spied them in a car where they had been placed by Park.

Park was represented by John Toston, public defender.

Convicted on the charges were Michael A. Crosby, 19, Deer Park, Gary F. Fazenbaker, 19, Swanton, and Ronald S. Friend, 20, Mountain Lake Park.

Charges of breaking and entering and malicious destruction of property against Crosby were not prosecuted. Also, charges of breaking and entering against Fazenbaker and Friend were not prosecuted.

The theft involved office equipment valued at over $3,000.

Fazenbaker and Crosby were represented by John Toston and Friend was represented by Robert Watson, an Oakland attorney.

Dale L. Beal, 36, Frostburg, was found guilty of an assault charge and found not guilty on charges of theft and assault filed by Wanda L. Beal, Grantsville.

The assault of which he was convicted was against Sandy Valentine on March 8.

Judge Stakem fined Beal $75 and sentenced him to 30 days in the Garrett County Jail. The jail sentence was suspended and Beal was placed on 18 months of unsupervised probation.

Beal was represented by James Braskey, a Grantsville attorney.

Judge Stakem convicted Willa Lynn Welch, 25, Oakland, of falsely reporting a crime on March 16. Welch received a $150 fine and a 15-day jail sentence. The jail sentence was suspended and Welch was placed on 18 months of unsupervised probation.

Oakland policeman Charles Warfield charged Welch with falsely reporting that she had been involved in a hit and run accident on Third Street at the railroad bridge. Welch admitted to the false report after a police investigation in which conflicting information was discovered.

Joseph R. Pyles, 45, Oakland, was convicted on two charges of intoxication, one involving an incident on May 3 and the other on April 17.

Judge Stakem sentenced Pyles to two 90-day jail terms (one per charge), but suspended both terms and gave him two 24-month probation periods to be served concurrently.

The judge ordered Pyles to abstain from alcohol use, to receive alcoholism counseling and to attend Alcoholics Anonymous as ordered by the Probation Department.

Pyles was represented by John Toston.

Judge Stakem found Laverne A. Keech, 40, Lonaconing, not guilty of theft as charged by Arlen Miller, Lonaconing.

Acquitted on charges of drug possession and possession of drug paraphernalia was Richard A. Wright, 27, Grantsville. The charges were filed against Wright by Cpl. Michael Mattingly of the Maryland State Police.

Representing Wright was Michael Morrissette.

David G. Rodeheaver, Oakland, requested that a malicious destruction of property charge he filed against Ralph J. Hardesty, 28, Mountain Lake Park, not be prosecuted.

A charge of disturbance of the peace was not prosecuted against Michael C. Guthrie, 26, at the request of complainant Woodrow A. Jackson, Oakland.

A battery charge filed against Dwayne Shrock, 17, Oakland, by Donald L. Upole, Jr., Oakland, was not prosecuted.

Two bad check charges filed by Evelyn C. Weissgerber, Deer Park, against Getty H. Green, 79, Swanton, were not prosecuted.

A battery charge filed against Joseph D. Durst, 43, Grantsville, by Kenneth L. Livengood, Grantsville, was not prosecuted.

State's Attorney James Sherbin, who represented the state throughout the day, reported his office did not wish to prosecute a theft charge against Ruth A. Warren, 31, Oakland, at the current time. The charge was filed by Cpl. Gary Berkebile.

Cases placed on the stet docket included a battery charge filed against Dale A. Moreland, 22, Gormania, W. Va., by Wendy J. Moreland, Gormania, W. Va., and a battery charge against Randall G. Bittinger, 26, Grantsville, filed by Patricia A. Bittinger, Grantsville.

In cases heard in the District Court on May 16, Judge Jack Turney granted a request by attorney Michael Morrissette to order an evaluation of Bruce L. Whitcomb, 29, Baltimore, to determine if he was insane at the time of a crime he allegedly committed on May 2 and to determine whether he is competent to stand trial.

Whitcomb is charged with stealing gas from Keyser's Ridge Trading Post and with stealing a car belonging to Lila Whetstone. There are also extradition proceedings against Whitcomb by Bedford County, Pa., police who are charging him with the car theft.

ACCIDENT

A new budget, the Central Garrett Industrial Park, the annual financial audit, and a bicycle safety program were among the items discussed by the Accident Mayor and Town Council during their monthly meeting on June 3.

Budget For Fiscal Year 1985-86

The mayor and town council held a public budget hearing at 7:30 p.m., prior to convening the regular meeting on Monday, June 3. Although the hearing had been advertised, no citizens attended. The budget was presented in final by the town clerk and was then reviewed and formally adopted by the mayor and council.

The general government operating budget totals $101,418. The tax rate for Fiscal Year 1985-86 will be $.52 per $100 of assessed property value. The tax rate for the previous year was $.55. Tax bills will be mailed on July 1 to property owners within the municipality. The town anticipates collecting $23,890 in real and personal property taxes for the fiscal year. Other large sources of revenue are income taxes, highway user revenue, Program Open Space funding, and interest.

Expenditures from the general fund include the usual operating expenses, such as $7,210 for street lighting; $12,000 for street repairs; and $5,000 for sidewalk repairs and installation. The town has also budgeted $10,000 to do interior work in the town garage. This will include construction of restroom facilities accessible from the town hall and rewiring and installation of a heating system in the interior of the garage area.

The water and sewer budget reflects the increase in user fees effective July 15 with revenue anticipated at $61,144. Expenditures include debt repayment of $18,250, electrical bills of $8,200, and $6,000 for repairs and maintenance to the water and sewer lines and equipment. For the first year, funds were budgeted for capital improvements and a reserve for emergency repairs.

Central Industrial Park

The town received notification from the Maryland Department of State Planning that it endorses the Garrett County Commissioners' application for federal grant assistance to provide for road, water, and sewer construction to further develop sites in the Central Garrett Industrial Park. The Economic Development Administration would provide $245,600 in federal funds and the county $61,400 in local funds. The town will supply the water and has agreed to provide sewer allocations from the taps that the state allocated to the town for making improvements in its wastewater treatment. Upon successful completion of the additional access roads and water and sewer line extensions, the town would assume the responsibility for operation and maintenance. All of the Central Garrett Industrial Park is located within the town limits. According to Tom Jones, county development director, the county commissioners are awaiting word from the Economic Development Administration on approval of the application.

State Water Permit

The town will be submitting an application to the State Water Resources Administration, Water Supply Division, proposing to increase the groundwater withdrawal from an average of 25,000 gallons per day to 35,000 per day with maximum daily use of 50,000 gallons. The water supply for the town is pumped from two wells having an estimated depth of 300 feet. According to pumpage reports, daily average use for 1984 was 24,572 gallons per day.

Trash Collection

The council voted to renew the trash collection contract with Fazenbaker and Sons Trucking of Oakland for a second year. Household garbage will continue to be collected each Friday under the same arrangements.

Annual Financial Audit

The town will also be engaging the accounting firm of Rodeheaver and Associates of Oakland to perform the annual financial audit required by the state. This is the second year Accident has retained this firm. It is anticipated that this year's report will contain a schedule of depreciation on the fixed assets since an historical search of the records has been completed this past year.

Bicycle Safety Program

The Bicycle Safety Program, held the evening of May 31, was well attended by the youth of the town. The program was presented by Trooper Broadwater of the Maryland State Police, McHenry Detachment. The idea for the program was originated by a group of concerned parents and the request to sponsor the program was made to the mayor and town council.

Several Slightly Injured In Auto, Cycle Accidents

Several persons sustained minor injuries in four separate automobile and recreational vehicle accidents this past week, according to reports filed by the Maryland State Police.

Samuel B. Shaluta, 28, Oakland, was treated at Garrett Memorial Hospital last Thursday and later released after he was ejected from a four-wheeler. The accident occurred when Shaluta was operating a 1985 Kawasaki four-wheeler in his back yard and attempted to climb a steep bank. The motor reportedly stalled causing the vehicle to roll back down the hill. When Shaluta applied the back brakes, the vehicle flipped over on its back, ejecting the driver.

Tfc. G.R. Chaney investigated the 8:30 p.m. mishap.

In a Saturday evening accident, Douglas R. Glotfelty, 17, Oakland, was treated and released at Garrett Memorial Hospital after he sustained minor injuries in a motorcycle accident.

According to Tfc. C. R. Smith, Glotfelty was operating a 1984 Honda in the parking lot at Par-Matt Lanes, lost control of the cycle and struck a parked, unattended vehicle. He was thrown into the gravel.

Willard J. Stemple, near Oakland, escaped injury Monday when the 1979 Cutlass he was operating on Rt. 135 west of the Chadderton School Road began skidding, crossed over the eastbound lane and collided with a sign support pole.

Tfc. R.C. Resh investigated the 9:37 mishap and charged Stemple with driving while under the influence of alcohol and negligent driving.

A Mtn. Lake Park man was charged with driving while under the influence of alcohol and negligent driving following a 2:00 a.m. mishap Saturday morning.

Steven J. Eddy, 28, was operating a 1983 Toyota Corolla on State Rt. 495 when he lost control of the vehicle causing it to leave the right side of the road and strike a fence.

Tfc. D.G. Riggleman investigated the accident and filed the charges against Eddy.

Additional Deer Season Proposals Are Announced

As a result of requests from several organizations and no clear direction on hunter preference for the muzzleloader season options, the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service is proposing a two day Flintlock Only deer season for antlered deer. If approved, the statewide season would be held November 1 and 2, 1985. Deer taken during this season would count toward the firearms and/or muzzleloader season bag limit(s) in each county.

Legal weapons for this season would be limited to flintlock ignition firearms of at least .40 caliber in size and using not less than 60 grains of black powder. The weapons must propel one all lead or lead alloy soft-nosed or expanding bullet or ball at a single discharge. Telescopic, peep, and aperture sights and mini and maxi-balls would be prohibited.

The Forest, Park and Wildlife Service is also considering a proposal that would increase bag limits for white-tailed deer in portions of Washington and Kent county.

For public hearings on these proposals have been scheduled, and all interested persons are invited to attend. One hearing will be held June 12, 7 p.m., at South Hagerstown High School, Potomac Street, Hagerstown.

Written comments on these proposals must be received no later than 4:30 p.m. on June 17, 1985. Comments should be addressed to: Donald E. MacLauchlan, Director, Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service, Tawes State Office Building, Annapolis, Maryland 21401.

Help Us Help You!

Dear Friends,

The Southern Garrett County Rescue Squad is about to complete its 12th year of emergency medical care to the residents of southern Garrett County and surrounding areas. Since our organization was founded in 1973 we have provided approximately 100,000 hours of coverage and administered aid to over 10,000 patients. So far, not one of these patients has been asked to pay for our services.

The only way we have been able to provide free emergency care is through the generosity of people like you. Without the tremendous financial support that we have received from so many of our citizens, our organization would literally cease to exist. Your donations have allowed us not only to exist, but also to grow and improve. As long as we are able to afford state-of-the-art equipment and continue our training efforts, our level of emergency medical care can remain the best available, which is what each of you deserves.

It is our intention to continue to serve you, the members of your family, and your friends, free of charge. Unfortunately, the financial burdens will always be upon us, for the cost of medical and rescue equipment, ambulances, and general medical supplies remains staggering. Utility bills, the cost of building maintenence, and the expense of thousands of gallons of gasoline every year will always be with us.

So again we turn to you, the other part of our team, to request a donation so we may continue our work. We certainly do not expect you to go beyond your financial means and, as always, the size of your donation makes no difference in the magnitude of our appreciation.

We, the members of SGCRS, are proud to belong to such an organization. We are also proud to belong to such a fine, supportive community that does not take our efforts for granted. Thank you for helping us to help you!

Sincerely yours,

Phil Rook
President

Mtn. Lake Town Council Convenes

The Mtn. Lake Park Mayor and Town Council met on May 9 for their regular monthly meeting to discuss town business.

Mayor Russell B. Alexander informed the council of a meeting he had with John Milnor of the State Department of Health and Mental Hygiene, and Wendell Beitzel of the Garrett County Sanitary Commission. Discussion centered around the nine points which Mtn. Lake Park is objecting to pertaining to the Upper Youghiogheny Facilities Plan. The mayor stated that hopefully everything has been agreed to except for possibly one exception, that being the debt retirement. The mayor insists that the debt for this area must be retired through an ad valorem tax. Mtn. Lake Park and Loch Lynn already pay such a tax and the mayor feels that any new areas must pay this tax also. The sanitary commission wishes to retire the debt by other means.

A motion by Councilman George Welling authorizing the mayor to contact the Mtn. Lake Camp meeting Association about acquiring several acres of ground was approved. The town will not lose any revenue by purchasing this property, as it is tax exempt.

The council voted to contribute $400 to the Oakland Fire Department.

Mayor Alexander informed the council that Robert Ridder, contractor for the Broadford Sewer line has nearly completed the job. This is scheduled for completion on June 14. He said that Ridder has done an excellent job installing this line.

The 1985-86 budget was presented by the mayor. It was discussed at length by the council. The total overall budget is nearly one-half million dollars. The mayor said the town is financially sound and he sees no problems with this budget. The council approved a 10-percent discount on real property taxes, asked for by the mayor.

It was noted by the mayor that he had consulted with Robert Watson, the town's attorney, regarding franchise taxes for Potomac Edison, Columbia Gas and C & P Telephone. According to Watson, Potomac Edison does not want to grant the town a franchise agreement. They feel that under the law they are exempt, however, the mayor does not agree as the town charter gives the town the right to have such an agreement. The town is seeking an opinion from the attorney general on this matter.

The county commissioners requested additional information regarding the tax differential that the town presented to them on April 11. The town has supplied that information to the commissioners.

Several zoning issues were discussed by the town council. They decided to proceed with litigation on these cases. Also a final draft of the revised zoning ordinance was discussed and tabled until they have an opportunity to review it.

It was approved by the council to employ four youths through the Summer Youth Employment Program.

Mayor Alexander informed the council he had received a subpoena to appear in district court for the town authorizing the removal of a tree at the corner of L Street and Pittsburgh Ave. The Department of Natural Resources said the town or their contractor was supposed to obtain a permit for the cutting of trees in the town. The mayor felt that under Maryland municipal law no such permit was needed. The district court handed down its decision that the town was exempt from permits, but suggested that they work with DNR in the future to keep them informed of any tree removal in the town.

THE FLOOD WATER CAME CLOSE, BUT DIDN'T GO OVER the temporary bridge across the Potomac River between Gorman and Gormania, W.Va., on Friday morning after the area received almost five inches of rain. Gorman Volunteer Firemen directed traffic and helped people get through the water. Traffic was limited to two vehicles at a time on the bridge, but the structure proved to be sound, and the water receded before doing any damage to it. The flooding developed very fast and reached its high in an hour, then receded even faster, leaving area residents with mud and debris.

Trash Removal Bid Accepted By Oakland Council

The Oakland Mayor and Town Council held two meetings this week, the first to discuss regular town business, and the second to take action on a trash removal contract.

During the regular town council meeting on June 3, bids for trash removal by Perry Petersheim and Guy Fazenbaker were opened. A special meeting was called for the following night, June 4, to consider these bids.

James "Smokey" Stanton withdrew as chairman of the Oakland Planning Commission due to change of employment resulting in a move to Eastern Maryland.

The mayor and council set the tax rate at $1.20 per $100 assessed value. This is the same rate as last year.

Rodeheaver & Associates was the sole bidder to do the yearly audit, and the bid was accepted by the mayor and council.

A letter was read from the State Highway Administration saying that they're in the process of making traffic engineer studies in order to document speed limit changes in town.

Tax bills will be mailed on July 1. Residents will be given until November 30 to receive the three-percent discount when they pay their taxes.

During the special meeting on June 4, the council took action on a contract for trash removal and awarded the bid for one year to Guy Fazenbaker.

Clarification Noted

In a story concerning federal revenue cuts in last week's edition of The Republican it was stated that several county municipalities would have to increase their tax rates if federal money was cut. Actually, the story should have read that if federal revenue sharing was cut, the percentages listed would indicate the loss of income realized by each municipality.

Mtn. Lake Park Mayor Russell Alexander stated this week that he and the town council "have no intention" of raising their tax rate due to federal revenue sharing cuts.

Historically, Garrett County municipalities have used revenue sharing money for capital improvements, rather than in their operating budgets.

Presbyterian Vesper Service Scheduled

The Presbyterians of Grafton, W. Va., and Baltimore are conducting a study to discover the amount of interest in a Presbyterian presence in the Deep Creek Lake area.

An initial meeting was held Sunday, June 2, at the Will O' The Wisp on Route 219. Seven residents of the area attended along with members of the Grafton Presbyterian Church.

At this meeting a Vesper Service was scheduled for Saturday evening, June 8, at 7 p.m. This service will be conducted by Rev. Donna Lee Shogren of the Terra Alta, W. Va., Presbyterian Church. It will be held at Crafty Critters on Route 219 north of Oakland.

Those interested in attending this Vesper Service are requested to bring lawn chairs; indoor facilities will be available in case of rain. The service will be informal with ample time for singing and fellowship. The Shogrens may be reached at 304-789-6978.

Food Distribution Schedule Noted

The Garrett County Community Action Committee has announced the schedule for the next distribution of surplus commodity foods, set for Thursday, June 13.

It was noted that there will be no distribution in Swanton and none at the National Guard Armory in Oakland. Swanton residents are invited to visit the next closest site, while Oakland residents will receive their food at the Community Action building at 360 W. Liberty Street. The complete schedule is as follows:

Deer Park Town Hall, noon to 3:30 p.m.; Old Accident School, Bloomington Fire Hall, Kitzmiller Fire Hall, Friendsville Fire Hall, Finzel Fire Hall, Grantsville Fire Hall, Jennings Town Center, and Gorman Fire Hall, all 1 to 3:30 p.m.; and Community Action building in Oakland, 6 to 8 p.m.

No food will be given to persons without the food surplus commodity card.

Camp Hickory Summer Program Schedule Noted

The Garrett County Board of Education will once again be sponsoring an outdoor education program this summer for those students who are currently in the fourth grade, according to Joseph L. Winters, coordinator.

This program will be held at Camp Hickory, Garrett County Schools' Environmental Education Center, located in the wooded area adjacent to the Northern Middle School.

Activities in which the students will be involved during their weeklong visit include: swimming (instruction included), nature crafts, archery, computers, leaf identification and collection, insect study, plant studies, nature hike, compass activity, stream life, and organized team games and campfire as evening recreation.

The schedule of schools participating is as follows: June 24-28, Accident, Friendsville and Red House; June 30-July 3, Bloomington, Kitzmiller, Yoder, Route 40 and Grantsville; July 8-12, Broadford and Crellin; July 15-19, Dennett Road, Loch Lynn and Swan Meadow.

Winters said students have already received all of the necessary information in their schools to take home, but if any parent has not received the information and wishes their son/daughter to attend the program, they may call Camp Hickory at 826-8461 any weekday for questions or concerns.

The summer staff, in addition to Mr. Winters, will consist of: Lisa Baker, instructional aide, Debbie Friend, Cheryl Stine, Angie Bender, Chip Frank, George Dailey, Rob Germain, LuAnn Gregg, Pam Britner, Diana Savage, Elaine Sines and Louis Newcomb.

RHODODENDRON IS NOW IN BLOOM at the sewerage pumping station at the corner of Route 219 and Lake Shore Drive, close to the Route 219 Bridge, thanks to the Deep Creek Property Owners Association. The work was completed early in May and is made up of shrubs which will add color throughout the four seasons, arborvitae, forsythia, azalea, rhododendron, and burning bush were planted around the fence, with black-eyed Susans between the shrubs. One crimson King Maple tree was also planted off to one side of the station. Since this work was not included in the budget for the sewerage project, the Property Owners Association's objective is not only to make this pumping station more aesthetically pleasing but also to invite other groups and businesses to join in and beautify the remaining pumping stations. The landscaping was done by Charles McCrobie. Pictured above amid the rhododendron are Ed King, president of the Deep Creek Property Owners Association, left, and Wendel Beitzel, Sanitary District Administrator in charge of the sewer project.

Southern GOP Women Convene, Announce Picnic

The May meeting of the Southern Garrett County Republican Women was held on May 21 in the meeting room of the Garrett County Commissioners. President Sue Shockey called the meeting to order and Mrs. Mary Rollman gave the invocation.

Mrs. Schockey reported that, because of the crisis of the Savings and Loans, the General Assembly was called into an emergency session. For this reason Senator John Bambacus, the scheduled guest speaker, was unable to attend and sent his regrets.

It was announced that the annual Republican Women's picnic, jointly sponsored by the Northern Republican Women's club and the Southern Republican Women's club, has been scheduled for Tuesday, July 16, at 6:00 p.m. at the Broadford Park pavilion. This will be a covered dish affair with the Southern club providing the meat and beverage and the Northern Club providing all table service. The Southern Republican Women will also be selling 50/50 tickets for a drawing to be held during the picnic. The Republican Women's clubs of Garrett County cordially invite any interested Republican and their families to bring a dish and participate in this annual event. All elected Republican officials have been invited to attend.

The next meeting of the Southern Republican Women will be on June 18 at 7:30 p.m. at the Oak Park Church of the Brethren. Bill Crawford, chairman of the Garrett County Republican Central Committee, is scheduled to speak concerning voter registration and the function of the Republican Central Committee. All interested Republican women are encouraged by Mrs. Schockey to attend.

VBS Scheduled

Vacation Bible School will be held at the Pine Grove Church of the Brethren in Swallow Falls June 17-21 from 7-9 p.m. Classes will be offered for all ages, including adults.

Northern GOP Women Hear Habitat Program

The Northern Garrett County Republican Women's Club met at Hill Top Inn May 27. President Carolyn Ganoe introduced the speaker, Sister Kathy Arata, Habitat for Humanity.

Sister Kathy came to Garrett County from New Jersey five years ago and worked three years with the House of Hope. The past two years she has been Habitat Coordinator in Garrett County. She showed slides of the houses which have been built and of those which have been reparied. She explained in detail how the system is handled and answered questions.

ed. Carolyn Ganoe reported on the Western Regional Meeting she attended at Burgetsville, May 4.

The National Convention will be in Phoenix, Ariz. September 21-22. The State Convention will be in Ocean City October 11-12.

A donation was given to the Dorothy Kabis Intern Program. Cards were sent to several ill members including Mary Durst and Mary Broadwater. The winners of the chances drawings were: Amber Close, Robert Parks and Harold Fike, Jr.,

The next meeting will be June 25 with Senator John Bambacus as guest speaker. Refreshments were prepared by the Inn and served by Lois Rowe and Carol Frazee.

AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP — Lynda Lucke, a recent graduate of Garrett Community College, was recently awarded the Tri-State Chapter of Phi Delta Kappa's scholarship for students pursuing a degree in teacher education. Miss Lucke, a resident of Friendsville, is pictured left being congratulated on her award by Cissy VanSickle, financial aid officer at GCC. A Dean's List student at GCC, Lucke will continue her education at Frostburg State College in the field of elementary and middle school education. She was presented with the $500 scholarship at a meeting of Phi Delta Kappa at the Maplehurst Country Club on April 20. Finish Carpentry Course Offered

Are you planning to do some finishing work on your home in the upcoming months? If so, a course in Finish Carpentry, offered this summer at Garrett Community College, could be just what you need to do a good, trouble-free job.

Offered Saturdays from 9 a.m. to noon, with a lab from 1 to 4 p.m., the course will cover topics such as wall and ceiling finishes; flooring finishes; stair construction; handrails; door frames and jambs; hanging doors; selection of hardware, mouldings and trims; cabinet making and installation; built-ins, fireplaces and mantles; porches and decks; post and beam construction, and pre-fabrication.

Students will work on a "roughed-up" house, built last semester in the college's Residential Construction class to gain practical experience in the skills.

Instructor for the course will be Dick Bolden, a long-time professional builder and carpenter, and an experienced teacher of the building trades.

SIT, STAY, COME, HEEL, DOWN — These are just some of the commands being taught to the large variety of dogs attending the 4-H Dog Obedience Classes each week through June 25, at Broadford Park. Twelve youth and ten adults are enrolled along with their pets which range in age from six months to "old dogs," and yes, you can teach "old dogs" new tricks, says Garrett County Extension Agent Ted Sprangel, who is in charge of the classes, aided by leader Brenda Thorne. Many breeds and sizes are represented, including small Collies, French Poodles, Doberman Pinschers, Springer Spaniels, and Austrian Shepherds. "Most are doing real well," said Sprangel, "we're having problems with a couple of young dogs, but we've seen a lot of progress in four weeks." The dogs are being taught basic commands: to heel, along sit, along down, to stand for an exam, recall or come back, and to do a figure eight at heel. The last class will be held on June 25, and the dogs and their owners will graduate at that time. All 4-H youth taking part in the class will be eligible to enter their dogs in the District Show and the Garrett County Fair.

Missionaries Of LDS Church Here For Summer

Dr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Blake, elder and sister of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints (LDS), have been assigned to Oakland and the surrounding areas for the summer of 1985. They are two of over 27,000 LDS missionaries in nearly all parts of the world.

Elder Blake recently retired after 30 years of work in higher education. He was a professor at Utah State University, Iowa State University, Arizona State University, and Brigham Young University. He holds B.S., M.S., Ph.D., and D.V.M. degrees. His interests were in nutrition, physiology, and anatomy. He directed the veterinary medical program at Utah State University.

Sister Blake supported her husband and their six children during Dr. Blake's years as a student. They also have 26 grandchildren.

The LDS church has a unique missionary system, according to Dr. Blake, patterned after the missionary efforts that occurred after the crucifixion of Jesus Christ. The services of the missionaries are free and the majority of the missionaries are young men, ages 19-21. Some are young women, ages 21-23, and some are senior couples who have retired from secular professions, such as the Blakes. They become knowledgeable of the Bible, other scriptures, and doctrinal principles through years of learning as church members, Dr. Blake said. Many have achieved eminance in sports, entertainment, business, or a profession, but are willing to take a leave of absence to serve as missionaries.

The length of missionary service ranges from six months to two years. In all cases, they serve at either their own expense or are supported by friends and family members. There is no paid ministry in the LDS church, Elder Blake stated.

The local branch of the LDS church is located at 1022 John Drive, Mtn. Lake Park. The presidency includes Glenroot J. Piper and John F. White, Oakland. The branch is a subdivision of the Winchester State which includes much of Western Maryland and peripheral portions of West Virginia.

Elder Blake stated that the purposes of his and Sister Blake's presence in Garrett County and surrounding areas are to support the church members, help strengthen the branch and stake organizations, and teach the gospel of Jesus Christ wherever the opportunity occurs to members or an interested non-member. They are residing in Oakland and can be reached weekdays at 334-1352, 334-9131, or 334-4759, or Sundays at 334-9552. Services at the LDS church meeting house are open to the public.

Dr. Blake stated that information about the church and its teachings can be found at the Ruth Enlow Library and its branches and that additional literature is available free of charge from Elder and Sister Blake.

CONSTRUCTION CREW- Northern High School students have been involved in the construction of two houses for the Garrett County Habitat for Humanity project. One of the houses was erected on the Old Shade Hollow Road several weeks ago, while plans for erection of the second house are not yet complete. NHS building trades teacher Jeff Montgomery explained that the wall sections and roof trusses for the houses were assembled at the school. "The students were pleased with the concept of being given an opportunity to learn firsthand job experiences while helping members of the community," Montgomery stated. "As the instructor at NHS, I was more than pleased with the enthusiasm the students displayed and their attitude toward this project." Some of the students volunteered their time after school and on weekends to complete different phases of the project. Plans are now being made to assist in constructing homes for Habitat next year, even though the school will be undergoing extensive renovation. "Gifted Children Monthly" Publishes Local Third Grade Student's Poem

David Jones, the eight-year old son of Tom and Alana Jones of Oakland, has had a poem published in the national magazine, "Gifted Children Monthly." The poem will also be published in the near future by the national magazine "Chart Your Course", written by and for GT students. David is a third-grade student of Mrs. Rita Johnson at Dennett Road Elementary School. The poem was a class assignment, and compares the past and the present in Oakland.

David's poem, which was submitted by Mrs. Rosetta Rodeheaver, GT teacher at the school, follows.

Our Town

Our town, our town, has changed so much.
There used to be horses and buggies and such.

Now on the road there are trucks and cars,
And lining the streets there are churches and bars.

People used to live many miles apart.
They saw each other by horse drawn cart.

T.V. satellites could not be seen,
Because there was no T.V. screen.

One room schools were few and far between,
Now many big schools are on the scene.

The roads were constructed of rock and dirt.
You never heard of car wrecks where people got hurt.

People had no electricity to make things bright,
So instead they used lanterns and candles for light.

Farmers planted and plowed to grow their food.
The tools they used were very crude.

Now most people go to the store,
And are able to get much, much more.

There are still farmers and lots of land,
So our town is still very grand.

Art, Business, Writing, Literature, Psychology Courses Offered By GCC

Classes in art, business, writing, literature, and psychology are among the course offerings at Garrett Community College during the Summer Semester beginning June 18 and running through August 6.

An Art Workshop, taught by local artist Ron Skidmore, will be held Monday and Wednesday evenings at the McHenry campus. The three credit course introduces the student to various art materials and techniques, and allows the student to choose one or more media to use in creating an art project of their own choosing.

Courses in Basic Accounting and Personal Finance will be offered by the college's business department. Both courses will be taught by Mike Will, instructor of business at GCC. Basic Accounting will introduce the student to the basic elements of bookkeeping and accounting. Designed for secretarial and business students, and small business owners, the course covers financial statements, journals, ledgers, work sheets, and cost control. Personal Finance teaches an understanding of the elements needed to make intelligent and effective decisions about personal finance. Topics covered in the course will include budgeting, investment planning, securities, insurance, acquisition of property, and estate planning.

Courses offered by the English Department include Composition I-Expository Writing, and Composition II-Introduction to Literature. The course in Expository Writing includes instruction and practice in developing well-organized essays, including the development of a clear thesis statement as an essential element. Introduction to Literature will include work in three literary genres: fiction, drama, and poetry. The course emphasis will be on critical writing about literature, including interpretation, analysis, and evaluation.

A course in Death and Bereavement as well as one on General Psychology will be offered by the Psychology Department. Dr. Lillian Mitchell will instruct the course in general psychology, which includes study of the physiological and psychological processes, the biological foundations of behavior, psychological methods, intelligence, sensation and perception processes of learning, and other elements of basic psychology. Death and Bereavement, taught by Rick Briggs, will examine the psychological, sociological, and emotional aspects of dealing with death, the grief process, and personal adjustment, with an emphasis on the concept of death as related to the individual and adjusting to the death of others. This course will be held at the Oakland Center.

Registration for these or other courses at GCC this summer will be taken at either the McHenry or Oakland campus during regular office hours through June 17. Registration will also be available June 18 and 19 until 6:30 p.m., and Saturday June 22 from 8:15 to 9 a.m. at the McHenry campus only.

ANALYZING A SAVINGS AND LOAN

If you are considering putting money into a Savings and Loan, here are some things that you should look for, according to the Maryland Savings and Loan Division and the Maryland Savings Share Insurance Corporation (MSSIC).

1. Always ask for a copy of the savings and loan's state of financial condition. If the S&L doesn't provide one, take your savings elsewhere.

2. Look carefully at the financial statement. Check to see if there is a good mixture of mortgages, commercial loans and other kinds of loans. There aren't any figures that are correct, but there should be a balance.

3. All savings and loans should have liquid assets. MSSIC requires at least six percent, but many S&L's are more liquid.

4. Look at the net worth of the S&L. MSSIC requires 4.66 percent of assets as net worth. Many S&L's exceed this standard.

5. Don't forget the old rule. Don't keep all of your eggs in one basket. This goes for money in insured savings accounts as well.

6. "The higher the interest rate, the greater the risk" applies to banks as well.

FOOD NOTES

Pork supplies are excellent and since pork is a good way to put protein in your diet, how about trying this tasty stir-fry dish?

STIR-FRY PORK

1 pound boneless lean pork
2 tablespoons cooking oil
1¾ cup water
1 cup sliced onions
1 cup diagonally sliced celery
1 can (8 ounces) water chestnuts, drained and sliced, optional
1 package (6 ounces) frozen Chinese pea pods, defrosted
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 teaspoon garlic salt
¼ teaspoon ground ginger
3 tablespoons soy sauce
1 tomato, cut in thin wedges
4 to 6 servings hot seasoned fluffy rice
Additional soy sauce, optional

Cut meat into thin strips. Brown meat in hot oil in heavy skillet over high heat or in Chinese wok over high heat, stir-frying constantly. Reduce heat, add ¼ cup water. Cover, cook over low heat 12 to 15 minutes or until meat is tender. Add onion, celery, water chestnuts and pea pods, cook and stir until vegetables are hot but still crisp, 3 to 5 minutes. Combine and mix cornstarch, garlic, salt, ginger, soy sauce and ¼ cup water. Stir in remaining 1¼ cups water. Pour over vegetables and meat, heat until sauce is clear and thickened, stirring constantly. Stir in tomato wedges, heat. Serve immediately on hot rice with additional soy sauce, if desired.

Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Film Showing Set At Maple Glen

The Maple Glen Mennonite Church, Grantsville, will present a showing of the motion picture release of International Prison Ministry of Dallas, Tex., entitled "Honey, Your Mama's in Prison." The film will be shown this Sunday, June 9, at 7:30 p.m.

The film provides a look at the effects on a family as seen through the eyes of mothers who have been imprisoned for murder, assault, drug trafficking, forgery, and embezzlement. It was filmed inside the Florida Correctional Institution, Lowell, Fla., one of the nation's largest women's correctional facilities. The entire prison population of 650 inmates was involved in the making of the 45-minute documentary, as were the officers and staff of the institution. Family members of some of the inmates were also interviewed.

International Prison Ministry, the producer of the film, is a non-denominational organization whose principal work is providing free Bibles and books to prisoners in over 6,000 prisons and jails in the United States and Canada.

Ivan J. Maust, pastor, invites the public to attend this free presentation.

Bluegrass Festival Set For June 15 At C&O Canal

A second Muleskinners Bluegrass Festival will be held by the C&O Canal Cumberland boat organization on Saturday, June 15, from 12:00 to 9:00 p.m. at North Branch C&O Canal Park located three miles south of Cumberland, on Route 51. The festival, which is intended for full family entertainment, is named after the old time muleskinners who drove mules, pulling canal boats loaded with coal, grain, and other products, up and down the canal.

A total of six bluegrass bands from the tri-state area will participate, including Tempered Grass, Back Yard Bluegrass, Highland Grass, Hollow Mountain Boys, Sand Spring Grass, and Keystone Grass. They will perform on the North Branch wharf, a natural stage located under the trees along the canal at North Branch.

Dick Yoder of WFRB Radio will be master of ceremonies for the festival. A donation of $5.00 per person is required, and children under 12 will be admitted free. Food and soft drinks will be available, and special activities will be held for children as well as adults, including tours of the captain's cabin and a mule stable on the canal boat.

Parking lot pickers are welcome. Anyone wishing more information should contact John Millar at 726-5132 from 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. or 729-5132 after 5:00 p.m.

7. Section 22, sub-paragraph (31) grants the council the power to regulate and issue the numbering of new constructions.

8. 9. Section 31 provides for primary election only when more than four persons file for councilman or more than two persons file for the office of mayor and/or treasurer.

10. Section 32 provides for a term of office for all public officers of two years, but two councilmen shall be elected each year.

13. The new charter provides for an elected treasurer, and a clerk appointed by the mayor upon approval by the council. The duties of the treasurer shall be those generally designated to the clerk-treasurer by the "Municipal Corporation Charter," and the duties of the clerk shall be those generally designated to the clerk and Board of Supervisors of Elections in the "Municipal Corporation Charter."

Seasonal Park Personnel Added To Local Staffs

Each year the Maryland Forest, Park and Wildlife Service hires seasonal park rangers and interpreters to assist with the day-to-day operations and activities of state parks during the spring, sununer and early fall park season.

This year 66 seasonal rangers and 30 interpreters were hired at state parks. The following seasonal rangers and interpreters from state parks in Garrett County attended two separate weekend training sessions at Elk Neck State Park: Stephen E. Paul, ranger, and William Devin, interpreter, New Germany State Park; Kendall Mott and Donald Rohrback, rangers, and Philip Jarusek, interpreter, Herrington Manor State Park; Harry Miller, ranger, and Kim Trickett, interpreter, Deep Creek Lake State Park.

Seasonal rangers attended classes on radio operations, first-line supervision and medical assistance. They are also taught basic techniques in driving to be used on their jobs, park patrol and report or incident writing. Full-time rangers are available during this session to share their experiences and give advice that may prove to be valuable for the seasonal ranger.

Seasonal interpreters are primarily responsible for creating and conducting the various park recreational, educational and historical programs such as camp fire programs, children's programs and tours/walks. Interpreters may also re-enact an historical scenario to give visitors an idea of what occurred in the past at a particular park site, or they may conduct nature arts and crafts programs as well.

Additionally, over 400 seasonal employees are hired as lifeguards, park technicians, maintenance and office/contact station staff.

Flea Market Slated

There will be a flea market held at the Swanton Community Center during the annual Strawberry Festival on June 15 from 4-7 p.m. The proceeds from the flea market will go to the Swanton Otterbein United Methodist Church.

Anyone wishing to donate items for the flea market is asked to take them to the Community Center on Monday or Tuesday before 2 p.m.

Consumer Rep To Visit County

Larry Munson, director of the Western Maryland branch office of the Consumer Protection Division of the Maryland Attorney General's office, announced this week that a representative will be in the county next week to answer consumer questions.

Private citizens and business owners are invited to meet with the representative Tuesday, June 11, at the Garrett County court house, Room 205, from 1:30 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. Phone calls will also be accepted during those same hours. Questions will be addressed concerning transactions in the marketplace.

Persons who are unable to meet with the representative on Tuesday are welcome to call the branch office in Hagerstown anytime during regular business hours at 1-301-791-4780.

Jefferson-Jackson Day Dinner Attended By 200 Democrats

Approximately 200 attended the annual Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner sponsored by the Garrett County Democratic Club recently at the Wisp McHenry House and were welcomed by President Spencer Schlosnagle.

John Braskey, master of ceremonies, introduced guests attending which included local elected officials, Allegany County Central Committee members, members of the United Democratic Women's Club, and Mrs. Nina Conway, Western Maryland Representative for United States Senator Paul S. Sarbanes, and Doug Mathias, representative of U.S. Congresswoman Beverly B. Byron.

Beatrice Opel, of Long Stretch, was the recipient of the annual lifetime membership in the Garrett County Democratic Club for her many years of service to her community, her county, and to the Democratic party. This presentation was made by John Braskey, after which Opel made brief comments to those in attendance.

Special guest for the evening was Benjamin Cardin, speaker of the Maryland House of delegates, who extended greetings to the group.

The guest speaker for the dinner was Eleanor Carey, deputy attorney general for the state of Maryland, who spoke on the future of Garrett County and the Democratic party, drawing parallels between the two. Carey will be a 1986 candidate for Maryland Attorney General.

Byron, were: key chain, Marjie Broadwater; card case, Delores Turner; pen and pencil set, Helen Baumgartner; tile, Dorothy Spear; mug, Alice Ann Ridder. All door prizes were mementos bearing the seal of the United States House of Representatives.

ROLLOVER VS $125,000 EXCLUSION

What is the difference between a rollover and the $125,000 profit exclusion? The rollover is a means of deferring payment of any capital gains tax if you sell your principal residence and buy another (within two years) for more money. There is no limit on the number times you can use this deferment. There is no age limit involved.

With the other great tax break, you can elect to exclude up to $125,000 in taxable profit from the sale of your principal residence—whether or not you buy another home. This exclusion can be used to wipe out the tax on your immediate profit plus the gains from other sales that have been rolled over each time you sold. However, it can be used only once in your lifetime.

To qualify for the $125,000 exclusion, you (or your spouse if you own your home jointly and file a joint return) must be at least 55 the day the sale becomes final. The home must have been your principal residence for at least three of the five years preceding the sale.

If there is anything we can do to help you in the field of real estate, please phone one of our offices.

Music and walking help keep Connelly in shape

By Renee Ross

Christopher Connelly

Staying slim can be tricky when you spend five months in food-loving Italy. But Christopher Connelly discovered a clever way to beat the bulge.

"I didn't speak much Italian, so I didn't know how to order anything. All I could do was point at the menu and say 'No. 22!'" laughs Connelly, who starred as Norman Harrington in the recent NBC steamy soap saga "Peyton Place: The Next Generation."

"Since we were filming for several months in Europe, I didn't want to gain weight and look too heavy by the time we finished. So I stuck to small portions of pasta and, once a week, splurged on that wonderful Italian ice cream," adds the Wichita, Kan. native, who played Norman Harrington in the original "Peyton Place," the classic series that kept millions glued to their television sets from 1964-69.

Since then, Connelly has appeared in the series "Paper Moon" as well as several European movies and TV films. He explains how he manages to stay healthy, despite a career that takes him around the world.

"I recently worked in the Philippines," the actor says, "and lunches on the set were basically chicken, rice, bread, salad and vegetables. I would just eat a piece of chicken, then spend an hour walking. We were shooting in the middle of the jungle, and it was fascinating to explore," says the 5-foot-8, 138-pound actor.

Connelly says he refuses to let career pressure overwhelm him. "If the stress gets intense," he says, "I go and sit in my dressing room or trailer and turn on some music until I'm calm. It's a good way to relax."

When he returns from shooting abroad, the actor avoids trendy health spas. "Just like everybody else," he says. "I was really into exercise for a while. But I'd go to the gym for two or three months and, one day, suddenly, it would be padlocked — they'd gone out of business. I've joined so many health clubs that have closed down that I'm afraid to join any more!"

Angela Lansbury stars as amateur sleuth and mystery writer Jessica Fletcher in "Murder, She Wrote," airing Sunday, June 9 on CBS. (Rebroadcast)

'Knight Rider' star is back for a second act

By Gillian George

Patricia McPherson

Patricia McPherson is eager to paraphrase a line she learned in college, a line that became her mainstay after she was unceremoniously booted off "Knight Rider" two years ago.

"F. Scott Fitzgerald said there are no second acts in American lives," says the 28-year-old actress. "In other words, you get only one good kick at the can. That idea bothered me when I first heard it, but it acted like a cattle prod when I most needed it. I was determined that I was going to have at least one more act — and maybe more — in my career."

Miss McPherson refers, of course, to the dry spell she went through after "Knight Rider" producers abruptly decided to replace her with the more voluptuous Rebecca Holden. "I didn't let myself get bitter," the actress says. "Sure, it was a smack in the face, but it was just business. Our original producer had died of cancer. I suspect there was quite a bit of confusion and disagreement among the new producers, and that's where this weird decision came from. I tried not to take it personally."

After failing to find suitable work after she was fired, Miss McPherson let her frustrations out in a more pragmatic way. "I bought a house near Marina del Rey and my boyfriend (actor writer James Garrett) and I did all the renovations on it. We tore down walls, added French doors and laid the foundation for a fireplace."

When she wasn't working on her house, she looked for acting roles. Only a bit part in a movie ("I won't name it") and commercials came her way. Then she heard rumors that she was wanted back as computer wiz Dr. Bonnie Barstow.

"I finally got a call from a producer who apologized for what happened. He asked if I'd consider signing on for the show's third season," Miss McPherson remembers. "I said yes almost immediately. There had been lots of fan mail asking for me, and (co-stars) David Hasselhoff and Edward Mulhare had been pushing to get me back."

Now life is back to normal for the actress — even though there's still work to be done on her home. She also thinks Fitzgerald may have been wrong. "I'm having a heck of a good second act after all," she says with a smile.

Linda Evans joins "Dynasty" star John Forsythe as host for "The Kraft All-Star Salute to Ford's Theatre," airing Wednesday, June 12 on CBS. The musical celebration also stars Ricardo Montalban, diva Julia Migenes-Johnson, magician David Copperfield and ventriloquist Bonn Lucas.

It's a great life for Robert Stack and wife

By Cindy Adams

NEW YORK — Robert Stack is coming back to television. In September, Stack and his wife Rosemarie will star in the syndicated "It's a Great Life," a daily half-hour series geared to the housewife.

Robert Stack

"We'll be in 80 percent of the markets," says Rosemarie. "We'll shoot the week's worth on Saturdays, so if Bob gets another show, he can take it."

"We've already done the pilot," says Bob. "Rosemarie and I are the host and hostess. The show discusses what gives someone a great life. For instance, we'll interview Mrs. Abercrombie of Abercrombie & Fitch because she owns five prizefighters. That's the concept of our show."

I don't exactly understand Bob and Rosemarie's concept. I guess they're just smarter than I am.

Blake Edwards' daughter, Jennifer Edwards, and his wife Julie Andrews' daughter, Emma Kate Walton, star in "A Fine Mess." That's a movie. Not an opinion. ... Remember Peter Frampton? The former top pop singer is trying for a comeback. ... The latest edition of the Social Register has bounced Tricia Nixon's in-laws. Mom-in-law Anne Cox, descendant of a signer of the Declaration of Independence, and her hubby, lawyer Howard Cox, are out. Why? Who knows. Who cares. ... Rachel Ward's sister Tracy Ward, who bombed out as a London cabaret singer, is taking a shot at acting.

Raquel Welch's 22-year-old daughter Tahnee Welch insists that movies won't be her life — despite the fact that she'll soon surface in Ron Howard's sci-fi love story "Cocoon." Tahnee says she wants to live in Italy, have 10 babies, not worry about maintaining her weight and feed the chickens. Amen.

WEDDING GOWNS, some quite old and at least one formerly worn by a movie actress, will be modeled at the Spring Into Summer Fun Fair set for this Saturday, June 8, in Friendsville. Several local women will model wedding attire of yesteryear in a program set to begin at 2:50 p.m. at the Friendsville School. Among the participants will be Joan Sussman, Bittinger, pictured above, who will wear her 1903 wedding gown which was worn by Geraldine Chaplin, daughter of Charlie Chaplin, in the movie "House of Mirth." Other events at the Fair include a talent show, a pedal power event for children, a concert by the Northern High School Band, other fashion shows, and horseshoe pitching competition. See story in this week's issue of The Republican for more details.

'Another World' star has soap fans fooled

By Kimberly Redmond

I've been a fan of "Another World" for a long time. I especially like Christopher Holder, the actor who plays Peter Love. He reminds me so much of singer Huey Lewis. Are they related? — J.K., Stamford, N.J.

Christopher Holder

I'm sure Holder would be flattered by your comparison, but the actor is not related to the rocker. The two performers do look a bit alike. Don't fret. You're not the only fan they've fooled.

Can you tell me if Lisa Trusel, the actress on "Days of Our Lives," has ever appeared on the nighttime series "Father Murphy"? — J.T., Poland, Maine.

Yes, Miss Trusel portrayed orphan Lizette Winkler on NBC's "Father Murphy," which starred Merlin Olsen. The show went off the air in 1984.

How was Eve Howard, the actress who portrayed Margaret Mason, written out of "The Young and the Restless"? I didn't see what happened after she tried to split up Victor (Eric Braeden) and Nikki (Melody Thomas). — B.W., Camas, Wash.

Eve hid in a trunk full of Nikki's clothes that was bound for Caracas, where Nikki and Victor were supposed to go on their honeymoon. When Eve landed in Caracas, she was arrested and returned to the insane asylum from which she'd escaped.

Grcsso doesn't cop out when it comes to TV

By Marta Tarbell

Sonny Grosso

Sonny Grosso is quick to admit he's been a lucky man. "I've been fortunate — I could have been a bank guard," says the 50-year-old producer of "Night Heat," the police show that dares to vie for Thursday night ratings against the invincible Johnny Carson.

Grosso's luckiest moment? In January 1962, when the veteran narcotics officer broke a case that gained international fame as "The French Connection." Grosso coasted to celebrity, writing a best-seller about the experience and co-authoring the screenplay for the hit 1971 film.

"It was the largest drug seizure ever made," Grosso recalls, "and it captured everybody's fancy." So, it seemed, did Grosso, who went on to try his hand at acting (he portrayed a federal agent in "The French Connection" and James Caan's killer in "The Godfather") and then at consulting for such cops-and-robbers television classics as "Kojak," "The Rockford Files" and "Baretta."

"I never expected to get into show business," says Grosso, in the no-nonsense, everyone's-a-suspect tones he learned policing New York City streets. "But I always knew I was going to be a cop. I got hooked on the idea back in the prehistoric days of radio. As a kid," he adds, "I made sure I always wore my 'Green Hornet' badge."

As a producer, Grosso stayed on familiar turf. He currently supervises a twice-a-year, 12-hours-a-day shooting schedule in Toronto, Canada. "You've got to work hard to keep the 'human element' present throughout all the excitement," he says. "Otherwise, the women won't watch the show. And if producers don't pay attention to the women in the TV world, they're crazy."

So Grosso makes sure his grizzled detectives take time to do nice-guy deeds, such as helping a single mom's children through trouble in school.

"I love this business," says Grosso, "and I think that's why I'm good at it. It's like my grandfather used to say — whether you're making love or making sauce, you do it because you love it, with every fiber in your body."

ASK ME ABOUT TV

By Val Carew

Please help me, Val. After seeing the recent Motown special and reopening of New York's Apollo Theater, I realize how much I love Bill Cosby and his work! Can you give me his address? — J.V., Jacksonville, Ill.

Bill Cosby

When he isn't in New York taping his NBC series, Cosby lives in Amherst, Mass. But I'm sure he'll be more than happy to receive your letters if you write to him c/o "The Cosby Show," NBC, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York, NY 10122.

I have a bet with my mother that Mama Cass, who sang with the 60s pop group The Mamas and the Papas, never had her own television series. My mother insists the singer hosted a live variety show. Is the $25 mine? — C.J., Stamford, Conn.

The money's yours, C.J. Mama Cass, who died in 1974, never hosted her own series, though she made frequent guest appearances on major TV shows.

I heard about the new film "Cocoon," which former "Happy Days" star Ron Howard has directed. Who's in the film? When will it be released? — P.W., Springfield, Ore.

"Cocoon" opens nationally on Friday, June 21. The film, which boasts an all-star cast including Don Ameche, Hume Cronyn, Maureen Stapleton, Jessica Tandy, Gwen Verdon and Tahnee Welch (Raquel's daughter), is a sci-fi love story about a group of outer-space visitors who come to Earth seeking a secret hidden on the ocean floor.

Something To Think About

DEATH AND TAXES

Benjamin Franklin was quite a sage. In 1789, he wrote a letter in which he was commenting on the new Constitution which was just beginning to operate. He wrote, "everything appears to promise that it will last; but in this world nothing is certain but death and taxes."

Well, the Constitution is still working and it promises to last; and nobody so far has been able to do anything about death and taxes—except perhaps to postpone the one and to increase the other. Still, it is only human nature to try to resist the inevitable. It's why so many people postpone paying their taxes till the last minute, and why they put off planning for their funerals.

The difference between death and taxes is that we know when the taxes are due. Nobody, not even the most brilliant medical diagnostician can tell us WHEN we will die. That's the reason it's so important to plan for our funerals NOW, while there's still time to do it properly and sensibly.

Here's Hoping...

All of us do a lot of hoping . . . a lot of wishing. That's the human thing to do. But, somehow, we all know that "wishing won't make it so."

Living abundantly means more than just taking a chance on life. It takes courage and confidence to face up to our problems, and it takes strength to solve them.

None of us is perfect enough to live without hope. But, is hope enough? No, to cross our fingers and make a wish is not sufficient. But in church, with prayer and dedication, we can find the strength and faith to make our hopes come true.

Won't you give it a try next week?

Amos 4 through 5.

Devotional Reading:
Amos 5:4-13.

The Australian motion picture, Breaker Morant, is a true story of three Australian soldiers who fought for the British in the Boer War and were tried by a court martial for killing some prisoners. From the very beginning of the trial it is apparent that the whole situation has been "fixed" so that the three soldiers cannot be acquitted. The court martial is seeking, neither truth nor justice, but to make these men scapegoats for actions determined at the highest levels of command.

At the end of the picture, despite the herculean efforts of their defense attorney to halt this travesty of justice, two are sentenced to death by a firing squad. The services of a chaplain are offered to the two condemned men, but they refuse, going to their deaths as "pagans," rather than with a representative of the Christian faith embraced by those who have victimized them.

HATE EVIL, LOVE GOOD

While you and I are likely to disagree with their choice, still we can at least appreciate their feelings about the religion that allowed their peers to perpetrate this villainy with no apparent effect upon their religious sensibilities. Obviously, however, and it has always been thus, the fault is not with the Christian's God, but with the Christian. For the "good Christians" of this tragic story allowed the trappings of their religion to become a substitute for the moral sense that is imperative in Christianity.

And, although Amos appeared on the scene some eight centuries before the advent of Jesus Christ, his message to the people of Israel, like that of Jesus, emphasized that God desires righteousness, instead of ritual, deeds instead of ideas: "Hate evil, and love good, and establish justice in the gate" (5:15). We may not be able to agree on our doctrines and our creeds, but upon one thing we can be unified: God despises injustice!

UNACCEPTABLE OFFERINGS

It is hard for a religionist to read Amos' words without wincing:

> I hate, I despise your feasts, and I take no delight in your solemn assemblies. Even though you offer me your burnt offerings and cereal offerings, I will not accept them. (5:21, 22)

For many people — including clergy — that's what the religious life is all about: solemn assemblies, feasts, and offerings. To be told, as Amos puts it, that these are hateful in the sight of God is a bitter pill to swallow.

Yet, if we look more closely, it is not that God hates rituals, but that he hates rituals that have taken the place of true religion. When church activities, programs and services are offered as substitutes for righteousness, then they are an abomination in his sight.

For we know what he really wants from us: "...let justice roll down like waters and righteousness like an ever-flowing stream."

ALL DRUGS ARE NOT EQUAL

Recently, 33 of 36 brands of a particular type of drug did not meet the set standards and in another case a manufacturer was able to show that, in a government study, his drug attained the highest blood level of products made by ten different manufacturers. Drugs may be "chemically equal" but are not necessarily equal in their therapeutic response.

It is the ethical responsibility of your pharmacy to only stock and dispense those brands of any drug made by manufacturers in whom he has confidence. We will always strive by working closely with your physician to fulfill this responsibility.

Litter Along Highways Costs $1,000,000

The litter found along Maryland's highways cost state taxpayers nearly a million dollars during the first quarter of 1985, according to Highway Administrator Hal Kassoff.

That's how much it cost the State Highway Administration to pick up the paper, bottles, cans, discarded tires and other assorted trash along the state's highway network. Approximately 40,000 man-hours were spent in SHA's clean up effort. "This money and labor could have been put to better use," Kassoff said.

"People who litter not only spoil the scenic beauty of our state, but they waste taxpayers' money as well," he said.

"Safety considerations, as well as aesthetics, dictate our clearing the roadways of trash and junk. However, it doesn't make sense to continually pour money and manpower into a stopgap effort, when these resources could be used for highway improvement projects or a more lasting nature."

Fast food wrappers, beverage bottles and cans lead the list of litter culprits. This trash is often tossed by people who think that their "harmless" littering isn't going to hurt anyone.

"The fact is that people who litter are committing highway robbery. In effect, they're stealing from their friends, families and neighbors-other state taxpayers. They're stealing much-needed highway maintenance money," Kassoff said.

SHA Public Affairs Officer Russ Ulrich says there are steps that motorists can take to help keep Maryland beautiful:

IT'S NICE WEATHER FOR WINTERIZING.

Now that last winter is only a memory, it's a perfect time to save on next winter's energy bills.

Look around for places where a little attention can make your home more winter-tight. Make sure you have proper insulation. Check the caulking around windows and doors . . . and weatherstrip them. Consider installing storm windows and doors. And have your heating system checked for efficiency. Remember that installation of a new gas-stingy model can cut your gas usage by up to 30%.

There are also things you can do that will start saving you energy right now. Like putting an insulation blanket around your water heater; adding flow restrictors to shower heads; or installing a night set-back thermostat.

Columbia has hundreds of other ideas on ways you can save on energy bills. Ask at your Columbia office for a free copy of our "Everyday Energy Saver's Guide".
